Galion Area Man Killed in County Crash

Auto Struck by Train At Crossing on Road Just West of Martel

Marion County's 1958 highway fatality toll rose to 17 Tuesday when Richard McCallister, 21, of near Galion died in Galion Community Hospital several hours after the car he was driving was struck by a speeding passenger train on County Rd. 195 about a mile and one-half west of Martel.

McCallister, taken to the hospital in a Timson-Allen ambulance from Caledonia, died at 5:30 p.m. as a result of a skull fracture and internal injuries suffered in the mishap.

Occurs Shortly After Noon

State highway patrolmen of the Marion post said the accident occurred at 12:23 p.m. at the intersection of the county road and the New York Central Railroad crossing.

McCallister was westbound on 195 and apparently failed to see or hear the approaching train in time to stop for the crossing.

The right front end of the northeastbound diesel locomotive, traveling an estimated 70 m.p.h., struck the left front of the McCallister car, knocking the vehicle back off the crossing. The force of the impact threw McCallister out of his car.

Two passengers were riding with McCallister.

Richard Allen McCallister, 3, of near Galion, son of the driver, suffered minor injuries and was admitted to the Galion hospital for observation, according to the report. Lavan Holt, 22, of Galion was treated for minor abrasions and lacerations and released, patrolmen noted.

The McCallister car was extensively damaged.

Born in Marion County

Richard McCallister was born in Marion County on Feb. 22, 1937, the son of Walter and Velma Steel McCallister. He resided with his wife, two children and his parents one mile south of Galion on the County Line Road.

He was married on Aug. 28, 1954, to Ellen Louise McClurg.

Surviving are his parents, his wife, his son, Richard Allen, and his daughter, Christine Lynn. One brother preceded him in death. He had resided in the Galion area for the last 15 years. He had seen service with the U.S. Navy.

Mr. McCallister was a self-employed truck driver.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Snyder Funeral Home in Galion with the Rev. Robert Elliott of Galion's

Launching Is Third in Row By Air Force

Missilemen Seeking Nose Cone in Wake of Tuesday Night Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force has shot an Atlas missile on a successful 4,000-mile flight across the Atlantic just six days after its predecessor became the nation's biggest satellite.

The latest Atlas triumph — the third big one in a row — was announced some four hours after the blastoff of the 80-foot rocket late Tuesday night.

Test Runs Smoothly

There was no official word from the launching site, but Col. John Powers said at Air Force Ballistic Missile Division headquarters in Inglewood, Calif., that preliminary reports showed the Atlas test ran smoothly.

The spectacular Christmas fireworks display followed on the heels of last Thursday's satellite launching and the first 6,325-mile intercontinental range Atlas shot Nov. 28.

The four-ton Atlas now in orbit is signalling President Eisenhower's "Peace on Earth" message to the world.

Try To Recover Nose Cone

Efforts were made to recover from the depths a tiny data capsule which popped out of the missile nose cone just after its blazing re-entry from space. In the past, the military has not announced the results of their searches for the capsules which record the cone's performance on re-entry.

Tuesday night's launching was the first appearance of a new Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile called the "C series." The missile featured some special modifications, most of them classified, which should result in lightening the Atlas payload by about 100 pounds.

The start of the shoot appeared to be highly successful as the 120-ton gleaming rocket burst up through a blanket of puffy white clouds and darted eastward like a fading star.

As the missile climbed, an eerie white glow was cast over the launching area by the Atlas' flashing exhaust tail reflecting off a low lying ground blaze.

Satellite In 88th Sweep

As the Convair rocket streaked out of sight, the Atlas satellite was making its 88th sweep around the globe in an orbit expected to last several more weeks.

The Air Force, which kept the satellite launching a super-secret last Thursday, announced Tuesday night that the shoot "was one of a continuing series of research and development flight tests of the Atlas weapons system."

The military rarely reports the results of a weapon shoot such as this.

Birth of Christ Celebrated

'Glad Tidings of Great Joy' Sound Around World Again

Marion, with the rest of the Christian world, tonight prepared to celebrate a traditional Christmas.

Even the weatherman was caught up in the spirit, with a picture book snow starting to fall gently in mid-morning despite previous forecasts of rain.

THE DEEP religious significance of Christ's birth will be marked with services in many of Marion's churches. The choirs will be featured prominently in most of them.

Midnight mass at St. Mary Catholic Church will be preceded by singing by the Girls Choir at 11:30.

St. Paul's Episcopal service will begin at 10:30, First United Church of Christ, 11:15 and Central Christian Church, 11.

THERE WILL be services at Epworth Methodist Church at 9 preceded by radio broadcast over Station WMRN for shut-ins at 8:45. The Emanuel Lutheran Church broadcast will be carried on the local station from 11 until 12. The church service will begin at 10:45.

Pageant time at Salem United Church of Christ will be 7:30 and there will be candlelighting at St. Paul's English Lutheran Church at that hour. Communion service at Prospect Street Methodist Church will be at 7. Emmanuel Baptist service and Assembly of God observance will be at 7 o'clock also.

Christmas Day masses at St. Mary Church will feature the singing of pupils from St. Mary School and the Junior Choir. Time of the Christmas Day holy communion at St. Paul's Church will be at 11 a.m. Thursday.

Today's snow, though a blessing to the youngsters who are enjoying vacations from school, will mean driving hazards for residents here and elsewhere in Ohio. Traffic officials hope that the spirit of the season will serve to remind motorists of the need for safety on the roadways.

This is expected to be a Merry Christmas for virtually everyone in Marion County. Even the needy have been taken care of, with the Give - a - Christmas clearing-house reporting all its cases on file accounted for.

Approximately 350 cases were handled, referred to the Guild by the Marion Welfare Department, the Family Service Society, Aid for the Aged, Salvation Army and the Marion County Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission.

Considerable responsibility for the clearinghouse's ability to take

Shovel-Union Talks Produce No Agreement

Marion Power Shovel Co. officials reported today that efforts to settle the 15-week strike at a meeting called in Washington, D. C., Tuesday by the Federal Mediation Service were fruitless. Company officials attending the meeting were D. Russell Gochnour, J. A. Wettergreen, David Reich and A. F. Busick.

In a statement issued today the company said "its conscience was clear" and that "it felt it had made every possible effort to explore the economic issues remaining, but that all of its efforts were thwarted by the union's un-

Conciliators Note Progress In Strike Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators have reported progress toward settling a deliverers' strike against nine New York City newspapers.

Mediator Walter A. Maggiolo tempered his report Tuesday night by saying there still remain a number of substantial problems to be resolved.

Maggiolo said all issues in the 15-day-old dispute were reviewed. The deliverers and the publishers were urged to re-evaluate their positions before further meetings today with mediators.

It is understood that union negotiators, under the pressure of membership demands, are placing emphasis on a 35-hour week, improved vacations, a ninth annual paid holiday and a sick leave provision.

The publishers have offered a $7-a-week increase spread over two years, plus fringe benefits. The offer was rejected by the union membership.

The deliverers' basic pay under a contract which expired Dec. 7 was $103.80 for a 40-hour week.

Rifle Shot Fatal

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—A rifle he was carrying accidentally discharged and a bullet in the temple killed Walter Miller Jr., 17, Tuesday. He was hunting at the time near his parents' home here. His father, Walter Miller Sr., is Marietta city engineer.

Pacifist Minister In Cincinnati Sent To Federal Camp

CINCINNATI (AP) — Federal marshals lugged the Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin off to a Pennsylvania prison camp Tuesday, but how long he'll be there is still a question.

The pacifist pastor of a merged Epsicopal - Presbyterian church here refused again to stand, walk or otherwise aid in the transfer. The marshals carried him from a county jail cell and took him to a waiting car in a wheel chair.

The Rev. Mr. McCrackin was sentenced to six months in prison and fined $250 last Dec. 12 on conviction for ignoring a federal summons to talk over his income taxes.

He has paid little or no tax for 10 years because he says it helps pay for war weapons.

The minister was taken to Allenwood, Pa., prison camp. U. S. District Court officials here said that if he continues his passive resistance there and has to work out his fine in extra prison time, he may be there eight and one half months.

How To Judge Size

Here's a good rule of thumb for judging the capacity of a food freezer: one cubic foot holds approximately 35 pounds of bulk food.

As the star shone in the East, may all your days glow with the wonderfully joyous spirit that marks the Christmas season . . . now and always.

Triplets' Birthday On Dec. 26 Makes Busy Yule Season

SYCAMORE—The Christmas season has more than the usual significance in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Riedel for to the usual festivities is added the birthday of their identical triplet sons, Michael, Kevin and Martin, which occurs Dec. 26.

This year marks their fifth anniversary and it is almost as difficult to tell one from another as it was when they were infants. They are exactly the same weight and height and, according to their mother, are equally active and that is really active.

They have the same likes and dislikes and all want guns for Christmas. They also are fond of cuddly toys which they like to take with them at night to their three little bunk beds. Being boys they fight some but they stick together and pitch in to help when one of them is in trouble.

Their favorite TV show is a morning kindergarten program and all three can count and make a few numbers.

Their mother says they are good little boys but they keep their parents and two older sisters very busy.

Cleveland Girl Killed As .22 Rifle Discharges

CLEVELAND (AP)—An 11-year-old girl was accidentally shot and killed by her younger brother Tuesday night as she sat examining gifts spread out under the family Christmas tree.

Dead of a .22 caliber rifle wound in the chest was Soris Daniel, 11.

Her brother Ernest D. Jr., 9, had climbed to the top of a piano in the living room of the home where the rifle had been placed to keep it out of reach of the children.

The boy, who did not know how to fire the weapon, apparently pulled back the bolt on the loaded gun and then pulled the trigger. Another sister, Gwendolyn, was in the room when the shooting occurred.

The father, a Ford Motor Co. employe, had just left the house to take Mrs. Daniel on an errand.

Social Scientist Assails Mass Thought Control in Red China

HONG KONG (AP)—An Indian social scientist who toured Communist China says everyone there speaks with one voice.

"It's shocking, this creation of a mass mind," he said. "There seems to be no individuality left."

Dr. S. Chandrasekhar, director of the Indian Institute for Population Studies, spent six weeks surveying population problems of Red China.

Everywhere he went, he said, he heard the same words and phrases over and over. Mass conditioning ranged over every field of human endeavor, from personal hygiene to anti-American propaganda.

Children stood on corners bellowing through megaphones: "Kill flies, kill sparrows, kill rats."

Public address systems in factories, homes, restaurants and trains dinned into the people's ears:

"Taiwan must be liberated from the American imperialists."

Chandrasekhar said:

"Communist officials consider their creation of a mass mind one of their proudest achievements, a proof of national solidarity.

"I kept telling them they've destroyed intellectuals, but they kept telling me that to the contrary they have made everybody intellectual."

The Communists, he found, have abandoned all liberal education in favor of technological training.

"They're going all out to produce steel and coal, build bridges, dams and railroads. Shakespeare to them is a bourgeois luxury," he said.

Faces Challenge of House GOP Liberals

Martin Fights To Retain Leadership

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Capitol Hill's "Mr. Republican," House minority leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts, is quietly waging the fight of his career to keep from being toppled by rebellious members of his own party.

Unlike the open warfare between GOP Liberals and Conservatives in the Senate, the House fight is still underground.

But clandestine meetings are being held, telephone calls are being made and current signs point to a power struggle that eventually may attract more national attention than who gets to be GOP leader of the Senate.

Martin has been active in an attempt to sidetrack two principal contenders for his post — Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

Halleck, now Martin's assistant without portfolio, is the front-runner currently in the rebels' bid to get a "more aggressive" floor boss than the aging, ailing Martin.

BUT INFLUENTIAL men in the Martin camp and many younger "Ike" congressmen who don't like Halleck are swinging to Ford as a compromise choice if a Martin-Halleck standoff occurs.

Martin and Rep. Leslie Arends (Ill.), the party whip, invited Ford to a private luncheon Tuesday in a bid to convince dissidents that party wheels will mesh smoothly next month when Congress returns. Halleck was conspicuously absent.

Ford described the session as a "friendly get-together and nothing else."

Supporters for both Halleck and Ford say the Party needs a fast-punching floor leader to stand up against the big Democratic majority and establish a record the Republicans can run on in the 1960 presidential campaign.

The latest idea being advanced in Old Guard quarters is the creation of a committee to assist Martin on the floor. Arends would be chairman of the "regency," with presumably Halleck, Ford and Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania as members. Simpson was chairman of the GOP congressional campaign committee in the November election.

REBEL SPOKESMEN say this "wouldn't change a thing except the marquee."

Halleck and Ford continue to remain mum about their role in the party struggle. Halleck, however, already has approached some congressmen to assay his strength as Martin's challenger.

Halleck was floor leader when Martin was House Speaker during the last Republican - controlled Congress of 1952-54. He still attends White House briefings with Martin and GOP Senate leaders.

But he lacks the rank-and-file popularity of Ford, 45-year-old former football star of the University of Michigan and now ranking minority member of the Military Appropriations subcommittee.

Although it stems from the same cause—the big GOP defeat in November—the House fight is not a revolt over party philosophy as is the Senate squabble. It's a question of tactical warfare against Democrats.

The growing number of Conservatives and middle-roaders in the movement to unseat Martin say their common complaint is that the 74-year-old symbol of Republicanism has lost his zest for battle.

Edible Snowmen Brighten Parties

By The Associated Press

Now is the time for all good parents to plan holiday parties for their children.

Food is even more important than decorations to small fry—so if you can make an edible centerpiece for a party table, it's sure to be a success. One bright idea is to use popcorn balls for a snowman centerpiece.

The children will have fun popping the corn and making the balls in advance, and after the party the young guests can eat the decorations.

The snowman centerpiece has a body made of one huge white popcorn ball with a smaller one for a head. Use chocolates for his eyes, maraschino cherries for nose and mouth and a cherry-topped ice cream cone for his hat.

For popcorn balls at each place setting, add to the festive look by using red and green food coloring to some of the balls, chopped red and green maraschino cherries to others.

Leesville Couple Plans Open House on Sunday

CRESTLINE—An open house will be held Sunday, Dec. 28, by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Volk of west of Crestline in the Leesville community, who will be celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. Guests will be received from 2 to 4 p.m.

The bride of 50 years ago was Miss Bessie Shumaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shumaker, Mr. Volk's parents were Mr. and Mrs. John Volk. He is a retired farmer and laborer. The celebrants are the parents of daughter, Mrs. Velma Allbaugh of Mansfield, and 11 grandchildren and eight great-granchildren.

Mr. Volk has two sisters, Mrs. Emma Shook and Miss Mary Shumaker of Bucyrus, and a brother, Frank Shumaker of North Robinson. The Volks have resided in the Leesville area all their lives.

The first atomic explosion in history occurred in Tularosa Basin in New Mexico on July 15, 1945.

It Would Take So Little

Merry Christmas!

Each year the wish is the same — and each year it transforms those who make it into what they wish they could be all the time.

They wonder why Christmas cannot be made permanent.

They muse about what would happen if every day were like Dec. 25.

There could be a miracle 365 days a year, instead of one, if men always tried as hard to be thoughtful and generous as they try at Christmas.

Some do try. They know it can be done. They have proved countless times that the spirit of Christmas can be permanent.

They live each day as if it were Christmas — a time of thoughtfulness and generosity. Their example is the core and wellspring of Christian civilization.

It has made possible all the things that men do which justify the great hopes of Christian civilization.

IF IT COULD BE multiplied and extended far enough it would transform the terms of human existence.

There could be the spirit of Christmas and the miracle of human good will every day of the year.

Rancor and bitterness would be laid aside as handicaps too heavy for humanity to bear. Prejudice and revenge would be unworthy of men.

Merry Christmas would be everlasting.

All it would take is the same thought that underlies every sincere wish for a Merry Christmas — that whatever is good should be dominant over whatever is bad and that everything good should be aided and encouraged.

THAT IS NOT an impossible wish. Millions make it and fulfill it every day of their lives. They strive tirelessly to make it come true.

They shut out hatred and close their minds to revenge.

They work as hard at their task of keeping alive the spiritual force that makes Christmas the happiest day of the year as others are willing to work to destroy brotherly love and good will. And to the extent that they do their work well, Christian civilization survives and persists.

On this day of all days, they seek converts to their way of living. They have shown by precept what could happen if Christmas were to become permanent.

The miracle that makes humanity feel lifted above itself does not need to be restricted to one day a year, or even to the Christmas season.

Ohio's New Highway Director

Gov.-elect DiSalle has made a wise choice in his appointment of veteran engineer Everett S. Preston to fill the cabinet post of state highway director.

Mr. Preston, who was a career member of the State Highway Department for 22 years, has gained nationwide recognition for his advanced ideas on highway planning.

He is credited among the best engineers of Ohio and the nation with "breaking the sound barrier in highway engineering" in this state.

In 1956, as deputy director in charge of the department's location and design division, he pioneered in establishing a revolutionary method of doing preliminary engineering on new highways.

Used primarily in rural areas, the new method has reduced planning time required for these superhighways by as much as 60 per cent. The method involves using a combination of aerial photography, radar and electronic computing — a form of automation for highway engineering.

Mr. Preston received acclaim in state and national magazines for his innovations.

The 47-year-old native of Portsmouth started from the bottom in highway engineering at the county level. His wise decisions on highway problems and foresighted planning moved him up to chief of the Chillicothe division and later to a top executive position as chief of the location and design department in Columbus headquarters of the State Highway Department. His skill in his profession led to his retention through both Republican and Democratic administrations.

Mr. Preston has a highway engineering background which ranks him as one of the best qualified men in the state to oversee development of Ohio's multi-million-dollar highway development program. During his 22-year career in the State Highway Department, he has won the admiration and respect of other members of his profession.

We are confident he will follow well in the footsteps of Charles M. Noble, the retiring director, who has done much to begin elevating Ohio to its rightful place among its sister states in the area of modern highway construction.

A Matter for Careful Study

The proposed change in the city engineering department stirred up some difference of opinion in the City Council meeting Monday night.

Getting a clear picture of the situation is rather difficult at this time, since Mayor Wendell L. Strong has not yet committed himself definitely on an appointment to the city engineer's post.

The mayor did indicate, however, that in his opinion the position of sanitary engineer should be abolished and those duties absorbed by the city engineer.

Even with the $1,300 increase in the city engineer's salary requested by the mayor, there would be a considerable saving involved in combining the jobs.

Economy in government is all to the good, particularly in view of the fact it reverses what has become almost a normal trend of constantly increasing expenditures.

We can only suggest that both the administration and council have a long, searching look at a reduction in engineering manpower in relation to the projects facing the city.

If steady progress is made on the sanitary and storm sewer recommendations of the sewer survey report, and a real start on the arterial highway plan proposals become a reality, it is our opinion the city engineering department would have a lot more than it could handle with its present manpower.

Council reached the right decision in deciding not to rush the ordinance through as emergency legislation.

In present-day municipal government the engineering department is of prime importance and it is directly related to the degree of civic progress a city can hope to achieve.

Nothing New About Four-Party System

The possibility of political stratification in 1960 that would split both the Democratic and Republican parties into right and left wings will be talked about more and more during the months before the nominating conventions a year from next summer.

David Lawrence has suggested the possibility that Northern and Southern conservatives might get together to form a political force in opposition to he liberal elements in the Republican and Democratic parties. But he admits this third party would be unlikely as long as Republicans insist on a federalized system of government which "deprives the states of their right to control their own public schools and education programs."

That would seem to eliminate the possibility of a North-South axis of conservatism geared to Southern race prejudice, because it is unthinkable that any important number of Republicans would be able to see eye to eye with the Faubuses of the South on that question.

A third party is unlikely.

In a showdown, two new parties, each representing a splitoff from the old parties, would be just as unlikely, because it would be contrary to the continuing purpose of the party system. That is the idea of winning the White House, control of Congress, or both. Political parties exist to win, not to commit political suicide.

Historically, the United States always has had sharp divisions inside each major party. It has had, in effect, a four-party system as far as viewpoints are concerned, but a two-party system as far as elections were concerned. Differences were compromised and subdued for the purpose of winning elections—and that has been the merit of the two-party system over the years. It is a good bet it will still be the merit of the system in the next national election in 1960.

The Once Over

Some Yuletide cards for important people:

TO IKE

Merry Christmas to a man
Bearing burdens few men can;
May you know a Christmas day
With no note from "Mister K."
May the gleaming Yuletide star
Bring a round in under par;
May your headaches be quite fleeting—
Without a summit meeting.

TO SENATOR HUMPHREY

Season greetings to you, son,
Champ of yack-yack marathon;
May no rival dark horse balk you—
Where's the man who can outtalk you?

TO NELSON ROCKEFELLER

To Santa generous and SUNNY

By H. I. Phillips

You don't say, "Oh, just leave money!"
Belief in him must surely glow—
He filled your sock two months ago.

THE MAILMAN

Noel! Noel! As Yuletide marches;
By next Yuletide you won't be lame —
Your back will ache you just the same.

ANY WESTERN HERO

Peace on earth (and stick 'em up!)
Clickety-clack and cluppety-clup;
Hark! The sleighbells ring and clang—
Zowie- Pow! And bang, bang, bang!
When you hear the Christmas choir
Don't forget to hold your fire;
As the reindeer come, don't scoff,
"Come on men! Let's cut 'em off!"

Just Keep Wearing It

Message for Everyone

By John N. Adams

Whether Christmas is a time for merry-making, just another holiday or an occasion for solemn reflection, there is no escape from its impact.

All through the world people are thinking of peace and joy. To many, these are real! To some, they are only a dream put to words by poets and printers. To others, the peace and joy of Christmas are part of a tradition during a time for giving and receiving gifts.

But whatever it is, the Christmas season with its message touches all.

None can escape it. Dictators cannot suppress it.

In Communist Europe, where Dec. 25 is not an official holiday and Santa Claus, as such, is banned, millions will defy their enslavers. They will risk prison or worse at clandestine gatherings to share a glimpse of Christmas as they used to know it.

As the West's contribution toward filling the Yuletide void, Radio Free Europe is beaming broadcasts of special services for all religious faiths, plus carols, folklore and other Noel customs, in the native tongues of all people behind the Iron Curtain.

EAST GERMANS are enjoying tangible reminders of the time when Christmas was a joyous 30-day medieval festival. Their countrymen in the Western Sector again this year are sharing their abundance with their austerity-ridden friends and kinfolk.

Last year, more than 17 million Christmas packages were sent to East Germany. This year the total is expected to top 18 million.

In Denmark there are two Christmas observances—one in the provinces, where pagan rituals have not yet completely disappeared, and one in the cities where the big holiday event is dinner.

In the provinces, the ancient Nordic sun worship can still be discerned in bonfires lighting the Scandanavian skies during the winter solstice.

A Danish contribution to Christmas that has won worldwide appeal is the use of Christmas seals. Some 50 years ago, Einar Holbell, then a postoffice clerk, came up with the seals as a way to raise money for sick children.

The American version of the Christmas seal started in a small way in 1907, when Emily Bissell, a Red Cross worker, promoted the sale of stamps in support of a Wilmington, Del., hospital.

Australians and New Zealanders will take their annual summer vacations for old world customs have little relation to the lands "down under" when temperatures often exceed 100 degrees. Cold beer, cold turkey and cold Christmas puddings make up the Christmas dinner. Santa will arrive on water skis at the leading beach resorts.

TO WESTERN EYES, the Japanese seem to be doing things topsy-turvy. The Nipponese go in for wild all-night parties at Christmas time while on New Year's when Americans and other Westerners are cutting up with high jinks, the Japanese will quietly pray at Shinto shrines.

Bagpipers, eels and a witch flying on a broomstick invade Italy when the Christmas season is in full swing. In France, West Germany and England, GIs give Christmas a strong American flavor with which the old customs are inextricably interwoven.

But whatever the place, this year as in centuries past, the season of gaiety will be tempered by solemn Christmas rituals in homes and churches.

Thoughts will turn to the event, two thousand years ago, in Bethlehem of Judea, where a child was born. Where a light shone forth in the heavens and the air was filled with Hosannas.

Today armed Arab legions stand guard over the place where the heavenly host sang. The route from Jerusalem to Bethlehem is lined with land mines and instant death awaits any pilgrim who steps outside the narrow pathway that is outlined for safe passage.

In the Holy City, itself, soldiers surround the Church of the Nativity. In Manger Square, the silver star, marking the crypt in which Christ was born, will reflect the cold steel of unsheathed bayonets as well as the flickering flames of candles symbolizing the light of the world.

The scene is not new. It is as old as the story of the Christ child itself yet its meaning has never been lost. Its message is ever new and the eternal hope of all Christendom that one day there will be peace on earth and good will toward all mankind.

Christmas Eve

By Truman Twill

There is this about Christmas Eve that can be said about no other night in the year:

Every mortal is where he most wants to be.

If he cannot be there, he thinks about being there.

The homing instinct of mankind is never stronger.

Beneath all the hustle-bustle of travel and movement, the "Merry Christmases!" and last - minute preparations, there is an ineffable tenderness that permeates the hours before the beginning of Christmas Day — the tenderness of love for mankind.

There comes a lull in the maelstrom of all the great and small affairs of men when nearly everybody has come to be at peace with himself.

Man has carried out his plan, whatever it may have been. He has come to be at peace with himself.

"The stockings have been hung by the fireside with care . . ."

What was to have been done has been done. There is no more time for plans and preparations. Christmas, once more, is all over but the shouting.

The fire is banked, and the cat is out.

The tree is trimmed, with the star on top. The gifts are wrapped. The clock is set.

All the stations of civilization are as secure as they can be made.

Whatever there is going to be of good will and peace on earth has been made to materialize once more by the magic of men's love for one another.

It is a thought to rest on while waiting for Christmas Day.

The stars overhead shine on. They are not disturbed by the presence among them of some foreign items of military hardware.

The earth in its goodness spins on its axis. It does not mind the presence of turmoil among the specks of habitation on its cooling crust.

The sun shines, the days lengthen and shorten, the seasons come and go. Nothing that men can do will change them. They are infinitely tolerant of human error.

It is up to man, himself, to understand the terms of existence that have been laid down for him by the master plan. He will not be missed if he destroys himself by error, nor will he change anything in the master plan if he survives.

He has been given a home and an opportunity to make the most of it. And never does he come any closer to fulfilling his opportunity than each year on Christmas Eve, when he is content to be at peace with himself and with his own kind.

Then, if ever, comes peace.

"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a goodnight . . ."

Target Practice

The aroma of frying bacon, says a columnist, will get almost anyone out of bed. But it takes the aroma of burning bacon to get the wife to come down and take over.

Irresponsibility is wonderful for attracting attention, whether it's wielded by the youngest child in the family, or Russia in International affairs.

Daily Bible Thought

"For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government will be upon his shoulder, and his name will be called 'Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.' Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end, upon the throne of David, and over his kingdom, to establish it, and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from this time forth and for evermore. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will do this."—Isaiah 9:6,7.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By George Lichty

"I think they had too many, Clancy! . . . They're not satisfied with settling world affairs, so now they gotta tackle the juvenile delinquency problem!"

Spenders Challenged

By David Lawrence

President Eisenhower has flung a challenge to the "spenders." He has announced that a balanced budget for the coming fiscal year at around 77 billions is feasible and will be recommended to the next session of Congress. This is lower than last year's budget by about $2,200,000,000.

Lawrence.

The President is counting, of course, on a substantial increase in receipts from the present tax rates—due to the improvement in business conditions generally. It is likely that even if the formal budget is not exactly in balance there will be a cash surplus anyhow.

This is welcome news to the country. Politically it is a wise move. It places the full responsibility on the Democratic party—which controls Congress—to keep the expenditures in line with the recommendation of the President.

If there is considerable deviation, the American people will be able to tell which party should properly be called the party of the "spenders" and which one is the party of the "savers."

Mr. Eisenhower's statement significantly declares that the balanced budget is designed "to prevent inflation, to encourage economic expansion and to fulfill America responsibilities of world leadership."

Broadly speaking the news of the President's action does not come a moment too soon.

THE CONGRESSIONAL elections had been widely interpreted as meaning that the "spenders" were to be in the saddle and that persons with fixed incomes could expect a further decline in the purchasing power of the dollar due to bigger and bigger federal deficits.

With all the talk about "liberalism" and "conservatism," there is no issue that counts for more among the millions of persons of fixed income than a sound dollar.

The drive for "welfare" spending has lately been renewed. Anybody who believes in a balanced budget and favors paying off the public debt instead of indulging in more and more extravagances has been denounced by the spenders as a "reactionary" or as being "to the right of McKinley."

It is, of course, old fashioned to pay one's debts and not to spend more money than one takes in.

The "modern" idea in politics is that government spending can be without limit and that the more that is spent the higher will be the national income.

Unfortunately, the history of bankrupt countries from ancient days is the same—there are always politicians who defy economic laws. The one thing they miscalculate is the confidence of the people in their own monetary unit.

INFLATION is bearable up to the point where people suddenly grow panicky and lose confidence in the dollar, as prices soar. Then runaway inflation ensues and the story of what happened in Germany in 1923 is recent enough to warn the present generation that people do not believe indefinitely in the infallibility of a government that keeps on running deficits.

What the President has done is to bolster confidence in the dollar inside the United States and throughout the world. It is an achievement of transcendent importance.

It comes at a psychological moment—when an overwhelming majority of the Democratic party is about to take control of the legislative branch of the government.

Fortunately for the United States there is in the South a conservative faction of the Democratic party which can be counted upon to support conservative fiscal policies. Notable among its leaders is Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, who may be expected to lead the fight against the spenders in his own party.

It was certainly good strategy for the President to make his announcement about a balanced budget now instead of waiting till next month when his budget message will be formally presented to Congress.

The moment it became apparent to him that the budget could be balanced, it was important to give the news to the world.

TO HOLD expenses down and balance the budget in itself is good news but to do it with "higher expenditures than ever before in time of peace for national defense" is to assure the country that the biggest need of all—national defense—will be fulfilled.

On top of this is the pledge that there will be no request from the President for any "general tax increases."

Christmas Book List

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

To those who have everything—or those who have nothing—there is no better present than a book.

There is nothing like a book to help a man escape from the poverty of wealth, or to show him, if poor, a vista to the kind of riches Midas never knew.

HAL BOYLE

And for the last-minute Christmas shopper, seeking the last-minute gift for the overlooked friend, there is no better bargain than a book. Good wine warms for an hour; good books warm for a lifetime both the heart that sends, the mind that receives.

But there is an art in giving books—in selecting just the right volume for the right person at the right time.

ALL IN FUN, we present again our annual mythical Christmas list of book gifts for people we all know:

"The Affluent Society" — Anybody you owe money to.

"All That Was Mortal" — The 1958 Republican National Committee.

"Aku-Aku"—Anybody you know in Walla Walla.

"Let No Man Write My Epitaph"—Adlai Stevenson.

"On My Own" — Gov. Averell Harriman.

"The Other Side of the Coin"—Nelson A. Rockefeller.

"The Mountain Is Young"—Bernard Baruch.

"The Prospects Are Pleasing" — Any Democratic presidential aspirant.

"THE RAINBOW Comes and Goes"—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"A Friend in Power"—Bernard Goldfine.

"Exile and the Kingdom" — Sherman Adams.

"A Mixture of Frailties" — James R. Hoffa.

"The Land God Gave to Cain"—Your favorite suburbanite.

"Ask Me No More"—James C. Hagerty.

"Give Me the World"—Gamel Abdel Nasser.

"How to do Nothing with Nobody All Alone By Yourself" — Harold Stassen.

"The Last Angry Man"—Your boss.

"The Shook-up Generation" — Any guy who ran a TV quiz show in 1958.

"The Best of Everything"—To your favorite wife.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Employment of extra police and the mounting of machine-guns on police automobiles were urged as a means of abating the annual crime wave which rolled back and forth across Cleveland during the winter months.

Lt. Col. Charles Whittlesey, commander of the famous "Lost Battalion" of the 308th United States Infantry, was given a Congressional Medal of Honor at exercises in Boston.

20 YEARS AGO — An end to the rate fight between the Marion Water Co. and the city of Marion was virtually assured as the company notified City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart that it had filed a petition with the state utilities commission for withdrawal of its appeal.

As in former years, residents of Marion city and county were given until the first of the new year to contribute towards the work of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis League by purchasing Christmas health seals.

A ruling at a University of Washington varsity dance caused several coeds considerable embarassment. Strapless gowns were banned on the premise that they were "indecent" so each girl who had ignored the warning was presented and fitted with a pair of suspenders when she came into the dance.

10 YEARS AGO — The United Nations Security Council ordered an immediate end to the fighting in Indonesia and prompt release of Indonesian leaders captured by the Dutch.

A surprise amnesty freed 15 high ranking war - criminal suspects. Gen. MacArthur released the men from Sugamo prison just hours after Tojo had been hanged.

Understanding Needed for Shy Boys and Girls

By The Associated Press

What is your teen-ager like? Do you by any chance have a shy, rather withdrawn youngster who feels unhappy that he or she is not popular with the gang? There are lots of half-grown youngsters who eat out their hearts because they feel they are not liked by their agemates. Such young people stay at home pretending to be more interested in reading or TV or some hobby than playing around with other youngsters. A lonely adolescent often does his best to put up a good front. He gives a lot of lip service to the silly nature of his classmates' leisure time occupations. He's just not interested, or so he says.

Maybe this is true, but more often than not he is deeply hurt by the fact that he's not included on parties, and even on these few occasions when he does go along, he feels out of the swing. He can't make small talk, he can't do the things the gang is interested in doing. Next time, he's going to stay home, and he does. And the bitter truth is the gang doesn't miss him.

These shy adolescents need help. Sometimes the help they need is a bit more encouragement at home. Encouragement to be themselves — not nagging to make them better than they are.

A boy or girl who can be accepted for what he is by his parents and loved and respected as is is a whole lot more likely to feel the self-confidence he needs to meet adequately the demands of the outside world than if he is constantly berated for whatever quality the parents would like to see improved.

Aside from parents' attitude toward a teen-ager who is having his problems a few specific things given with the spirit of the Christmas season might well help a lot.

How would a girl who is overly conscious of not being very good-looking like a course of beauty treatments? Most cities have beauty courses, where the students are taught how best to use cosmetics, what kind of hair styling will do the most for them. They will suggest clothes styles that bring out all the good features of a not-too-good figure. A girl can profit a lot from such knowledge, especially if mother takes an interest and asks her daughter to pass on to her for her own benefit what the girl learns. And especially too if Dad will notice a bit and make a few nice comments when a wee bit of improvement is noticed.

THE GREATEST CHRISTMAS GIFT. "I'd rather go hungry on Christmas Day than see some kid go without food." This is the holiday sentiment of George Warner, who mans a Salvation Army kettle in front of Walgreen's Drug Store each day. A smile seldom leaves his face even on the most bitter cold day. "I'm going to do my best so the little ones can have toys and food on Christmas Day," he told a Star reporter Tuesday, continuing to ring the bell as he talked. This Salvation Army soldier has stood on downtown streets during three Christmas seasons. Some might think he has little to smile about. He lives alone at 105 Hazen St. and his only income is a monthly social security check. But he has learned the real meaning of Christmas joy—giving to others in time and service. And because of his efforts, Christmas will reach into many more homes, spreading "peace on earth, good will toward men."

'Tis the Season to be Jolly

MANY Marion homes are a hubbub of activity as last minute preparations are being made for the most important day of the gay holiday season Thursday, Christmas Day.

Christmas wrappings and gayly colored ribbons and other trim still are being put on many packages to be placed under the tree. Christmas goodies of a great variety are in the making. Christmas trees for children in many families will be trimmed tonight.

Homemakers in many parts of the city will be busily engaged tonight in making final preparations for a big family dinner on Christmas Day, fixing the turkey to pop into the oven, making dressing and cranberry sauce along with all the other traditions of a Christmas dinner, such as plum pudding and pumpkin and mince pie.

Students have been arriving home from colleges and universities during the last week to spend their holiday vacations with their families and friends and many other holiday guests have come into the city from distant points to spend Christmas with relatives.

Many club programs have been devoted in recent weeks to Christmas parties, dinners, lunches and teas and social get-togethers have been held by office staffs and company personnel.

In addition to the traditional family gatherings, many couples in Marion and surrounding areas will be holding open house observances tonight, which is Christmas Eve, tomorrow on Christmas Day and still many more are planned for

New Year's Eve and New Year's Day next week.

The annual Charity Ball of the Woman's Hospital Board of Marion General Hospital, which for nearly 30 years has been a highlight of Marion's holiday season, again is being looked forward to with enthusiasm by many Marion couples. The Charity Ball especially provides an opportunity for the young people home from colleges or from business duties in distant cities to renew acquaintances and make new friends.

The dance, which is held in the interest of work done at Marion General Hospital by the Woman's Hospital Board, is scheduled for Monday night, Dec. 29, in the Veterans Memorial Coliseum. Music for dancing from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. will again be provided by the Ross Halamay orchestra of Akron.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 18, have a 3-month-old son, and I'm not married. I live at home with my folks. The baby's father is in the Army. He knew of my condition before he left but didn't say anything about getting married. I decided not to make an issue of it as he isn't the type who can be pushed.

He gave me $20 before he left and sent me a Japanese kimono while I was in the hospital. He has written and asked for snapshots of the baby so he's not mad or anything.

My father says he's tired of the financial load and that I should insist on marriage as soon as Bill comes home which should be pretty soon.

I'm the reserved type and not able to impose my will on people. If I don't say something I'm afraid my dad will. What do you suggest? —SHIRLEY MAE.

I don't know what you consider "reserved" but apparently you canceled your reservations occasionally.

Your father has a right to be fed up. According to law, the child's father should be sending support money. The Army has an allotment for married men with families. Too bad you are missing out on this.

If you feel that you could have a good life with the father of the child, then by all means suggest that the situation be legalized as soon as he returns.

They May Grow Up

Dear Ann: My girl friend and I want to know if we are right or not.

Last Saturday night we doubled with a couple of fellows who are very highly thought of at our high school. After the dance we went to a restaurant to eat.

My date pulled some pictures out of his inside coat pocket and showed them to the other fellow. They both snickered and laughed and kept the pictures well out of our reach.

Naturally we were curious and begged to see them. Well, we were sorry we ever asked. The pictures were calendar models who posed with fans.

We were both embarrassed and hardly spoke to the boys the rest of the evening. My date insisted the pictures were art and that there was nothing vulgar about them. He said it was all in our minds and that we were immature and unsophisticated. He made it sound very convincing. How about it?—CLASSEN LASSIES.

Art lovers don't carry photographs, sneak looks, giggle and fall down laughing. It's the boys who are immature and unsophisticated.

You were right to let them know you didn't appreciate their samples of "culture." Drop the matter and say no more. Chances are they'll be excellent company—when they grow up.

Boor or Guest?

Dear Ann: Last week my husband asked me to make a dinner date with a new couple in town. We are redecorating our home but I agreed to invite them to be our guests at a nice eating place.

When we met at this steak house I was shocked to see they'd brought their two children, 8 and 10 years of age. We have two children also but left ours at home.

The kids ran all over, fought with each other at the table and horned in on the adult conversation. They ordered large steaks and didn't eat one-fourth of what was on their plates. The total bill was $28 and my husband was boiling.

I'd like to know if you feel they were justified in bringing their children. Also, what should have been done about the children's food?—D.H.

You should have made it clear that the invitation meant adults only. Apparently they misunderstood.

The mother should not have permitted her children to order large steaks. Mothers know how much their children can eat. The woman was inconsiderate and boorish and unfortunately she is rearing her children to be the same.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Couple in Ashley Married 50 Years, Plans Celebration

ASHLEY—Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCurdy of Ashley will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, Dec. 28, in the church parlors of the Westfield Methodist Church. The couple will receive friends and neighbors between 2 and 5 p.m.

The bride of 50 years ago was Miss Pearle Belle Kyrk, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adelphus Kyrk of near Westfield. Her marriage to Harry L. McCurdy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McCurdy, also of near Westfield, took place Dec. 24, 1908. The Rev. E. B. Shumaker of Iberia, pastor of the Ashley and Westfield churches, officiated at his parsonage in Iberia.

Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy are the parents of two children, Mrs. Marjorie Erow of Ashley and Willis L. McCurdy of Springfield. They have three grandchildren, Dennis, Deborah and Richard McCurdy of Springfield, and Mr. McCurdy has one sister, Miss Florence McCurdy of near Westfield. They own the farm in Westfield Township, where Mrs. McCurdy was born. They have lived in their present home on Vine St. in Ashley for 44 years with the exception of six years spent on the farm.

Both are members of Ashley Methodist Church. She is a member of Ashley Rebekah Lodge and he of the Odd Fellow Lodge. He has been a member of the Ashley Fire Department for 43 years.

For 12 years the couple owned and operated a restaurant on W. High St. and they also owned and operated the Central Delivery Service for Ashley stores for several years.

Mrs. McCurdy was employed by the Duncan Drygoods Store for three years and by the Kroger Grocery Co. in Ashley for seven years. She clerked in the Fred Gurley Variety Store for several years.

For 23 years, Mrs. McCurdy was chairman of the Red Cross drive in Ashley.

-:- Weddings -:-

Of interest here is announcement of the marriage of Miss Betty Lou Everhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hillery Everhart of Oakton, Va., and Gerald Dean Fees, son of Mrs. Rachel Simmons of 636 Wilson Ave., Marion.

The wedding took place on Nov. 22 in the Washington St. Methodist Church in Alexandria, Va., and reading the ceremony at 11 o'clock in the morning was the Rev. Mr. Landis. Palms and arrangements of mums and carnations decorated the altar. Presenting nuptial music preceding the ceremony were Arnold Briggs, organist, and Robert Ernst, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace styled with a scooped neckline and bracelet length sleeves trimmed with satin piping. The bubble skirt's harem hemline was accented by satin bows on a ruffled nylon petticoat. A halo crown of pearls and sequins held a shoulder length veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with white orchids. A single strand of pearls and matching earrings were her jewelry.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss June Cady and bridesmaids were Misses Georgia Moeller and Donnis Murray. Their sheath styled matching dresses of satin were in a turquoise shade. They had pink carnation headbands and carried bouquets of like flowers.

Frank Cady served as best man for the bridegroom and ushers were Marvin H. Everhart Jr., brother of the bride, and Robert Dale Simmons, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Everhart chose a dress of lace over satin in a mauve shade with a scooped neckline. She combined with it matching accessories and her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Simmons was attired in a Paris pink sheath dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception followed at Seaport Inn where the bride's table held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Bouquets of white carnations also were on the table. When the couple left on a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Mrs. Fees was wearing a brown and black checked walking suit with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Fees was graduated from Fairfax High School and received her bachelor's degree from William and Mary College where she was a member of Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority. Mr. Fees attended Maryland University where he was affiliated with Theta Phi fraternity and served three years in the Marine Corps. He is employed with the Southern Office Supply Co. in Alexandria, Va., where they are making their home.

Out-of-town guests were from Marion, Leesburg, Va., Hyattsville, Md., Fairfax, Va., Silver Springs, Md., and Washington, D.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Winfield

Today marks the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Winfield, who will celebrate the occasion on Sunday by holding open house in their home at 517 E. Farming St. They will receive relatives and friends between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride of 50 years ago was Miss Elizabeth Williams. Her marriage to Mr. Winfield, who was working for the Erie Railroad in Galion at the time, took place on Dec. 24, 1908, in the parsonage home of the Rev. George Barnard in Marion. They went to housekeeping on W. Church St. in Galion, but moved to Marion in 1912 when the Erie terminal was moved to Marion. He spent some years engaged in farming, 11 years at the Huber Mfg. Co. shop and retired in 1954 after working 17 years at the former General Excavator. Both Mr. and Mrs. Winfield have been active in Greenwood EUB Church for 30 years.

Since his retirement, Mr. Winfield has made many yard decorations and knickknacks in the small hobby shop he has at the rear of his home. In addition, he does some gardening.

The celebrants have five children living, Mrs. Ralph Werfield of Eastlake, O., Forest of Fahey St., and Cleora, Glenna and Edna, at home. Two children are deceased.

They also have three grandchildren. Mrs. Winfield has two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Ivah Brunson of Marion, Mrs. Stanley Thomas of Columbus Station and Floyd Williams of Marion, and Mr. Winfield has two sisters, Mrs. Edith Kyle and Mrs. Anna Ratterman, both of Marion.

5 Injured as 2 Automobiles Collide at Crossing in Edison

Five persons were injured, three seriously, in one of two highway accidents in Morrow County Tuesday.

Three members of one family are in the Morrow County Hospital today as a result of an accident at 6:45 p.m. on State Rt. 95 at the New York Central Railroad crossing in Edison.

Collide Headon

The accident happened, according to Marion post highway patrolmen, when Earl G. Gunia, 17, of Mount Vernon, headed east, passed a semitrailer truck at the inclined approach to the crossing and slammed headon into a westbound car being driven by Frederick M. Beavon, 34, of Berrien Springs, Mich.

The force of the impact turned both cars completely around.

Beavon, four members of his family, and Gunia were all taken to the hospital in a Craven ambulance from Mount Gilead.

Beavon, who suffered fractured ribs and a laceration of the scalp, is in fairly good condition in the hospital today. His wife, Velma B. Beavon, 31, who sustained a laceration of the scalp, fractures of the left leg and right foot, is in fair condition, and Tedric Beavon, 5, suffering a fractured skull, body burises and scalp lacerations, is list as fairly good.

Lynn Beavon, 6, who suffered abrasions of the back and scalp, and Gunia, who suffered a bruised left elbow, were treated and released from the hospital, according to the report.

Both Cars Damaged

Patrolmen said extensive damage was done to the front and left side of the Beavon car and to the front of the Gunia auto

Gunia was cited on a charge of passing at a railroad crossing and will appear in Mount Gilead Municipal Court at a later date, patrolmen reported.

No one was hurt in an accident on U. S. Rt. 42 at 5:35 p.m. about one and one-half miles south of Mount Gilead.

Involved were cars driven by Martha F. Calhoun, 25, of Columbus and Alva J. Griffith, 70, of Sheridan, N. Y.

Patrolmen said both cars were headed south. Calhoun had stopped for oncoming traffic and was waiting to make a left turn into a private drive. Griffith, following the Calhoun car, was unable to stop in time to avoid striking the stopped car, according to the report.

Minor damage was reported to the right rear of the Calhoun auto, and moderate damage resulted to the right rear side of Griffith's vehicle.

Griffith was cited to appear before Mount Gilead Mayor Ralph Porterfield Dec. 31 to answer charges of failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

Mishap Is Averted By Speedy Action

A Marion County youth, home on holiday furlough from the Army, prevented a possible mishap on U.S. Rt. 23 Monday by stopping a runaway oil tank truck, it was learned today.

The youth, Paul W. Ullom, 18, son of John B. Ullom of the Smeltzer Rd., leaped into the cab of the moving truck as it started down an incline just south of the Children's Home.

He and Wendell E. Scarbury, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Scarbury of 269½ Windsor St., had been driving north on Rt. 23 when their car developed engine trouble. They were walking north when they noticed the driverless truck rolling downhill.

Young Ullom stopped the big tanker by throwing the cab into gear after it had rolled about 200 feet. The youths said flares had been placed around the truck and that the driver apparently had left to seek assistance.

HEAVYWEIGHT COMIC

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway has one "heavy" who is a top-flight comedian. He is Ross Parker, of the hit revue, "La Plume de Ma Tante." Parker tips the scales at just 260 pounds. He was the author of the World War II song "There'll Always be an England."

Mount Gilead FFA Wins County Event

MOUNT GILEAD—All the County FFA classes participated in the annual County Parliamentary Procedure contest held this week at Marengo.

The Mount Gilead Chapter won first place with 86 points, Cardington and Johnsville tied for second with 83 points, Chesterville was fourth with 78 points, Marengo was fifth with 76 points, and Iberia was sixth with 74 points.

The Mount Gilead, Johnsville and Cardington teams received gold awards and the other three received silver awards.

Robert Fuller, vocational agricultural teacher at the Elm Valley School was the judge.

Tastes Differ; Marital Spats Often Flare Up

CHICAGO (AP) — Take a husband and wife, each with strong wills; add a difficult decorating decision; and what have you got?

A potential marital free-for-all, says Sydney Simon, an interior decorator by profession who sometimes thinks of himself as a marriage counselor besides.

Simon often finds himself called upon to settle disputes between husband and wife over choice of colors, fabrics or furnishings.

He does it by striking a happy medium between the tastes of the whole family.

"Men and women have radically different ideas on which comes first, comfort or style," says Simon.

"One couple was on the verge of the divorce court when they came to see me."

The correspondent in the case was an old overstuffed easy chair.

"The husband had a particular fondness for this chair, which was man-sized and roomy, if something of an eyesore," says Simon.

"His wife was bent on replacing it with something along more slender, modern lines."

Simon was called in when the quarrel had reached the silent treatment stage.

He suggested reupholstering the chair in a muted color to harmonize with the rest of the room's interior.

Now, says Simon, husband and wife are living happily ever after.

"Women especially feel that home furnishings reflect their tastes to the rest of the neighborhood," explains Simon.

"Many are so afraid of making a mistake that they totter on the brink for weeks, weighing one fabric swatch against another and being chronically indecided about overall color schemes."

Youth Activities

CUB SCOUTS

Members of each den gave a skit when Cub Pack 26 of Pleasant School presented a program Monday night at the Marion County Home. All the boys joined to sing "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night."

Following the program at the County Home, the boys returned to Pleasant School where they presented the same program for their parents.

In the flag ceremony, color bearers were Tom Heiby and Tom Cosgrove. Leading the pledge of allegiance was Jim Guy and Doug Woodward led the promise. Fred and Bill Bowen were awarded silver arrow points.

A report was given on the sale of Christmas tree tickets and awards of $1 were given to the top salesman of each den. They were Kevin Hall, Tim Cosgrove, Ken Thrush and Dan Landon. Cubmaster William Payette and all denmothers and assistant denmothers were presented gifts and each of the boys was given a sack of candy.

Refreshments were served by the fathers with John Lawrence in charge.

School Dispute Top Event in Hardin

KENTON — Hardin County was a center of wide interest in 1958 in school, agricultural, and civic affairs.

Ranking first in interest was the attack on the Amish School system last May by the Hardin County Board of Education. This action culminated in November when Prosecuting Attorney Paul McKinley filed suit in behalf of the county board against 39 Amish parents, teachers and school board members, to enjoin them from operating their two schools in Hardin County.

The suit charges 26 violations of the minimum standards of education. A hearing is set for Jan. 10 in Hardin County Common Pleas Court. A major step was taken by two of the Amish families following the filing of suit against them. The children of Alvin Lambright and C. C. Lambright were entered in Ridgeway Public Schools to break the solid front of passive resistance by the Amish parents and leaders.

THE NEW $700,000 Hardin Northern School was opened in April and the district gained attention again in November with the defeat of its tax levy. After much controversy the levy was passed at a special election in December.

A battle also loomed in December between the Hardin Central School District and the Hardin County Board of Education. Hardin Central petitioned to be released from the County system to join the Kenton City Schools. The county board refused to release it and included it in a proposed merger of the Hardin Central, Ridgeway, Mount Victory and McGuffey schools. Hardin Central attorneys filed suit demanding the release. A hearing will be held Dec. 27.

The city and county school systems instituted a new practice in 1958. Each school district has a registered nurse serving as school nurse. These nurses are being paid jointly by the schools and the Tuberculosis Association.

Kenton High School Band still rates as one of the top in the state. Its director, Bill Moffitt, tendered his resignation in the summer but was pursuaded to remain by masses of students who formed a snake dance to his home and presented him with signed petitions urging him to reconsider.

IN OCTOBER, Kenton was host to the district "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest and also entertained a 20-county Cancer Society meeting in November.

Hardin County received nationwide fame when its "Miss Scioto Valley," Peggy Jo Putnam, was chosen "Miss Ohio" and competed in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City. She was sponsored by the Kenton Jaycees.

Not to be forgotten is "Annie," St. Bernard pet of Gene Perkins who was "jailed" for more than a year on a sheep killing charge. She won her freedom in the 3rd District Court of Appeals in Lima on May 14. She was honorary Marshall of Kenton's first Pet Parade staged July 30.

The Kenton Child Conservation League was successful in 1958 in establishing a class for mentally retarded children. It was through the efforts of the CCL and other organizations and citizens that 12 Hardin County retarded youngsters are now going to school every day. The class is held at Espy elementary building and will double in size by next fall.

THE LIONS CLUB raised money for charities again this year with its successful minstrel which was staged three nights at the Kenton High School Auditorium. The Lions also sponsored their annual Teenage Road-E-O.

Top news in agricultural circles was the big marsh flood. The pounding rains which began in the spring and continued through the summer wrought loss and disaster on the great Scioto Marsh. A Watershed Association was formed and following its appeal, aid was forthcoming to needy farmers from the state and national governments.

H. D. Heckathorn, Hardin County farmer, was re-elected Ohio Farm Bureau president.

The 1958 Hardin County Fair was the largest ever held. It broke entry records, attendance records, and a filly even broke the track record. The fairgrounds were policed by the 29-man Hardin County Sheriff's posse, newly formed in 1958.

CITY WOES WERE not solved in 1958 — the financial picture was bleak when the new council took office in January. The new president of council, Robert Goodsell, after serving six months, tendered his resignation to council. He said he felt helpless to help remedy Kenton's financial plight and thought he could do more as a citizen. He was replaced by Dudley Ralston. Council is ending the year in the red, with tabled requests for raises from the fire and police departments — and requests for new equipment which cannot be filled this year.

Unemployment reached its peak in the spring and many joined the relief ranks after their unemployment insurance ran out. This was met by a cut in relief offered by the county. Commissioners explained that the county was broke.

For the first time in 16 years the Democrats proved to much for the Republicans. They elected a commissioner and an auditor; the only two Democrats running on the county slate in November. Ray Ramge defeated Franklin Garmon for the commissioner's post and Lloyd Miller defeated Rex. Wilson to become first Democratic auditor since 1916.

MRS. BRADFORD HIATT, a Kenton woman presented her alma mater, Earlham University in Indiana with $100,000. This was one of the largest single donations in the university's history and was earmarked for a new auditorium.

Construction was favorable with a new building completed to house the Ohio Power Company, Kenton's first drive-in bank, the Kenton National, was built and opened and additions were made to the Veterans Memorial Park Clubhouse and the Kenton Telephone Co.

The Kenton Savings Bank, largest banking institution in the county was sold to BancOhio and the Kenton Theater was sold to General Theaters of Cleveland.

Study Merger Plan

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Stockholders of Aeronca Manufacturing Corp. here and Longren Aircraft Co., Inc., of Los Angeles plan to meet in February to consider a merger of the firms. That's the report Tuesday by an Aeronca spokesman who said officers of the companies have already set up a proposed merger agreement that would make Longren an operating division of Aeronca.

Campaign Nears End

Funds Needed for Fight On Muscular Dystrophy

Some 250,000 Americans — two of them in Marion County — have a single Christmas wish, but know it can't be fulfilled this year. They are hopeful it can be soon if sufficient funds are available for necessary medical research.

They are the victims of muscular dystrophy. The fatal disease, about which little is known, attacks the muscles and so weakens them over a period of time that the slightest illness, such as a common cold, can be fatal. Their Christmas wish is that a cure can be found through medical research.

All during the month of December, the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America have been conducting a campaign to raise funds for medical research into the treatment, cause and cure of the malady.

Locally the campaign is being carried on by the Moose Lodge and a large number of coin canisters, shaped like an hour-glass to signify the theme "time is running out" were placed in public places throughout the county.

Mrs. J. Patrick McGary, who is assisting her husband in heading the drive locally, said that a number of the canisters have been turned in filled with coins.

"But," she said, "direct contributions by either groups or individuals have not been forthcoming, so far." Some have indicated plans to make direct, private donations to the fund and these are needed to help increase the total of local contributions, she said. The Moose Lodge, of which Mr. McGary is secretary, plans to make an organizational donation of some $150.

Contributions to the fund, by individuals or organizations, are allowable federal income tax deductions.

Money donated to the fund will be used to help support 82 separate research projects, the MDAA's new Institute for Muscle Disease soon to open in New York and to help provide for care and treatment of persons already afflicted.

The local fund drive ends Dec. 31 and individuals or groups desiring to make direct donations may mail them to Muscular Dystrophy, care of the Moose Lodge, Marion O.

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—A Cleveland youth was killed Tuesday when the car in which he was a passenger was crushed between two trucks in Medina. Killed was Glenn Hargis, 16. His uncle Jacob Crews, who was driving, was reported in fair condition in Medina Community Hospital.

Worker Dies in Fall

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Construction worker Robert Card, 29, was killed Tuesday when he fell from a scaffold at the old YMCA building, which is being demolished. Card, of near Montague in Geauga County, was working at the second-floor level.

The Garden State Parkway in New Jersey in 1957 collected more than $2,000 in tolls mailed in by motorists who did not have proper change at the highway's automatic gates.

7 Killed, 12 Are Hurt as Bus, 2 Trucks Collide in Tennessee

Passengers Flee as Fire Breaks Out

Greyhound Attempts To Pass Coal Truck, Hits Second Head-On

PULASKI, Tenn. (AP)—A Greyhound bus collided with two trucks while trying to pass on a wet, fog-shrouded hill at twilight Tuesday, killing seven persons and injuring 12.

Flames burst out in the bus minutes after it crashed to a halt in a gully seven miles south of here. A majority of the estimated 23 passengers scrambled out before the fire got to them.

Three of the dead were badly burned. The others apparently were thrown from the bus.

Driver Among Victims

The bus driver, who last summer received an award for 15 years of safe driving, was among the dead. He was Samuel Youree, 30, of Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Twelve persons, including one of the truck drivers, were treated at a hospital. Six were released. One was sent to a Nashville hospital in critical condition.

Officers pieced together this account:

The 40-passenger bus, bound from Birmingham to Cincinnati, was passing a coal truck in the fog when a southbound semi-trailer truck loomed ahead.

The bus whipped back toward the right lane, hooked bumpers with the coal truck and then crashed almost headon into the tractor-trailer.

Bus Catches Fire

The impact broke the bus loose from the coal truck. The bus careened 75 yards further on and crashed to a stop upright in the gully, catching fire.

The coal truck stopped, its brakes locked, with one wheel off the shoulder of the road.

Luther Jim Beasley, 30, truck driver for the Brindley & Son Coal Co., Pulaski, who was not injured, said: "The tractor-trailer was blowing his horn and signaling with his lights. He was going mighty slow, if not stopped, when the bus hit him."

The collision opened a hole in the left side of the bus through which some of the passengers escaped. Others apparently used the emergency door at the rear.

In addition to Youree, the bus driver, funeral homes here identified these dead:

Charles Thompson, 28, Cleveland, Ala.; Mrs. Billie Jean Holman, 23, Brewton, Ala., and Mrs. Frances V. Tolbert, Warrior, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Parrish, erroneously identified Tuesday night among the charred bodies as two of the victims, telephoned relatives in Birmingham that they were safe.

A Pulaski funeral home said one male and one female remained unidentified. The body of another male remained unidentified at a second funeral home. Officials said the bodies were burned severely, making identification extremely difficult.

IMPLEMENT OF DEATH. This is the car which Richard McCallister, 21, of near Galion was driving when it was struck by a New York Central passenger train shortly after noon Tuesday at the crossing intersection of Marion County Rd. 195 west of Martel. McCallister, thrown from the vehicle, suffered a fractured skull and died in Galion Community Hospital, becoming this county's 17th highway fatality of 1958. McCallister's young son and another passenger escaped serious injury.

Pilgrims in Holy Land Perform Age-Old Ritual

BETHLEHEM (AP) — An old Arab shepherd trudged wearily up a parched rock-strewn hill to Bethlehem today.

Atop the hill the old man leaned heavily on his staff and watched the pilgrims converge on Bethlehem, to relive the birth of Christ nearly 2,000 years ago in a stable beneath an inn.

Some 4,000 pilgrims have swarmed into the Holy Land this Christmas from many countries.

Soon there came the pealing of huge bells atop the Church of the Nativity. The big bells called the Christians to the hewn rock grotto below.

In a few hours, amidst the heavy fragrance of incense, the singing of sacred hymns, and the chanting of mystic prayers a statue of the Christ child was to be placed in the manger.

Depicts Christmas Story

Thus the climax of ancient Christian ritual, depicting again the Christmas story, just as it has been done on countless Christmas Eves before.

Meanwhile a long procession crawled slowly up the steep Judean hills, around the hairpin curves of the 12-mile mountain road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem.

The shepherd squatted on his haunches and watched the procession clatter through the narrow cobbled streets of ancient Bethlehem to Manger Square.

Msgr. Alberto Gori, white-bearded Roman Catholic patriarch of Jerusalem, was met in Manger Square by a host of pilgrims, church dignitaries, Jordan government officials, priests and altar boys.

Patriarch Leads Throng

The patriarch led this tumult across the worn flagstones of the square to the Church of the Nativity.

Singly, they moved through the narrow 3-foot-high door of the 1,500-year-old church, once a Crusader's castle. The procession proceeded to the adjacent Church of St. Catherine for vespers.

The route then led to the Grotto of the Nativity, for the patriarch will bless the spot where tradition says Christ was born, in preparation for the midnight service.

Off to the left in the distance the shepherd could hear singing of more Christmas carols. It was coming from the Shepherds' Cave in a field — the place where tradition says the angels announced the birth of Christ to shepherds huddled in the cave watching their flocks by night.

The service in the cave is one of two held by Protestants on Christmas Eve. The other, choral singing, is held in the courtyard of the Church of the Nativity.

Santa Is Remembered By California Children

MONROVIA, Calif. (AP) — It was Christmastime, but none of the yuletide bustle filtered into the quiet room where the man lay, pale and gaunt.

His only companions were memories.

Memories of happy days when he was the most popular, rotund, bewhiskered Santa Claus in Monrovia, a foothill town 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Now he was alone in a hospital room, forgotten. A sadness welled inside him.

Children Tiptoe In

Suddenly, the door opened and two small children tiptoed in.

"Merry Christmas, Mr. Santa Claus," they chorused.

His eyes opened. Tears rolled down his emaciated cheeks.

The spirit of Christmas had returned to 81-year-old Tom Davies.

For years Tom has been Santa to thousands of San Gabriel Valley children. Several months ago he suffered a stroke.

The children who remembered Santa Tuesday were David, 4, and Debbie, 7, children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Dickerson of Monrovia.

The Dickersons started a movement to get Santa's young fans to write him "thank you" and "get well" letters.

'Best We Ever Had'

"Tom was the best Santa we ever had," said President Jerry McBratney of McBratney's Department Store where Tom worked for eight years. "He was wonderful with kids. He even visited them at school. Tom knew the true meaning of Christmas."

After the Dickerson children had left the quiet hospital room, Tom looked at the letters they had given him.

"I always told the children when they sat on my knee to say their prayers at night," he said. "I thought that was the real way to teach them what Christmas means."

Atlas

Prior to the launch there were rumors that either another satellite attempt would be made or that something alive was aboard. Neither report could be confirmed.

The mission apparently was to see how the "Big A" would stand up under heavy stress now that the special modifications have been introduced.

The liftoff came four days after the highly touted Titan ICBM flamed out on its launching debut. The Titan program is a follow-on series to the Atlas.

It was the 17th Atlas fired in the nation's accelerated ICBM development program which began just over a year ago.

There were earlier reports that the nose cone may have contained a living animal in connection with a re-entry test, but the spokesman denied it.

"There was nothing alive in it," he said.

BETTER IDEA

The wise hostess is one who likes to use originality when entertaining. Why not try this the next time you are giving a mother-to-be a baby shower? Instead of giving her the usual lot of small gifts for the new baby, give her one large gift. Consult the guests first. This way the honoree may receive a play pen, a high chair, or even a gift certificate to have baby's first picture made at a studio.

Three Injured in City

Three persons were injured in two of the four traffic accidents investigated Tuesday and early today by Marion police.

Huprt in a collision at E. Church St. and Merchant Ave. at 7:16 p.m. Tuesday were Mrs. Kenneth Ruhl, 27, of near Prospect, driver of one car, and Mrs. Helen Robbins, 25, of 154 Spencer St., a passenger in another car.

Mrs. Ruhl suffered severe facial injuries and is reported in fair condition at Marion General Hospital today. Mrs. Robbins suffered injuries to the right knee, left elbow, left ribs and nose.

Mrs. Ruhl was driving north on Merchant Ave. when her car and one driven west on E. Church St. collided in the intersection, police reported. The driver of the westbound car was Jack E. Robbins, 30, of 154 Spencer St.

After the collision, Mrs. Ruhl's car went out of control and over the curb, knocking down a stop sign on the northwest corner of Merchant Ave. and E. Church St. It came to rest on the front lawn of 163 Merchant Ave. Both cars were badly damaged.

Carl H. Sexton, 18, of 313 E. Fairground St. was hurt in an accident at S. Main and Columbia streets at 12:56 a.m. today. He suffered a cut forehead and was taken to General Hospital for treatment.

He was driving south on S. Main St. and skidded on the icy pavement into the rear of a car driven by Lewis T. Schonk, 47, of 767 W. Center St., police said.

A car driven by Bruce J. Grove, 58, of 430 W. Center St. was struck from the rear on W. Center St. near Olney Ave. at 5:43 p.m. Tuesday. The driver of the other car was Alfred W. Clifford, 33, of near Marion, police reported.

The only other accident in the city caused less than $100 total damage and details were not reported.

realistic position." No further meetings have been scheduled as of this date.

As for the future, Mr. Busick, executive vice president and general manager, reported that plans for doubling subcontracting efforts would be put into effect immediately in order to produce income for the company, continue the employment of non-striking workers and satisfy customer requirements.

Report of Bogus Checks Made to Marion Police

Officials of the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. today notified the Chamber of Commerce and city police that bogus bonus checks purportedly drawn on the company are being circulated in New York City and may show up here.

The company said the bogus checks may be identified by a border of holly wreaths. They are issued to an account in the Irving Trust Co. in New York City.

Real bonus checks issued by the company to its Marion personnel are regular payroll checks. They are issued either to accounts at the National City Bank of Marion or the Harris Trust Co. of Chicago.

Persons are asked to inform police or the sheriff if any of the forged checks appear in this area.

Soviet Threats Dim Berliners' Holiday Spirit

BERLIN (AP)—The 2,200,000 West Berliners today fervently hailed the coming of Christmas, hoping it would not be their last one in freedom.

Haunted by the new Soviet campaign against their isolated city, many were putting extra touches of gaiety into their celebrations.

Thousands of other Germans—from the historic Rhine in the west to the disputed Oder in the east—streamed into the city for a special reunion with loved ones.

This year, East Germany's com*munist regime has made it much* harder to get in and out of East Germany itself, so divided families were using Berlin as a meeting point.

East Germans got permission to go to East Berlin and the West Germans to West Berlin. Once inside the city, it was a fairly simple matter to arrange a reunion, either in gaily decorated West Berlin or in somber, Soviet-run East Berlin.

West Berlin city officials estimated that about 80,000 West Germans were already in their part of the city or were en route.

The three western airlines that fly the 110-mile route from West Germany put on extra flights. Special trains and extra buses were running.

Christmas

care of everyone on their list must be attributed to such groups as the Buckeye Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, which packed baskets of food and toys for 51 families, and employes of the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp., who provided for the needs of more than 30 families.

It will be a joyous holiday for *most Marionites. Plants and of*fices will be closed for the day; stores will be shut after a hectic shopping season. Except for policemen, firemen and other guardians of public safety, and for persons employed in giving essential public services, it will be a holiday for all.

CHRISTMAS presents will be opened in some homes tonight, in others on Christmas Day; and Santa Claus will make his rounds tonight.

School vacations, snow and bountiful dinners will not, however, overshadow the real purpose of Christmas for many millions of people throughout the world.

Today, in every corner of the earth, religious services will commemorate the birth of Christ, al*most 2,000 years ago. The theme* of "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" will be repeated many times over by worshipers far and wide.

In Bethlehem, between 4,000 and 5,000 tourists crowded the bleak hilltop town 12 miles south of Jerusalem where the Prince of Peace was born.

And, in the spirit of the season, almost 2,000 Christians from Israel, most of them Arabs, received Israeli permission to cross the Palestinian war truce line in Jerusalem to attend Bethlehm services.

Peaceful conditions in the Holy Land which swelled the pilgrimages were reflected in the Gaza Strip between Israel and Egypt. Non-Christians from India took over most of the guard duty along that border while United Nations Emergency Force troops from Western nations enjoyed the religious holidays.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and the UNEF commander, Canadian Gen. E. L. M. Burns, joined the troops at Gaza who were decorating 90 imported Christmas trees.

IN BAGHDAD, Iraqi Premier Adel Karim Kassem pushed back the beginning of curfew until 1 a.m. to permit Christians to attend midnight services on Christmas Eve.

Christmas brought no relaxation of tension in Germany, where the Christmas tree originated and 17 million were expected to be lighted this year. Residents of West Berlin prepared to celebrate the holiday but wondered if this would be their last free Christmas because of Soviet efforts to force the Western allies out of the city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The people of Russia's European satellites went to church as the West did, but in the Soviet Union Dec. 24 was just another day. Those whose faith has survived the Communist government's long campaign against religion schedule their holidays by the old Russian calendar and Christmas for them comes Jan. 7.

Westerners in Moscow planned Christmas parties and observances at their embassies.

Leaders of the Protestant and Roman Catholic churches from the United States were abroad to visit some of the thousands of American servicemen on foreign soil.

Nearly 5,000 U.S. servicemen spent Christmas Eve in Hong Kong, where ships of the 7th Fleet were anchored. More thousands decorated trees in Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and South Korea.

The guns were silent around the Quemoy Islands off the coast of Red China, one of the world's few sites of a shooting war. But the silence was in accordance with the Communist policy of not shelling the Quemoys on even days of the month. The Chinese Nationalist commander in chief ordered his troops not to fire back on Christmas Day, but there was no indication that the Reds also would observe a truce on an odd-numbered day.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

A wedding reception may be a tea buffet, a lunch, breakfast or formal dinner.

O'Neill Takes Action

Yule Clemency Granted 9 Long-Term Prisoners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. C. William O'Neill today extended day-before-Christmas executive clemency to nine long-term prisoners.

The action makes eight of them, including a woman, eligible for parole consideration.

The ninth prisoner is eligible for release from parole supervision.

The woman was Amanda Manning, 56, convicted of the first degree murder of John Hill near San*dusky on Oct. 21, 1941. Hill was* shot as he entered the Manning home following a quarrel in which both were involved. Mrs. Manning for the past seven years has held an honor assignment in the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville. She assisted the works supervisor in the sewing department.

Eligible for Parole

The action reduces her first degree murder to second degree, making her eligible for parole consideration.

The governor reduced the armed robbery sentence of Nick Dan Jr., a permanently crippled Ohio Penitentiary inmate, to unarmed robbery to make him eligible for parole consideration immediately. Dan was sentenced from Cuyahoga County in 1954. He was injured while doing pre-Christmas construction work on a new chapel at the penitentiary Dec. 2, 1954. He injured his ankles and knees in a 25-foot fall from a scaffold.

Other first degree murder in*mates whose sentences were com*muted to second degree, making *them eligible for parole consider*ation, included:

Frank Rennix, 74, convicted of shooting August Savage in 1933 during a quarrel in an Akron pool room. He has been on an honor assignment at the London Prison Farm since 1945. A deportation warrant to Yugoslavia is outstanding against him.

Sentence Commuted

Cornelius Granger, 42, convicted in the robbery slaying of Thomas Burke in Cleveland in 1937. He was not the gun user. Granger has been a trusty since 1946 and now operates a commissary in the honor dormitory.

William Tibbs, 45, sentenced for the holdup slaying of Cincinnati taxicab operator Edward Strady in 1934. His partner, Rudy Ashbrook, died in the penitentiary in 1957. Tibbs holds an honor position as a night fire watchman at the penitentiary.

John McCormick, 40, convicted of the holdup shooting of guard-attendant Theodore Nichols in a Western Union branch office in Cleveland in 1940. He has served in an honor assignment for the past seven years.

Sentence Will Expire

William Lawrenson, 38, Cleveland, convicted in the robbery slaying of night attendant McHenrey Bailey in a garage in 1939. He has held an honor assignment for the past nine years. Lawrenson's sentence was commuted to expire next Jan. 9, and he will be released on that date without parole supervision.

Elijah Woodard, 35, sentenced for participation in the robbery of a Cleveland cafe in 1942 during which waitress Adeline Mosley was fatally shot. Woodard served as a lookout for two accomplices. Woodward, in 1956, had his first degree murder sentence reduced to second degree by then Gov. Frank J. Lausche. But the State Pardon and Parole Commission took no favorable action on a parole. O'Neill's action commuted the second degree murder sentence to first degree manslaughter, *giving Woodard further advan*tage for parole consideration.

John F. Mullin, 37, convicted on two charges of armed robbery in Hamilton County in 1945. Mullins' sentences were ordered to run consecutively. That would make the 10-25 year sentences 20 - 50 years. Mullin was released on parole from the penitentiary Oct. 31, 1957. Today's action by the governor makes his consecutive sentences run concurrently and makes him eligible for release from parole supervision. He has been subject to parole supervision for a 20-year period.

All Floors Bright, Cheery

Hospital Staff Prepares Christmas Decorations

An all-out effort to make Christ*mas as enjoyable as possible for* persons who must be confined to the hospital has been undertaken again this year by the staff of Marion General Hospital.

Christmas decorations of every nature and description, all provided by the members of the various departments at their own expense, abound on every floor and in every department.

Even the boiler room and the laundry department have been decorated to add to the spirit of Christmas for all who must be on duty or are being treated over the holiday.

IN ADDITION TO the decorations, a special Christmas dinner will be served to all patients whose diet permits it.

On the menu will be roast turkey, home made dressing, sweet potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce, 24-hour salad, home made mince pie, home made hot rolls and a beverage.

In addition to the effort by the hospital staff, local church and service organizations have been doing their part to provide Christmas cheer for the patients.

Various groups have been caroling over the public address system in the hospital during the afternoon and evening hours during the last week. The carols have gone softly into each room and department through the loudspeakers.

And various favors and small decorations contributed by school groups, churches and other organizations have been placed on each patient's food tray for the last few days.

MANY OF THE numerous decorations are hand-made and were designed by the hospital staff members. All are fireproof and none of them, with the exception of a fire-safe artificial tree in the main lobby, uses attached electric lights.

In the children's ward, the staff*ers have decorated the windows* with Merry Christmas written in six languages and there is a Christmas tree at the end of the corridor adjacent to the play room door.

On the third floor, there are even decorations on the nursery windows. They consist of small red and white stockings for each baby present and the entrance to the department is decorated with baby angels and a Merry Christmas banner.

Visitors to patients in the hospital are greeted at the elevator entrance doors with a large Christmas card mounted on an easel with all the good wishes of the staff and the hospital board of governors. The large white, artificial tree in the main lobby was provided by the Snack Shop Auxiliary.

THE BUSINESS office is decorated with a manger scene and the administrative offices are decorated with Christmas greeting cards from friends and former patients and many doors on the first floor north wing have been decorated to look like large Christmas packages.

Decorations also extend into the public health wing in the school practical nursing rooms and the county health department offices.

On the ground floor, there is a replica of the hospital with a small scale Santa Claus arriving in his sleigh and preparing to clamber down the smoke stack.

The cafeteria on the ground floor also is decorated with a large white tree bathed in red floodlights.

Modernistic decorations adorn the laboratory and other decorations in every other department give the hospital a bright and cheery look for the holidays.

COMPLETE MOVE

SCANDIA, Alta. (AP)—A small church complete with contents has been transported 150 miles to this southeast Alberta community from Surprise, Sask. It was moved after the Saskatchewan congregation was disbanded.

ENDEARING TERMS

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Some folks thought it a bit unusual when a doctor kept calling a patient in an emergency ward here "darling." He was only trying to keep a husky apple picker, Wellington Darling, still enough to sew up a four-inch gash in his head.

Marion Area Traffic Cases

Four traffic cases were disposed of in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday. They were: Jay R. Shipley, 76, 225 Edgewood Dr., $15 and costs, (suspended), failure to yield right of way; Sini Dantonio, 31, of Youngstown, $15 and costs (suspended), no turn signals; Charles R. Taylor, 30, of 282 E. Walnut St., $15 and costs (suspended)), speeding; Clifford D. Elkins, 43, of Kokomo, Ind., forfeited a $50 bond, no mud flaps.

—Crawford—

BUCYRUS — Two motorists were arrested by state highway pa*trolmen from the Bucyrus post* Tuesday afternoon. Joseph E. Will, 29, of near Crestline was charged with failure to obey a stop sign and is scheduled to appear in Mayor's Court at Crestline Jan. 2. Ronald G. Grove, 23, of near Upper Sandusky was to appear in Upper Sandusky Municipal Court this morning on a charge of driving with an insufficient muffler.

—Upper Sandusky—

UPPER SANDUSKY—Robert T. Burns of Peru, Ind., cited by the state highway patrol for failure to file application for registration, forfeited appearance bond of $25 Tuesday when he failed to appear in Municipal Court here.

Police Reports

Payne Patrick of 314 Silver St. reported at 2:50 a.m. today that his 1956 model car was stolen from a lot at the rear of the Wonder Bar on N. Main St. sometime after midnight. He valued it at $1,800. Police listed it as an un*official stolen car because he said* he believed a friend had taken it.

Theft of a camera valued at $58 sometime since Saturday was reported by Gallaher's Drug Store on S. Main St. It reportedly was taken from its box inside a showcase in the store.

—:—

Joann Green of 249 Olney Ave. reported the theft of all the engine accessories from her car while it was parked at the rear of a service station at Bellefontaine Ave. and Henry St. since last month. She did not list the value of the stolen parts but said the generator, carburetor, voltage regulator, fan and water pumps, distributor and all other engine parts were missing. She said the car had been parked there awaiting repairs after it froze up in November.

—:—

Sheridan Pierce of 222 Franconia Ave. reported that his wife was shopping in a downtown store and had placed a package of costume jewelry on a counter and someone stole it. He said the jewelry was valued at about $3. The theft occurred about 7 p.m., he told police.

—:—

An unconfirmed armed robbery was reported by Leo R. Randall of the Taft Hotel. He reported to police at 8:43 p.m. that he left a downtown barroom and walked north about five blocks on N. Main St. where he said he was accosted by a man dressed in dark clothing and carrying a gun. He said the man ordered him to walk east down a dark side street and about a block away another man appeared and searched him while the first man continued to hold the gun on him. He said the two took his billfold which he valued at about $3. He told police they then walked back to N. Main St. and turned south and that he followed them but lost them when they turned west on a side street. Questioned further by police, Mr. Randall was unable to describe the two men or the exact route he walked.

Turoff's Hold Party

A Christmas dinner party for employes of Turoff's Restaurant was held Friday night at the restaurant with James, Chris and George Turoff as hosts.

An arrangement of holiday greenery, colored balls and lighted candles centered the table. Christmas carols were sung during the evening and a gift exchange was held.

BOYS LIKE PANCAKES

If you want to entertain a number of your teen-age sons's boy friends give them a pancake breakfast, lunch or supper. Whoever saw a twelve or fourteen year old boy that wasn't hungry or one that didn't like pancakes, especially in the winter time?

Hospital Drive Success High Spot

1958 Activities in Bucyrus Reviewed

BUCYRUS — A successful fund-raising campaign for an addition and the remodeling of the present Bucyrus Community Hospital facilities were highlights of news events in the area during the last year.

The campaign was conducted by a professional fund-raising organization and pledges, totaling about $875,000, were made. Goal of the campaign was $650,000 and the tremendous success of the drive attracted statewide attention.

Ground - breaking ceremonies for the three-story addition were held in September and actual construction got under way in October with the Gibbons-Grable Co. of Canton receiving the general contract.

ESTIMATED COST of the project is about $800,000. The hospital will have a 96-bed capacity when completed. Present bed capacity is 49. The Timken Roller Bearing Co., which operates two plants in Bucyrus, contributed $205,000 to the project.

Trustees of the Bucyrus Community Hospital, Inc., a private group operating the hospital, hired Daniel N. Finch, 35, assistant administrator of St. Luke's Hospital in Toledo, as administrator in July. He succeeded James B. Mitchell, who held the post five years.

One of the most disastrous fires in Bucyrus' history occurred Dec. 17 when the Crawford Steel Foundry Co.'s block-long building was destroyed with a loss, estimated by company officials at $1,250,000. The fire resulted in 125 employes being thrown out of work. A week earlier the company was sold to the Miller Manufacturing Co., Detroit. It was founded in 1937 by Walter J. Michael, Bucyrus industrialist and president of two race tracks in the Cleveland area.

A spectacular fire in May gutted the four-story Elberson Hotel building, causing an estimated $65,000 damage. The hotel had not been in operation since January when a $15,000 blaze damaged its third and fourth floors. Defective wiring was listed as probable cause for the blaze.

AS A RESULT of the Elberson Hotel fire, Bucyrus city officials approved legislation to provide a downtown municipal parking lot. The city bought the gutted hotel building for $5,000 and an adjoining building for $12,000 and appropriated $30,000 to convert the land into a parking lot. The area is expected to provide parking space for about 35 cars. A downtown parking lot has been requested by the Retail Merchants Association for many years.

At least 35 persons met violent deaths in the area, marking one of the highest totals in years. Two Bucyrus couples, Mr. and Mrs. William Clegg and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shingledecker, all 34, were fatally injured when Clegg's car went off a curve and struck a tree near Crestline, Oct. 19.

Fires took at least four lives, including those of Harold L. Seibert, 33, and his two sons, Ronald, 6, and David, seven-weeks, in a fire at nearby Sugar Grove Lake. Darlene Kirk 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kirk, died in a barn fire at the Kirk farm, northwest of Bucyrus.

The county had its first polio fatality in two years with the death, Sept. 30, of Carl L. Spaide, 31, of Bucyrus, a truck driver for the Timken Roller Bearing Co.

On the educational front, Edwin C. Treherne, 38, Galion Senior High School principal, was given a three-year contract as Crawford County School superintendent at a salary of $8,500 a year plus $500 a year travel allowance. He was hired by a 4-1 vote in June. In March, the board, by a 4-0 vote, voted against renewal of the contract of W. S. Ferguson, 62, who held the post two years.

IN NOVEMBER, the Bucyrus city school board unanimously approved pay raises, ranging from $150 to $800, for teachers. The new pay schedule ranges from $3,250 a year for inexperienced teachers with two years' college to $5,850 for a teacher with a master's degree and 11 years' experience.

The consolidation of Leesville and North Robinson High Schools was completed without incident. High school pupils and kindergarten children from Leesville are attending North Robinson School, where a $160,000 modernization and expansion program was completed this year, on a tuition basis. Transfer of the entire Leesville district to North Robinson was approved by a 255-73 vote at the Nov. 4 election. Under the program, both schools will retain their pupils in the lower eight grades.

A request by the Bucyrus Telephone Co. for a 25 per cent increase in rates, filed with the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in October, is expected to be opposed by city officials. The proposed increase would add $79,759 a year to the company's revenue. The increases range 75 cents to $3 a month in Bucyrus, Chatfield and New Winchester.

The company was granted an increase of about 25 per cent in November, 1953, and a 20 per cent increase in September, 1951.

City council also approved a 44-hour week for the police department, effective Jan. 1, after rejecting a proposed 40-hour week. Council's finance committee also is studying a request from city firemen for a cost of living salary increase, totaling $5,100 annually. The increases would average about $30 monthly.

While the hospital building fund campaign went "over the top" by more than $200,000, the United Community Fund campaign ended with pledges, totaling $39,706 or 94 per cent of the $42,150 goal.

New state president of the Elks' Association is Arthur E. Socin, an executive of the Shunk Manufacturing Co. in Bucyrus. He has been a state officer of the lodge eight years.

Prominent persons whose deaths occurred during the year included: William C. McKee, 58, a partner in the Stan Shelley Clothing store; Millard E. Schiever, 65, a chick hatchery owner and civic leader; Miss M. Estella Pfleiderer, 62, city health nurse for 27 years and registrar of vital statistics; Robert W. Oberlander, 47, president of Bucyrus Retail Merchants' Association; George F. Fischer Sr., 87, retired hardware merchant and member of Bucyrus 50 Year Club, and Herman F. Conard, 59, personnel manager of Ohio Locomotive Crane Co. and former state officer of Kiwanis clubs.

Building activity turned upward in Bucyrus during the year with permits issued for construction with a reported valuation of about $1,400,000 compared with an $800,000 total a year ago.

THIS YEAR'S total included a $370,000 permit for the basic structure of the Community Hospital addition.

In other building activity, the Bucyrus City Bank moved into its new $250,000 building at the south edge of the business district and the General Electric Co. began construction of an $840,000 warehouse at the rear of its fluorescent lamp plant here.

Voters re-elected all county office-holders at the Nov. 4 election. Re - elected were Commissioners Roy O. Eichhorn and Carl Baker, Treasurer Rolland E. Laughbaum and Auditor Robert Findley, all Democrats, State Rep. Terry E. Drake, a Republican, and County Judges F. H. Baerkircher and Nelson Garner.

Trapeze Coat Popular Item For Little Girl

By The Associated Press

Any little girl would like a new trapeze coat with stitched waistband detail at just the right height to guide a hula hoop.

Of course, the hoop isn't a necessary accessory. After the fad is over, the coat will still be a winter favorite, repeating in miniature the favorite new silhouette for grown-ups.

Helen Lee, noted children's designer, has designed the coat for a widely distributed pattern service. Low patch pockets and stitched belt detail add interest.

Local sewing center experts suggest you make the coat in bright red wool in a nubby weave. It requires two yards of 54-inch fabric, for a kindergarten age child. Select the child's regular pattern size, since pattern manufacturers allow for ease in children's coats, so that they may be let out and worn a second year. Measure and make pattern alterations before cutting into the fabric.

If you live in a cold climate, select a warm but light-weight interlining, and a gay lining such as a red-and-white polka-dot silk. Remember to test your stitching on a scrap of fabric before starting to sew. Generally a coating-weight wool requires a heavy-duty mercerized thread, a size 16 machine needle and 10 to 12 stitches to the inch. Remember to press seams as you sew, working on the wrong side and opening seams with the tip of a steam iron. Or you can take the coat to have a professional pressing before stitching in the lining.

Pvt. Lehner is scheduled to report back to Camp Lejeune Dec. 29. He will be transferred to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for cold weather training before joining the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa. Pvt. Lehner is a 1958 graduate of Harding High School.

Privates Brake and Rudolph are scheduled to return to Camp Lejeune Dec. 28 where they will join the 2nd topographic and surveying company force troops. Both are 1957 Harding High School graduates and both completed one year of college before enlisting. Pvt. Rudolph was promoted to private first class during recruit training. Only about one man in 70 receives such promotions.

Pvt. Kibbey, a 1958 Harding graduate, is schedulel to return to Camp Lejeune Dec. 28 for assignment with the motor transport in force troops.

Lead to Costly 'Crash' Programs Later

Cuts in Spending Doubtful Economy

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A high-echelon businessman with heavy investments in productive plants at home and abroad makes this criticism of the Eisenhower administration:

"It has spent six years telling us what not to do, meanwhile assuring us that all is well. The desperate need has been for leadership which would urge us to move and plan boldly."

One does not have to be in the nation's capital more than 24 hours to pick up the fact that it is not merely the Democrats who will be in favor of what has come to be called "spending."

There are several basic reasons why the Russians, who were far behind us in defense and preparedness in 1945, today are about even with us and, in fact, are already ahead in some important fields, notably jets and missiles.

Chief among these reasons is that they have been spenders.

A MAN WHO knows much about the swift Russian advance in the past 10 years put it this way:

"Our political image of the 'bookkeeper' who balances the budget every year has made the Eisenhower administration curiously timid and fearful. It advertised itself as a 'business administration.' But its image of a business administration was that of the old-fashioned bookkeeper on a high stool adding up a row of figures. Indeed, that is a concept popular with the average American. But it is one which makes necessary the annual cut-backs of budgets. It creates hesitancy, uncertainty and indecisiveness.

"Even worse," he continued, "is the fact that it puts us from two to six years behind the Russians. During that time the President assures us all is well and reminds us that we, too, have scientists. People like former Secretary of Defense Wilson say they do not believe the Russians can use or produce machine tools. They have been told better, but they don't listen.

"THEN, ALL OF a sudden, the Soviets put Sputniks in the sky. We then order a crash program. The Congress, which is as guilty as the White House, screams for explanations. So we proceed to spend, in wasteful hurry, about four times what a planned program would cost. Crash programs are waste programs.

"You can't make annual budgets," said the arms expert, "Which are aimed at pleasing all the fuss-budgets of provincial politics and keep up with the Khrushchevs. A jet program or one for missiles is something which must be figured in terms of six to seven years at the minimum. There will be some expensive failures. But there must be boldness in planning and spending. And it can't be done if the administration is going to engage in budget worship once every year. One reason our budget is out of balance is that we tried to be economical and, inevitably, had to go into a wasteful, crash program."

This opinion is widely held among the military, especially the Air Force and Army.

These is considerable speculation here in military circles that the President has not yet been briefed about the Russian atomic and jet bomber. In his press conference on the subject he said there was no evidence. Other sources here heatedly insist there is. The Soviet craft is one with a jet pod and a reactor in each wing. It has been flown with the jets off and atomic power doing the full job.

The President expressed himself as doubting the military value of such an aircraft. This makes missile men profane.

They point out that such a huge bomber, needing no refueling, would be a sort of space base for missile launching. Much of the weight of rocket or ICBM-type weapons is the fuel needed to lift them through the heavier atmosphere of the first 30,000 feet. A huge atomic bomber, operating 500 to 600 miles off an enemy shore and at a height of perhaps 60,000 feet, could fire much lighter but equally powerful missiles with greater accuracy and concentration of fire-power.

It now looks as if we soon will have a crash program in the field.

There will be spending in the years ahead—because we will need to do so to survive.

Beavers Waste Efforts Damming Up Streams

ST. ANNE, Ill. (AP) — Big Beaver Creek is the workshop of a lot of eager beavers. They built a dam 25 feet wide and about five feet high and backed up water for 1½ miles. The creek drains about 43,000 acres of farm land. A game warden had to dynamite.

FOUND THE HOLE

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — City Councilman C. M. Cornell heard complaints about holes in the street. He discovered one — an open manhole into which the front wheel of his car dropped. What next? He said he replaced the cover.

Harding Quintet Rolls Past Fremont Team 53-38

Presidents Record Third League Win

Harding High School's basketball squad upped its record to five wins against a single setback Tuesday night at Fremont, rolling past the Little Giants 53-38.

It was the third win against one setback in Buckeye Conference action for Coach Don Knodel's Presidents. In other conference action Tuesday, Elyria belted Lorain in an 86-64 rout and Findlay bumped Sandusky by a 52-41 count.

THE GIANTS scored first when Dick Cecil connected from the corner but Mike Chamberlain knotted the count at 2-2 and with 5:38 left in the first period, Stan Larkin dropped in a free throw for a 3-2 Harding lead and the Prexies were never headed from that point. Mike Chamberlain added another free throw and Paul Cressor dropped in a two-pointer for a 6-4 lead before Cecil hit again for the losers. The first quarter ended with Harding holding a 9-7 edge.

Five straight points, three by Bob Middleton and two by George Kirk boosted Harding into a 14-7 lead at the start of the second quarter. Then Fremont threatened itself. Cecil dropped in a foul on two straight fielders to cut the Harding lead to 14-12. Chamberlain came back with a pair of field goals and a two-pointer by Kirk with seven seconds left gave the local team a 24-18 halftime margin.

Harding used a full court press to slow the Fremont attack in the second quarter but the Prexies were hampered by their old bugaboo—turnovers. Nineteen miscues were charged against the Presidents during the first half.

A NINE-POINT spurt at the start of the third period helped cinch the verdict for Harding. Cressor popped in a pair of fielders, Middleton netted three points and Chamberlain added a pair to highlight the spurt. That spree enabled Harding to go into the final eight minutes of play with a 37-27 lead. The full court press again stopped Fremont but Harding's cagers were still hampered by turnovers.

The Harding squad hiked its lead to 50-34 and Coach Knodel was able to remove his starters with nearly half the final period remaining.

Over-all, 28 turnovers were charged to the Harding players. Those included 11 bad passes, 10 fumbles and 7 traveling infractions.

The Presidents used their superior height to control the rebounds and their three-minute stretch of near perfect play in the third period to nail the win.

Chamberlain led the Harding attack with 15 points while Middleton and Cressor each popped in 10. Cecil was high for the losers with 10. Harding finished the game with a 36 per cent shooting average, connecting on 21 of 59 attempts.

THE HARDING reserves recorded an easy win in the preliminary game, racing to a 60-20 victory. The Vice Presidents dropped in 25 of 67 shots for a 37 per cent average and allowed only seven field goals. Seven cagers shared the scoring for the winners with Hoffman leading the way with 11. Wendell and Grumblatt each had nine. Beatty scored 11 of Fremont's points.

Next action for Harding will be next Tuesday when the Presidents travel to Lorain for another conference contest.

All-Star Grid Teams Facing Rugged Drills

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Rough mid-week practice sessions were on tap today for 48 college football stars preparing for Saturday's Blue-Gray classic.

North Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Kentucky's Blanton Collier, head coach for the Rebels, both indicated hardest drills would be held today and Thursday.

The Blue-Gray footballers probably will taper off Friday so that they'll be in prime shape for Saturday's action.

Yankee players also were slated to choose their captains, while Collier said the South's starting offensive and defensive lineups would be decided.

Spirits were high in both camps Tuesday despite wet weather. Because of the rain, the Yanks concentrated mostly on the offensive running game during a 90-minute afternoon practice. The Rebels put in 2½ hours in morning and afternoon drills.

Herb Elliott Selected Male Athlete of the Year by AP

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australia's Herb Elliott, mile marvel of the age, has one driving ambition — that is to be the best marathon runner in the world.

"Speed is a gift," the phenomenal 20-year-old running machine said today. "Endurance is an achievement.

"I received some satisfaction from my mile performances of course — just from the knowledge that I had done my best — but nothing like the thrill I would get for instance from running and winning an Olympic marathon."

Wins Top Honor

The sinewy, sharp-featured track wizard discussed his athletic philosophy in soft casual tones after being advised that he had been named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year.

He is the first athlete outside the United States to win the honor which is voted by American sports writers and broadcasters since Gunder Haegg of Sweden, another great distance runner, topped the voting in 1943.

Brown Leads Turley

Elliott won by a solid margin over Jimmy Brown, the rushing star of the pro football Cleveland Browns, and Bob Turley, the pitching star of the New York Yankees and World Series hero. The Australian received 67 first place votes out of a total of 206 and 236 points. Points were counted on a basis of three for first place two for second and one for third.

Brown had 39 first placers and 172 points. Turley collected 85 points. Rafer Johnson, decathlon world record holder from Kingsburg, Calif., was fourth with 82; Johnny Unitas, passing quarterback of the pro football Baltimore Colts, fifth, 73, and Ernie Banks, of the Chicago Cubs, the National League's Most Valuable Player, sixth with 72.

Elliott during the past year ran 10 miles under 4 minutes and set a world mile record of 3:54.5 and a 1500 meter record of 3:36.

Richwood Beaten By Northwestern

RICHWOOD — Playing host to Richwood Tuesday night, Northwestern registered a 61-57 victory.

The victors came from behind to etch the win in the record books, as Coach Bill Morrison's Tigers, leading until midway in the third period, finally succumbed to Northwestern pressure to turn the tide in the closing minutes of the finale.

It was the fifth defeat in eight starts for Richwood.

Pacing the Northwestern attack was Tommy Hicks, who sifted 17 points through the Tiger defense. High scorer for the night, however, was Richwood's Steve Robinson, banging in 20 digits.

The reserve tilt went to the host quintet also, with the Richwood fledglings falling 43-29.

Eastern Stars Given Edge in Shrine Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The East is favored by 6½ points for Saturday's 34th Shrine football game. It's enough to give East Coach Duffy Daugherty the jitters.

This is the third straight year the West has been on the short end of the odds but the Westerners won the past two.

West Coach Jack Curtice of Stanford confided he has an ace in the hole in Leon Burton, a speedster from Arizona State at Tempe. "He is so fast our blockers can't keep up with him," Curtice said. "So I told them to just get out of the way and let Leon run."

The West drilled twice Tuesday with emphasis on the aerial game. The squad also worked on defense.

Easterners ran through offensive patterns, but Daugherty has indicated the defensive work will be stepped up, starting today.

Colts Given Slight Edge Over Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Colts were made a 3½ point favorite to defeat New York for the National Football League championship next Sunday and Giant Coach Jim Lee Howell thinks the odds should be higher.

"The Colts are the best team in the league," Howell said. "They certainly are better than Cleveland and I expect a much tougher battle from the Colts than we got in any of the games with the Browns."

Howell Fears Letdown

Howell may have been talking for effect. Big Jim's biggest worry is the fear of a letdown on the part of his squad which battled through five "must" games in succession to the Eastern Conference title.

"The Colts have a lot of power," Howell said, "and they are backed by a tremendous line. You can't do the things against them that you can do against the Browns.

"We learned that if you can stop Jimmy Brown and Ray Renfro, you can pretty well bottle up the Browns' attack. But the Colts have a bunch of great backs like Lenny Moore, Johnny Unitas, Alan Ameche and L. G. Dupre. Ameche may not be a Brown but he can get you that first down and he is a good blocker and pass receiver. And how that Moore and Dupre can run. Unitas, besides being a great passer, is a good runner.

Big Line Helps Colts

"And then there's that gang of 300 pounders blocking and punching holes for the boys."

In their only hand-to-hand combat this year, the Giants managed to eke out a 24-21 victory. That was clouded by absence of Unitas, who was nursing a couple of cracked ribs.

Tribe's Vic Power And Minoso Sign Contracts for 1959

CLEVELAND (AP) — Outfielder Minnie Minoso and infielder Vic Power have signed 1959 contracts, the Cleveland Indians announced today.

Minoso, who reportedly earned $40,000 last year, batted .302 and drove in 80 runs during the 1958 season. He set a new home-run high for himself with 24 and stole 14 bases.

Power came to the Indians in June from the Kansas City Athletics. In 93 games for Cleveland he hit .317. He had batted .302 for Kansas City in 60 games for a season's average of .312.

"Both of these men enjoyed good seasons with the club and were amply rewarded," said a statement issued by the Indians.

Nine Indians have signed contracts for 1959.

Kuharich To Name Notre Dame Aides

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's new head football coach, Joe Kuharich, has his work cut out for him.

1. He hopes to name his staff of assistants by Jan. 10. Perhaps some, but maybe none, of the dismissed Terry Brennan's lieutenants will remain. They are Bill Fischer, Bill Walsh, John Zilly, Bernie Witucki, Bernie Crimmins, Hank Stram and Hugh Devore.

Will Interview Players

2. Interview as many players who will be around next fall as possible.

3. Start a hard-nosed recruiting program.

4. Produce winning football teams.

Kuharich, a South Bend prep star who moved into a guard spot on Elmer Layden's Notre Dame teams of 20 years ago, visited his alma mater Tuesday.

He thought the professional ranks, where he has been coach of the Washington Redskins since 1954, provides "a master's degree for coaching."

Meeting of Minds

In beginning a four-year contract at Notre Dame, he said he "had a meeting of the minds" with the university's faculty board in control of athletics over athletic scholarships.

"The number of scholarships can be flexible," he said, declining to give any number that may be available. "We may need more one year than another. The scholarships are adequate and the number given will compare favorably with the number given by opponents on our schedule."

"The players I want," he added, "are those dedicated to football — those with a deeply rooted love for the game — those who want to sacrifice and suffer for it."

Miami Track Coach Slated To Visit Iran

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—George L. Rider, the traveling track coach, leaves Miami University again on New Year's Eve for the Middle East—but not for Jordan as he figured.

He learned Tuesday that he's destined for Iran this time for a six week tour of clinics and practical workouts with coaches helping develop track and field event competitors.

This is the third trip abroad for Rider as a State Department good will ambassador to nations who want a helping hand in developing their athletes.

Rider started his globe-trotting in 1955 with a trip to Germany to condition U. S. armed forces athletes. Later that year he spent three months in India for the State Department.

As for his Miami track squad, Rider has set up four student leaders to direct workouts under faculty direction until he returns at the end of February.

Morrow County's Cage Action Cut by Holidays

MOUNT GILEAD — Very little basketball activity is scheduled by Morrow County high school basketball teams over the Christmas holidays. Only two schools, Marengo and Edison, have games scheduled.

Marengo will entertain Scioto Valley of Delaware County Saturday night while Edison will participate in the Homer holiday tournament on Dec. 29 and 30. Homer is located in Licking County.

Thurston will play Thornville at 7 p.m. and Edison will play Homer in the game following on Dec. 29. Two winners and two losers will meet on Dec. 30.

Team Won't Leave Family

Battle Slated by Comiskey To Retain Chisox Control

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veeck is negotiating to buy into the Chicago White Sox but if he has hopes of gaining complete control of the club for the syndicate he heads, he had better take another look.

Veeck is dealing with Dorothy Comiskey Rigney for her 3,235 shares of stock. The purchase is expected to be completed before the 1959 season opens.

However, another 2,735 shares of stock are controlled by Mrs. Rigney's brother, Charles Comiskey, 32, who says that under no circumstances will he allow the team to leave the family.

Comiskey has been dickering to buy out his sister but his chances appear slim since Veeck entered the scene. Comiskey now holds 1,129½ shares of stock but will have his full 2,735 shares by the time he is 35. Tuesday night, Comiskey issued this statement:

"The Chicago White Sox was founded by my grandfather, Charles A. Comiskey, and has been retained, proudly by the Comiskey family for 58 years.

"It was the will of my father and mother that ownership of the Chicago White Sox should remain in the Comiskey family.

"I would like it to be known that I would never, under any circumstances, sell the Chicago White Sox out of the Comiskey family.

"This ball club is the vocation that I want and intend to follow.

"I feel that in this generation of Comiskeys we have had a fine start towards building a championship team and I intend to do all in my power, to accomplish that goal."

Ridgeway Upsets Mt. Victory Cagers

MOUNT VICTORY — Ridgeway High School handed Mount Victory its second straight setback here Tuesday night in a 54-51 thriller.

The local team led 15-13 after the first period but Ridgeway assumed a 29-27 half-time edge and led 40-37 at the start of the last quarter.

Larry Dickenson sparked the winning attack with 14 points. Jerry Cross was high for Mount Victory with 17 and Walt Buroker added 12.

Harpster Star Registers 38 in Overtime Duel

HARPSTER — Ron Iles, senior guard for Harpster High School's cage squad, established a new school scoring record Tuesday night as he led his mates to a 78-76 overtime win at Salem.

The Harpster ace pumped in 17 field goals and four charity throws for a 38-point total. Bud Van Horn added 10 for the winners. Everhart scored 21 to lead Salem with Minzer adding 17, Park 16 a Smalley 15.

Salem moved into an 18-15 lead in the first period but trailed 39-38 at the half and Harpster held a 55-53 lead after three periods. The score was knotted at 74-all after the regulation time.

The victory moved Harpster into a first place tie with Mohawk in Wyandot County League play. Next action for the local team will be Jan. 6 when it entertains Marseilles.

'Y' Wrestlers Awarded Title At Zanesville

The Marion YMCA wrestling team captured All-Ohio League grappling honors in Zanesville Saturday, a tabulation of match points shows.

Dean Ludwig; coach of the "Y" musclemen, reported that his boys won by a 65-point margin over runnerup Zanesville, taking nine wins in 12 bouts en route to the crown.

Bill Thatcher, co-captain of the Marion team and a three-time state champion, was given the best wrestler award after getting his 28th and 29th victories in a row in the 133-pound weight division.

Thatcher and Fred Kibbey were one-two in the 133-pound competition, with Harry Spring and John McKee taking the top two spots in the 138-pound class. And, Vance Creviston and Jerry Gibson held sway at 165 pounds.

Dale Kibbey, defending state champion at 112 pounds; Abner Thomas, co-captain and state champ at 175 pounds; and Joel Lenavitt, defending titlist in the 127-pound division, all registered victories via the pin route. Thomas threw his man in 32 seconds flat.

Martin Kaufman, a rookie in the business of mat work, gained a 3-2 decision over Zanesville's Phil Cohagen at 120 pounds, a feat not expected to be accomplished by the local grappler. Pete Wolfinger took heavyweight honors by default.

In addition to second-place showings by Marion's Kibbey, McKee and Gibson, John Keller got to the finals of the meet but found Zanesville's Lynn Worstall a tough customer and lost a 5-2 decision to the former state champion.

Buster Vande Water dropped a 6-0 decision, while Bob Davenport, Doug Beaver and Bob Kuhn went down to defeat in semifinal matches.

"Y" wrestlers will meet Zanesville again, in a Jan. 3 match slated for the local mats. Regular practice sessions have been set up through the holiday season, Ludwig says.

He said of his team's victory over Zanesville: "It was a simple case of a team's desire to do a good job. We wrested well, but the real difference was in our attitude."

MCI Quintet Registers 63-47 Win Over Iberia

The Marion Correctional Institution rolled over the Iberia Merchants 63-47 in a return contest Tuesday night at the MCI floor.

The Hornets led all the way racing to a 16-10 lead in the first quarter and holding a 28-20 lead at the half. They went into the last quarter with a 49-30 bulge.

Leading the Hornets' attack were Taylor with 16 points and Kellom with 12. Little set the pace for the losers with 23 points.

Rose Bowl Opponents Trade Gags During Press Conference

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Everything was fine in the Iowa training camp, Coach Forest Evashevski was saying, adding casually that his quarterback, Randy Duncan, had merely suffered a shoulder separation.

To which his rival in the Rose Bowl, Coach Pete Elliott of California's Golden Bears, laconically assured Evy:

"That's all right, they'll snap back by game time."

So it went as Elliott and Evashevski got together in a kidding twoway telephone interview from here to Berkeley for the benefit of a room crowded with football writers.

Evy opened the conversation with: "Is this Bump's brother?" There was a chuckle from Berkeley.

Bump Elliott, Pete's brother, is Michigan's new coach and a former assistant to Evy at Iowa, after starring at Michigan. Evy was the great blocking back for Tommy Harmon at Michigan in the 1938-39-40 era.

Pete came along later at Michigan, quarterbacking Michigan to its stunning 49-0 triumph over Southern Cal in the 1948 Rose Bowl game, with brother Bump in the same action.

On the serious side, both said they hope each team goes into the New Year's game in top physical shape.

William Woodward's Gallant Fox was unplaced but once in 17 races. He won 11 starts and $328,165.

Old Contract Rejected

Paul Brown Awarded 6-Year Cleveland Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns today extended Football Coach Paul E. Brown's contract for another six years — or through 1968. He still had four years to go on his present agreement.

Dave R. Jones, president of the Browns, said of the 50-year-old coach and general manager:

"We believe he is the greatest coach in football today. Under this long-term agreement, it's comforting to know he will be with us for a long time."

Brown was equally happy at the signing. He said:

"Naturally I am very happy that my colleagues feel as they do. I like professional football and plan to remain in it. I guess I took quite a chance 13 years ago but everything has turned out for the best, far beyond anything I ever hoped for."

A master strategist and perfectionist, Brown's pro football teams have won 137, lost only 34 and tied 5 in his 13 years as coach. That's a winning mark of 78 per cent against the toughest grid opposition.

Playing in two leagues—the All America Conference and the National Football League — the Browns have failed only once to finish out of first place in their division.

This season the Browns tied for the division title but lost a 10-0 playoff last Sunday to the New York Giants. In 1956, Cleveland was out altogether. That year the team won only five of a dozen contests, Brown's only losing campaign.

Cleveland has won seven league championships, three in the NFL which they joined in 1950.

Akron Cagers Defeat Seattle In 70-63 Duel

By The Associated Press
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis, which has spent most of the years since the departure of Easy Ed MacCauley on the outside looking in, might just find the key to open the door this year.

A big order?

Definitely.

The Billikins' chief opponents in the Missouri Valley Conference are Cincinnati, the defending champion, with Oscar Robertson waylaying all opposition, and perennial contender Bradley.

Where does that leave St. Louis?

Well, the Billikins have a new coach, John Benington, for one thing. Ed Hickey left for Marquette and a change sometimes can work marvels.

Veterans Return

For another, Hickey bequeathed his successor a veteran outfit. There was only one departure by graduation. The 57-58 team posted a 16-10 record, far from sensational, but a year's experience counts a lot.

The Billikins whipped California 53-43, in an intersectional battle Tuesday night to push their record over the .500 mark, 3-2. They've been beaten only by Kentucky and Cincinnati, hardly a disgrace since these two are running 1-2 in the Associated Press poll.

Bob Ferry, 6-8, and Bob Nordmann, 6-10, were the St. Louis stalwarts in the defensive game. They controlled the rebounds for the Billikins and that spelled the difference.

As for Bradley, ranked 13th in the nation this week, the Braves remained undefeated by winning their sixth game, a 50-44 decision over Dartmouth.

Battle Bearcats Again

The Billikins are hoping that Bradley will stumble along the way, especially since Chuck Osborn's outfit suffered some serious losses by graduation. The Bills figure they'll have to help themselves against Cincinnati, whom they meet again in the final game of the season.

Akron scored the upset of the night by turning back Seattle, 70-63. Alex Adams scored 16 points in the triumph.

Once-beaten Illinois recorded its fifth victory by tolling past Stanford, 71-62, and Tulsa won No. 5 in a row by edging New Mexico State, 60-58.

Montana scored over Oregon, 82-75; Portland thrashed North Dakota, 78-49; and Idaho clubbed Kent State, 60-54, in other major games.

Predicts New Attack

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist Chinese Premier Chen Cheng predicted today that the Communists soon will launch a second and even more violent attack on the offshore islands.

He claimed that Gen. Lin Piao, former commander of Chinese forces in North Korea, had been appointed to command this headquarters.

Prospect Rips Scioto's Team In 86-54 Rout

Prospect's mighty Bulldog basketball team journeyed to Ostrander Tuesday night to record an 86-54 victory over Scioto Valley.

Coach Fred McCumber's cagers, rolling in 29 goals and collecting 28 points at the foul line, led throughout the contest and were never seriously threatened.

The count was 24-19 at the quarter, 41-29 at halftime, and 59-40 going into the finale.

Four Bulldogs wound up scoring double numbers. Tom Rodgers paced the attack with 10 goals and eight free throws for 28 points. Howard Moser was close behind with five goals and 11 charity completions for 21 digits, while Tim Hickman and Dave Lauer rimmed Rocket buckets for 12 and 10 points respectively.

Coach Thad Seeley's boys got a total of 23 goals and eight free throws, with Dewey and Stults accounting for 18 and 13 points respectively. Newell posted 10.

The game was slowed considerably by a heavy rash of fouls and Prospect's Moser, getting 12 points in the initial half, tallied 10 of them via the free throw circle.

All told, McCumber's basketeers arched in 29 of 69 attempts from the field for a shooting percentage of 42. Their 28 completions out of 24 attempts at the foul line was good for a creditable 82 per cent.

The Bulldog reserves also were victorious, downing the Rocket youngsters 20-21.

PROSPECT

Rodgers 10-8-28; Moser 5-11-21; Hickman 5-2-12; Lauer 3-4-10; Bumgartner 2-1-5; Fetter 4-0-8; Phelps 0-2-2; Halley 0-0-0.

SCIOTO VALLEY

Dewey 9-0-18; Price 0-2-2; Stults 6-1-13; Thompson 1-0-2; Hinderer 1-1-3; Crook 2-2-6; Newell 4-2-10.

Hardin Northern Beaten In Rally by Roundhead

KENTON — Roundhead, trailing 19-7 at the midway point of the second stanza, came back strong Tuesday night at Roundhead to bump Hardin Northern 57-43 in a league game.

The Roundhead squad trailed 10-4 after the first half and was still behind 23-18 at the half. The winners went into the 34-29 lead after three quarters.

Arlen Lenhart was the big gun for the winners with 24 points while Jim Cox hit for 12 and Jim Lowery for 10. Jan Rader netted 13 for the losers and Steve McBride had 10.

Jockey Nears Fourth Riding Championship

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) —Jockey Willie Shoemaker is about to become the first jockey in the country's history to win the national riding championship four-times.

Wee Willie has ridden 291 winners this year, no other jockey can catch him and starting Friday he'll fatten the total when the Santa Anita season opens.

Shoemaker, who isn't exactly the "Silent Shoe" anymore, obviously was proud of his 4-time record. Until 1958, he had been tied with grandpa Johnny Longden and Bill Hartack as a 3-time national champion.

As evidence that Shoemaker did want this honor, it is known that he has kept a close tab on other riders around the country for the past two months.

Error in Dress Leads to Start Of Fund Drive

Woman in Wisconsin Given Idea by Mother Of Child With Disease

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—If the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation succeeds in raising $75,000 through the sale of Christmas cards, Mary Sargent will feel that she has made amends for a little mistake of hers a while back.

The money is desperately needed to continue the search for a cure for the disease that annually claims the lives of many children. The idea for a Christmas card campaign originated in a most peculiar manner. It really started when Mary gave a dress to the wrong child.

No Children of Own

Mary and her husband, Ben, who live in the nearby southern Wisconsin community of Genesee, have no children of their own. But they are Auntie Mary and Uncle Sarge to scores of youngsters who love them devotedly — the children of their friends.

Mary loves to sew, especially little girls' dresses. Recently she made a dress for little Ann Hardy, not quite 2, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hardy of Waukesha. Later, when she asked Mrs. Hardy how the dress fit little Ann, Mrs. Hardy seemed puzzled.

A horrible thought occurred to Mary Sargent. She realized suddenly that she hadn't given the dress to little Ann at all. She had given it to another of her "nieces." How, she asked Joan Hardy — Ann's mother — could she possibly make amends? Make another dress, perhaps?

"I'd rather have you design a Christmas card that we can sell to raise money for cystic fibrosis research," answered Mrs. Hardy. Mrs. Sargent agreed. And that's how it all started.

Take on Jobs

Mrs. Hardy's interest in cystic fibrosis is understandable. Her child was born with the disease.

Someone was needed to take on the job of having the cards printed and mailing them out to buyers. Mary and Ben Sargent willingly took on the job, for free of course. They have already placed an order for 50,000 cards, to be sold in packets of 10 — 10 cards for one dollar.

The Sargents are up to their ears in work now — and because they are donating their services, there is virtually no overhead cost to this campaign. Eighty-five per cent of the money raised goes to the national organization, 15 per cent to the various state chapters.

The Post Office Department is helping, too. Orders or inquiries about the CF Christmas cards addressed to "Cards for Research, Waukesha, Wis.," find their way promptly to the Sargent home.

She is chairman of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Attack Glands

Cystic fibrosis, a hereditary disease said to occur in one child out of 600, attacks the exocrine glands that control the manufacture of mucus, saliva and sweat. A victim falls easy prey to colds and infections and is unable to shake them off. Half of the victims die before the age of 5, a few survive to their teens. There is no known cure but antibiotics have been helpful in controlling the symptoms.

Mary Sargent's part in the CF campaign didn't end with designing the Christmas cards. The National Foundation, hearing of the Mulwaukee chapter's plan to sell cards, agreed that the project could be made a nationwide effort among the 60 chapters in the nation.

By the end of 1957, the cost of construction and improvemets on the Garden State Parkway in New Jersey totaled 204 million dollars.

UPSIDE-DOWN TREE. Getting the hang of it is pretty 17-year-old Joan Roberts as she decorates the family tree which is suspended from a light fixture in the living room in their Richmond Heights, Mo., home. Adding to the aspect of a topsy-turvy holiday is the wreath hanging upside down from the front door and plans to attach suction cups to presents placed "under" the tree. (UPI Telephoto)

"KEEPING CHRISTMAS"

from a story by

Henry Van Dyke

"It is a good thing to observe Christmas Day. The mere marking of times and seasons when men agree to stop work and make merry together is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life.

"Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you and to think of what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background and your duties in the middle distance and your chance to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are and try and look behind their faces to their hearts; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life but what you are going to give to life. Are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

"Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear in their hearts; to make a grave for ugly thoughts and a garden for your kindly feelings with the gate open. Are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

"Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world, stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death, and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem some 1,900 years ago is the image and brightness of the eternal love. Then You Can Keep Christmas, And If You Keep It For A Day, Why Not Always?"

1958 Far Cry From Jamestown in 1607

First Christmas in America Spartan

JAMESTOWN, Va. (NANA) — Christmas has changed mightily since it was observed 351 years ago here in the first permanent English settlement on American shores.

In their triangular log fort beside the James River, the settlers tried to kindle memories of happier days in England. But without wives and children to cheer them, with food scarce, and with only 38 of the original 105 pioneers still surviving, it must have been hard to be merry.

What did they do?

Their few records tell nothing of the first Christmas. But we know that Captain John Smith, their colorful leader, had been taken prisoner by the Indians several weeks before, while attempting to trade with them for food. He spent Christmas day imprisoned in one of chief Powhatan's villages, miles away from Jamestown.

IT WAS PROBABLY The Rev. Robert Hunt, the colony's pious Anglican chaplain, who led the celebration. This would have centered around a long Holy Day service in the wattle-and-mud church in the middle of the fort, together with traditional carols and chants.

Following the service, the few settlers who were well and who were not standing guard probably sat down in the fort's guardhouse or its storehouse to a feast of choice viands remaining from the supply which the Susan Constant, Godspeed, and Discovery had brought with them to Jamestown on May 13, 1607. For meat, the settlers may have had native venison, wild turkey, oysters, or fish. The vegetables were probably the peas, corn, oatmeal, and barley that appear in early lists of their provisions.

And, since strong drink was freely consumed in the 17th Century the feast no doubt included any bottled spirits which the cape merchant — or storekeeper — had been able to preserve in the seven months since arrival. A session of pipe-smoking around an open fire probably concluded the meal, since the settler had brought white clay pipes with them for smoking Indian tobacco.

IF JAMESTOWN had been flourishing, the settlers would have preserved more of the Christmas customs of their day — the decking of houses and churches with evergreen, the hanging of mistletoe, the bringing in of the Yule log, the performance of primitive traditional playlets on Christmas Eve by "Mummers," and performances by "Waits," or groups of instrumentalists going from house to house to play for donations.

And if Jamestown's storehouse had been full, instead of nearly bare, the Christmas feast might have included delicacies which some of Virginia's first gentlemen had known in England: boar's head with bay, roast peacock with its plumage replaced, pies made of carps tongues, roast goose, capon, pheasant, beef, mince pie, plum pudding, and plum — or fruit — cake.

There was no Christmas tree or Santa Claus' visit at Jamestown. These practices and the giving of Christmas gifts came later.

By Christmas, 1608, conditions were little better at Jamestown than in 1607. This time, Dec. 25 found John Smith at Jamestown. But four days later, he and some of his fellow Virginians sailed to find Chief Powhatan. Bad weather forced them to live with the Indians for nearly a week at Kecoughtan, now Hampton, "Where wee were never more merrie, nor fedde on more plentie of good oysters, fish, flesh, wilde foule, and good bread; nor never had better fires in England than in the dire warme smokie houses of Kecoughtan."

Little of early Jamestown remains today, but visitors can follow the history of the first permanent English settlement in America through the remains of early buildings on Jamestown Island and through the exhibits of the National Park Service on the island and of the Jamestown Foundation at near-by Jamestown Festival Park

$40,000 Fire Destroys Oak Harbor Boat Firm

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—A $40,000 fire destroyed the Anderson Boat Co. plant at nearby Oak Harbor Tuesday night but firemen saved two nearby warehouses.

Flames of undetermined origin broke out in the two-story frame plant where 14 and 16-foot boats are made. It took two hours for firemen from Oak Harbor, Port Clinton and Rockey Ridge to bring the blaze under control.

Oscar Anderson, company president, said the ebuilding and machinery destroyed in the blaze was insured. The plant will be able to start producing boats again in about six months, Anderson said.

Denies Bail Cut

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP) — Judge Harry E. Watkins of U. S. District Court has denied a reduction of the $20,000 bail set for Stuart Sutor. He is accused of trying to fly a plane-load of weapons stolen from a Canton, Ohio, armory to Cuban rebels. Sutor, of Hialeah, Fla., was picked up at the Morgantown, W. Va., Municipal Airport Nov. 4. He is being held in jail here for the March sitting of the federal grand jury.

Ike Urges Cooperation In Foreign Policy Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is asking Secretary of State Dulles to arrange with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for testimony by administration officials in the committee's broad foreign policy study.

This was disclosed in a letter from Eisenhower to Committee Chairman Theodore F. Green (D-RI) which Green made public Tuesday night.

Eisenhower said he appreciated the senators' interest in getting closed-door briefings from Dulles and other officials.

The committee has announced plans for a year-long, bipartisan study on the strategic situation of the United States.

Judge Plays Santa

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Santa Claus wore a jet black robe Tuesday.

Gray-white wisps of hair receded from his forehead. Black, rimmed glasses framed eyes twinkling at the piping chatter of little voices in the usually quiet and dignified courtroom.

That's not the usual description of Santa, but Judge A. L. Wolk personified the part as he legally delivered 38 lively children—from 8 months to 17 years of age—to their adoptive parents, just in time for Christmas.

Christmas music rings out, proclaiming the glad and glorious holiday season, and we chime in with our greetings and good wishes to you. May the joyous carols strike a responsive chord in your heart...renewing all the age-old wonder of Christmas.

Marion Homes Shine With Bright Christmas Decorations

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS, some simple and some elaborate, adorn hundreds of Marion homes this year. Twinkling lights sparkle in the frosty night air, adding to the gaiety of the season. Madonna and Child shine majestically from a lawn, renewing the religious warmth of the Yuletide. Santa Claus heads for the chimney to delight children with visions of a wondrous array of gifts. These scenes and many others will be found on an evening tour of the city. A number of attractive displays are pictured here.

UPPER LEFT: Santa Claus rides in on a rocket in this display at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McGee at 301 Uhler Ave. The home is decorated also with boughs of green and multicolored lights.

UPPER CENTER: This snow-and-ice Christmas tree was made by Jack Houpt of 138 S. High St. Imbedded in it are tinsel decorations. It is lighted with spot lights.

UPPER RIGHT: Abundant use of multicolored lights is featured in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. William Leffler of 387 Whitmore Ave. In the living room is an all-white Christmas tree.

CENTER RIGHT: The homes of Dr. and Mrs. H. Ray Finney of 537 Mt. Vernon Ave. (left) and Mrs. Dallas R. Harruff of 525 Mt. Vernon Ave. present this view to motorists. Both employ multicolored lights in greenery.

LOWER CENTER: This handsome snowman decorates the door of the LaVerne Apartments at 562-564 Mt. Vernon Ave. The door display, and window displays in the building, are a cooperative effort of Mr. and Mrs. Marion F. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Miller.

East Germans Need Oil From Urals

Russians To Lay 2,000-Mile Pipeline

BERLIN (NANA) — Preliminary work on a proposed pipeline from the frontiers of Soviet Asia into the center of Europe will begin soon, a well-informed East Berlin official says.

The pipeline, which will be 2,000 miles long, will carry oil from the rich Soviet fields of the Ural Mountains to East Germany across Poland.

The East Berlin official claims that the proposed pipeline will be the longest in the world, almost twice as long as the Trans-Arabian pipeline which runs from Persian Gulf to Sidon in Lebanon.

He did not compare it in length to the 2,200-mile-long, cross-country pipeline now under construction in Canada. It certainly would be longer than the U.S. "Big Inch," however, which extends 1,476 miles from Longview, Tex. to Philadelphia and New York City.

THE PIPELINE will lay at least six feet deep in the earth in order to prevent it from freezing during the winter. Pumping stations will be built up every 10 or 15 miles along the course, the official said.

Technical experts from the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary recently met in Warsaw to discuss the first phase of the proposed pipeline, he disclosed.

The proposed pipeline will carry some 5,000,000 tons of oil per year from the Soviet oil fields. It will be completed sometime in 1963.

The cost of the construction of the pipeline will be borne by three governments. At least two refineries will be built in East Germany and Poland with Soviet assistance for refining the crude oil, the East Berlin official said.

BOTH EAST GERMANY and Poland are heavily dependent on Russian oil. More than 80 per cent of the oil used in East Germany comes from the Soviet Union by railroad.

One of the purposes of the proposed pipeline is to help East Germany build its new chemical industries. Currently East Germany uses soft coal for its existing chemical industry.

The oil from the Soviet Union will be used mostly for the production of aromatics, such as benzol, toluol and xylol for starting various synthetic fibres needed by the Soviet bloc's growing textile industries. The oil will also be used for fuel purposes.

The East Berlin official says that similar pipelines also will be built from the Soviet oil fields to Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

CATTLE RESCUED

Strong Squeeze

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Even a water glass can be dangerous.

Woman, 28, Is Abducted By Prowler in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A young mother was kidnaped from her home here Tuesday night by a masked intruder. After a brief struggle in which she cut him with a kitchen carving knife, she was forced to accompany him in his car to a deserted spot where he raped her, police reported.

The woman's 10-month-old son was left alone in the house in his crib while his mother was abducted at knifepoint.

Mrs. Frances Lollar, 28, was driven home by the man after the assault and later was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock.

Police gave this account of the incident:

Mrs. Lollar was alone at home—her husband was out having his car repaired—when the intruder knocked at the front door. She refused to let him in.

When he began pounding on the rear door, she started to phone police. She never completed the call.

The man broke the glass from the kitchen door with a shovel and let himself in.

Mrs. Lollar picked up a carving knife and tried to defend herself.

The attacker managed to wrest the knife away and turned it on her.

"Don't resist me and I won't hurt you," she quoted him as saying.

During the brief struggle, she told officers, the man was cut severely. Police said the kitchen was splattered with blood.

At knifepoint, the man forced Mrs. Lollar to accompany him to his car.

In the car, the man removed his mask—a white cloth over the lower part of his face—and used it to blindfold Mrs. Lollar.

He then drove what Mrs. Lollar thought was a short distance and parked behind two billboards. There he made her disrobe and raped her.

He drove her home after the assault and let her out in front of her house.

It was the second assault of its type in the Columbus area in a week. On Dec. 16, Mrs. Janice O. Porter, 24, was criminally assaulted in her home while bound, gagged and blindfolded. The young mother-to-be, expecting her first child in a few days, was then shot through the head and killed.

David S. Smith, her 20-year-old neighbor, was arrested the same day and charged with first-degree murder in the death. Police said he admitted the slaying. He is currently undergoing a mental examination in a state hospital.

Young's Shell Service Station at 940 E. Center St., and operated by William Young, has been awarded first prize for Christmas decorations on Shell Stations in the district for the sixth consecutive year. Bob Young's Shell Service at 305 N. Main St. was awarded second prize.

Selections are made by the manager of the Toledo district, the sales supervisor and merchandising representative. The Marion stations are two of 115 in the Toledo district.

CHILD'S PARTY

If you are having just a few of your children's little friends in for a get together, there is one thing you can do to please your own youngster very much: Tell them they can draw pictures on the white placemats that will be used on the table. Give them pencils and crayons. They may stay occupied with these for several days. The little guests will also enjoy examining them at the party.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market reversed itself early today, staging a moderate rally after taking an initial loss.

Gains of fractions to about a point by leading issues overbalanced an assortment of losers in about the same range.

Steels, rails, utilities, and most aircrafts advanced. Rubbers, chemicals and oils were mixed.

Gains of around a point were shown by American Telephone, Youngstown Sheet, American Motors, General Tire, Republic Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio.

High-flying Zenith added about 10.

Union Carbide was down a point and North American Aviation more than that. Slightly lower were Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, Merck and Consolidated Edison.

U.S. government bonds advanced minor fractions.

16 Still Trapped

ZICHEM ZUSSEN BOLDER, Belgium (AP) — At least 16 mushroom farmers were still entombed today after a giant rock collapse in a nine-acre maze of tunnels near this village in northeast Belgium.

Three persons were known dead.

One rescue worker said there was virtually no hope of saving those still trapped underground. But hundreds of weary, grimy men continued to claw their way through the tons of clay, earth and rock that came crashing down on the underground mushroom beds Tuesday.

American Victim of Japanese Brutality Voices Forgiveness

TOKYO (AP)—The gray, balding American stood waiting at the gate of the Japanese steel mill. Down the street strains of "Silent Night" floated through the door of a bar.

From the plant yard a Japanese approached on a bicycle. He studied the waiting man's features, halted, gasped in astonishment, then turned as if to run.

"It's all right, Ishiguro-san. I just want to be your friend," Ellis Gordon said softly. "It's good to see you again."

The Japanese managed a weak smile.

Between them lay the gulf of a bitter war, of starvation, brutality and grinding labor, of defeat and surrender.

Shortly after the outbreak of World War II, Gordon, 60, whose home is in Los Angeles, had been captured on Wake Island, where he was a civilian employe. He spent almost four years as a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

Ishiguro was a guard at the steel mill, between Tokyo and Yokohama, where Gordon was forced to work long hours. Gordon was a 101-pound skeleton when he last saw the guard.

"I had sworn I would kill them all if I ever met them again," Gordon told the Pacific Stars and Stripes. "But over the years the harsh memories softened and I wanted them to know I bore no grudge."

"It became almost a mission," Gordon said. "I had been talking about coming back to Japan for years and now I've done what was in my mind since the war ended."

Formerly one of the managers of a trucking and storage company in Los Angeles, Gordon recently went to work for a firm in Yokohama which transports freight for servicemen.

The search for his former guards began this Christmas week.

Friday, at least six of Gordon's former guards will be his dinner guests. There will be Christmas gifts of candy and tobacco for all.

Why is he doing it?

"I guess I just wanted to turn the other cheek," Gordon said.

Greetings Go With Fines

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Holiday cheer has spread to motorists tagged for traffic violations.

Officers report they received five fines in the mail enclosed with Christmas greetings.

NATIONAL CHRISTMAS TREE LIGHTED. President Eisenhower is greeted by Girl Scout Betsy Lamphere of Fairfax, Va., after the President threw a switch which lighted the National Christmas tree Tuesday, opening the annual Christmas Pageant of Peace. In his message to the world, the Chief Executive promised that U.S. military might will never be used "to break the peace." At right is Mrs. Eisenhower. "The people of the United States do not wish to enslave or control any other nation or any other people," Eisenhower said in his brief address. "The United States is strong—and will remain strong—because that is the only way in today's world that the peace can be protected—but the United States will never use its strength to break the peace." A crowd of 7,500 persons watched as he spoke and then pushed a button to set aglow the 7,000 lights on a giant spruce tree erected in a park near the White House. (UPI Telephoto)

Tuberculosis Arrested; Miss Zwolle Happy To Be Home

Christmas at home is an experience everyone treasures. It will be a special gift this year for 11-year-old Cressie Zwolle, who spent the holiday in Richland Tuberculosis Hospital last year.

The bright-eyed Glenwood fifth grader was admitted to the hospital for treatment of active tuberculosis on Dec. 6, 1957. When she failed to respond effectively to treatment, lung surgery was performed last July at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital in Columbus.

Her right upper lung was removed, thus eliminating the source of the infection. Her condition quickly improved and she was returned to Richland Hospital in August for a period of convalescence.

SHE CAME home on Nov. 19 after nearly a year in hospitals. She was welcomed home by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zwolle Jr. of 191 Fies Ave. and a sister Carol, 10.

Although Cressie is not yet completely cured of the disease, her inactive case is being kept under observation by combined efforts of the Marion County Health Department and the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Cressie reports twice each week to the county health department for medicine and she receives periodic X-rays at the General Hospital Chest Clinic, sponsored by the tuberculosis association here.

Not only is her health being guarded, but that of her parents and sister as well. They have been given patch tests and chest X-rays in an attempt to detect the disease in the early stages, should it appear.

THESE DIAGNOSTIC measures are provided free of charge by the local tuberculosis association as a community service, Dr. Frederick T. Merchant, chairman of the organization's seal sale drive, which finances the program, reported today.

The fact that Cressie is back home with her parents and leading a normal life again can be attributed largely to early diagnosis of her case through the health department and tuberculosis association.

Her mother had the disease as a child in Marion and was in a sanitarium several months. In 1954 Mrs. Zwolle again was hospitalized, but her case later was declared inactive or non-contagious and she returned home.

Whether Cressie contracted the disease from her mother or someone else is unknown.

The early part of Mr. and Mrs. Zwolle's married life was spent away from Marion. When they returned here in 1957, the entire family was referred to the county health department for patch tests.

Everyone's test came back negative except Cressie's. The local tuberculosis association provided further testing in the form of X-rays. The child's case finally was definitely diagnosed as active tuberculosis and she was hospitalized, even though she had not yet begun to feel the serious effects of the disease.

Dr. Merchant pointed out that dollars contributed through the annual Christmas seal sale, now in progress, have made diagnosis and case finding possible in many cases like Cressies.

The local association also conducts programs in health education and rehabilitation which would not be possible without seal sale dollars.

The annual sale will run through Dec. 31. Donations should be mailed to the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Dr. Merchant said.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS. Eleven-year-old Cressie Zwolle finishes wrapping the last Christmas present she will be presenting to members of her family Christmas morning. The Glenwood fifth grader has more reason than most children her age to be joyous at the approach of the holiday. She spent last Christmas away from her home in the Richmond Tuberculosis Hospital. Lung surgery performed last summer at the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital in Columbus made her recovery possible and she is once more leading a normal life at home. Her inactive case of tuberculosis is being checked periodically for any signs of recurrence by the cooperative efforts of the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Marion County Health Department. Cressie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Zwolle Jr. of 191 Fies Ave.

Bucyrus Youth Handed Suspended Prison Term

BUCYRUS — A 17-year-old confessed check forger, from Bucyrus, was given a one-year suspended sentence in the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster at a hearing here Monday before Crawford Juvenile Judge Constance R. Keller.

Judge Keller said the youth is being turned over to Army authorities. He was on furlough when the check-forging incident occurred and will be returned to his Army base. He told the judge he expects to be sent overseas shortly for a two-year tour of duty.

He and a brother, 19, were apprehended by police when the older youth allegedly tried to pass a forged check at the O. F. Kime Lumber Co. here. The 19-year-old youth now is in the county jail here, awaiting grand jury action. He was unable to furnish bond of $1,500.

Drudgery Can Be Put to End By Dishwasher

The lucky lady who receives a dishwasher for Christmas may not realize right away just how fortunate she really is.

But during the year she'll have over 45,000 opportunities to thank her lucky stars that she'll never have to wash another dish. That's because the average family dirties about 3,800 dishes per month—or more than 45,000 per year.

Actually, it won't take her that long to realize how thoughtful you have been. If she's entertaining on Christmas Day, for example, she'll find that Christmas dinner can be a thing of sheer delight when she doesn't have the stacks of dishes awaiting her in the kitchen. For with a dishwasher, a meal can end with dessert — instead of drudgery.

The real gift of a dishwasher is leisure time. Studies show that she spends between an hour and an hour and a half doing dishes each day. In the space of a year the woman has spent 21 days doing dishes.

While owners of dishwashers are particularly enthusiastic about the time and work the appliance saves them, they also have other kind words for the product. Many single out the fact that the extra-hot water used in a dishwasher virtually sterilizes the dishes, killing any bacteria or germs.

The dishwasher, moreover, is almost unique in the way it qualifies as a "family gift" at Christmas time. That's because in most households dishwashing is not reserved exclusively for the woman of the house. The children and the husband all come in eventually for their turn at the sink. The gift of an automatic dishwasher will pay bonuses for all of them all through the year.

Striking Pilots Weigh Terms On Settlement

By The Associated Press

Striking pilots at American Airlines today considered contract terms suggested by federal mediators to end their walkout. American accepted the proposed settlement.

The peace proposal covered a variety of contract issues, including wages, flight hours, sick leaves and vacations.

In accepting the proposals, American said it was hopeful the pilots would follow suit. A pilots' spokesman said they probably would reach a decision today.

The pilots' strike at midnight last Friday grounded a second of the nation's three largest airlines during the peak season of air travel.

Eastern Air Lines has been idled since Nov. 24 by a strike of flight engineers and mechanics. The twin disputes remain in deadlock.

Other airlines, bus companies and railroads have expanded service to handle the crowds of holiday travelers. Accommodations have been scarce but generally available.

Despite the strikes, the enormous load of Christmas mail was reported moving smoothly.

The pilots, members of the Air Lines Pilots Assn., struck over dissatisfaction with their wages, hours and travel time. Their current pay range is $400 to $1,602 a month.

The company, however, claims its pilots are already receiving top pay. It offered a new ceiling of $2,334 a month. But, American said, the pilots also demanded 10 hours less flying time a month when operating jets. The current work month is 85 hours.

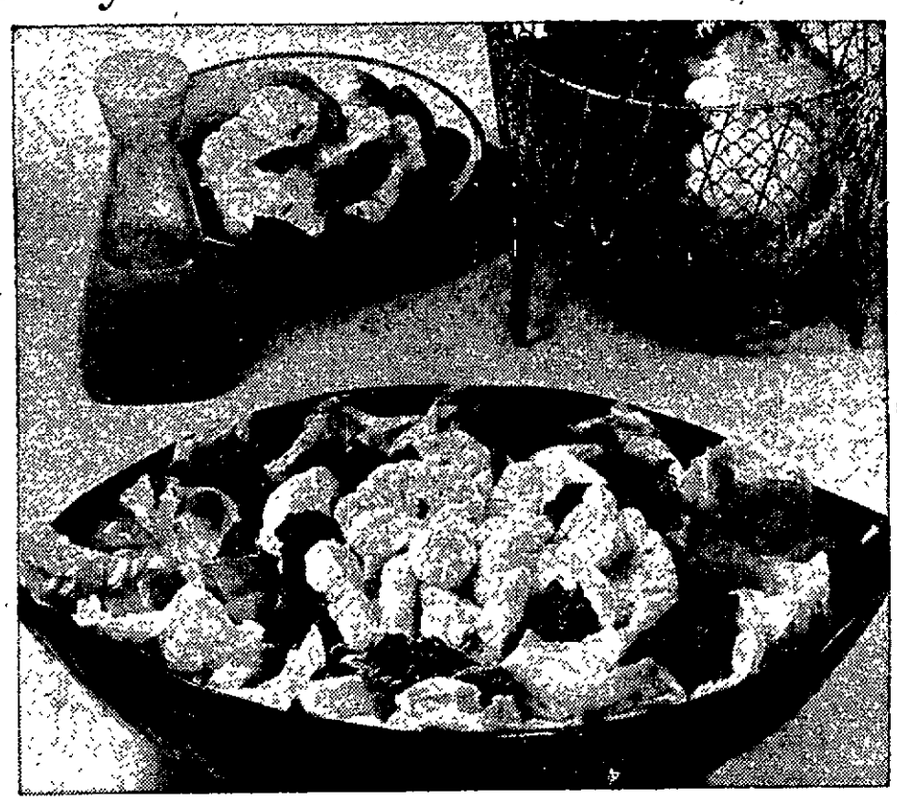
Snowy Cauliflower Adds Zest to Tossed Salad



Those snowy white heads of cauliflower in your local market are lined up in quantity waiting to get a nod from you for your menu. Now when this aristocratic cousin of the cabbage family is so plentiful—and therefore inexpensive—it's time to look for additional ways to feature it.

For instance, try serving cauliflower in salad, made doubly delicious by a subtly flavored bleu cheese dressing.

Marinate the flowerettes and tomato in the dressing for several hours; then toss lightly with grated onion, lettuce and spinach. This different, appetizing style of serving cauliflower makes the bountiful crop more welcome than ever!

1 envelope bleu cheese salad dressing mix
1½ cups finely sliced raw cauliflower
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
1 teaspoon grated onion
2 cups coarsely chopped lettuce
1 cup coarsely chopped raw spinach
Salt and pepper (optional)

To make the salad dressing, combine salad dressing mix, vinegar, water, and oil as directed in the envelope or cruet.

Marinate cauliflower and tomatoes in ¾ cup salad dressing for 1½ to 2 hours. Drain, reserving dressing. Combine cauliflower and tomatoes with grated onion, lettuce, and spinach, tossing lightly.

Add salt and pepper to taste and, if desired, add some of reserved dressing. Makes six or seven servings size salad.

Family To Join Ike on Holiday In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, like millions of other Americans, plans to spend Christmas at home surrounded by his family.

Joining the President and his wife for a big Christmas dinner at the White House will be their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and the John Eisenhowers' four youngsters.

The presidential grandchildren are David, 10, Barbara Anne, 9, Susan, who will be 7 a week from today and Mary Jean, who celebrated her third birthday Sunday.

The President got official Christmas duties out of the way in advance. He and Mrs. Eisenhower sent out formal season's greeting cards to hundreds of dignitaries all over the world. On Monday they held their yearly Yuletime party for members of the White House staff.

On Friday President and Mrs. Eisenhower will go to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm, where Eisenhower will work on messages to be sent to Congress early in the new session. They will stay through New Year's Day.

Labor Foe in Senate Received Aid

Big Business, Industry Funds Saved Goldwater

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Light was cast today on the puzzling question of why Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona managed to survive the election whereas Republican senators Bricker of Ohio, Malone of Nevada, Revercomb of West Virginia and Knowland of California, all conservatives like Goldwater, were drowned in the Democratic flood.

Friends of Sen. Goldwater have obtained information by phone from Arizona that he received fat checks from scores of business and industrial leaders in every part of the country which enabled Goldwater to put on a widely promoted and vigorous campaign over an extended period. Sen. Goldwater is the chief antagonist in Washington of organized labor.

As one White House deputy said today: "It almost always pays off. You've simply got to have the money to pay for a big campaign, and in this TV era the money factor is more important than ever."

Sen. Bricker, on the other hand, is known to have told a White House representative in Ohio in the last weeks of the campaign that he would surely lose if the Republican party didn't give him the money to tell his story to the people. He meant both state and national Republican committees. Said the White-haired Ohioan:

"Here I am with more than a decade in the Senate, having run for the vice presidency on the Republican ticket, and I haven't been given enough campaign money to get elected mayor. If I don't receive substantial help soon, the Democrats will win the Senate here in Ohio."

Bricker's gloomy forecast also came true in Nevada and West Virginia were neither Malone nor Revercomb got much Republican financial help. Knowland was better fixed in California, but a split inside his own party hurt him irrevocably there, in White House opinion.

Financial backing was always a problem in the 1958 election, say White House assistants. Not until a money-raising blitz in the final three weeks, which coincided with the coast-to-coast election campaigning of the President and Vice President, did the Republican party and such independent organizations as National Citizens for Eisenhower see how they were going less put on the tremendous and necessary last-minute push in newspapers and television. Money to pay their committed bills, much from businessmen came in too little and too late, and cost the party some of its seats in the U.S. Senate, the White House feels.

Seven Aides Appointed By Crawford Soil Unit

BUCYRUS—Appointment of seven associate supervisors to serve in advisory capacities for the Divide Soil Conservation District here was announced by Luther Shafer, chairman of the district board of supervisors.

The new associate supervisors include Clarence Ross for Texas and Lykens Townships; Herbert Harrer for Cranberry Township, Clarence Dick for Auburn Township, E. Daiber for Tod and Holmes Townships, Dan Cole for Sandusky and Vernon Townships, Leonard Wurm for Dallas Township and Earl Eichhorn for Jefferson-Jackson and Polk Townships. They will serve one-year terms, beginning Jan. 1.

Duties of the associate supervisors, according to Mr. Shafer, will be to advise the board in developing the annual program and work plan, to assist in the sale of annual meeting tickets, to serve on commitees named during the year and to help in the organization of field days and tours.

Retiring Bucyrus Fire Fighters Given Watches

BUCYRUS — Two Bucyrus Fire Department members, whose retirements are effective this year, were presented wrist watches by members of Local 1120, International Association of Fire Fighters.

Receiving the watches were Capt. J. Amon Smith, who retired last July after 25 years' service, and Fireman John E. Carpenter, who is retiring Dec. 31 after 15 years' service.

Winners of Mount Zion Lighting Contest Picked

BUCYRUS — First place in the Mount Zion Community Christmas lighting contest has been awarded to three couples. Winners in the "best nativity scene" division were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris. First place in the "best one-color lighting scheme" went to Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Turney and prize winners in the "best general display" were Mr. and Mrs. William Leitzy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schifer received honorable mention award. There were eight other entrants. Mrs. Dorcas Winter of Upper Sandusky judged the displays.

An Old Fashioned Christmas Greeting . . .

The Child of Light
By CHARLES EUGENE BANKS

Thorny the path He trod,
Mournfully heavy the cross He bore,
Heir to the wisdom of God.

Mournfully heavy the cross He bore,
Broken and steep the way,
Dearer His message because of pain,
Light of the world today.

Dearer His message because of pain,
Like by its like caressed,
Gracious as rain to the sun-dried plain,
Millions those tears have blest.

Gracious as rain to the sun-dried plain,
Turning the dull earth bright,
Truth is in blossom because of Him,
Ring in the Child of Light.

Truth is in blossom because of Him,
Sin is grown old and gray,
Welcome the gladness of doing good,
Welcome the gentler way.

Welcome the gladness of doing good,
Welcome the joy of love.
Banish the serpent, the hawk and owl,
Welcome the child and dove.

Banish the serpent, the hawk and owl,
Banish the man-made creed,
Welcome the brotherhood broad; divine,
Welcome the MAN indeed.

Welcome the brotherhood broad, divine,
Banish the narrow and mean,
So shall His kingdom be over the earth—
Ring in the Nazarene.

Ohioans Unlikely To See Atlas, OSU Scientist Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans are wasting their time if they try to spot the Atlas missile in orbit. Their chances of seeing it are very slight, says a member of Ohio State University's radio observatory team.

If seen at all, says Professor R. C. Higgy, the Atlas would be visible very low on Ohio's southern horizon. Since that's where the atmasphere is heaviest, he adds, that alone is enough to keep Ohioans from spotting it.

Other factors working against a sighting are the weather — the Atlas can't be seen if hidden by clouds — and that presently the missile theoretically is visible in Ohio only during mid-afternoon.

In the latter instance, if the sun was out, the glare would make it virtually impossible to spot the Atlas. It would have to be near dusk for one to see it, when the missile would catch the sun's light while the earth was in shadow, Higgy says.

Doctors Experience Meaning Of Christmas in Saving Child

CINCINNATI (AP)—Some people will pass this story off as mere coincidence. But others — those who believe strongly that God works in strange ways, especially in this season of Christmas—they will see it differently.

It's a story of a little girl, Cindy Green, six months old. When she was two months old a doctor discovered she had a loud heart murmur. Her heart was so big it was filling up her chest and doctors feared it would cut off her breath if something were not done.

Something was done. Dr. Robert S. Green, a Cincinnati heart specialist, was called in on the case.

This is "coincidence" No. 1—a doctor whose last name is the same as his patient.

Dr. Green discovered that a small blood vessel in Cindy's body —necessary to the child in the prenatal stage—had not closed as it normally should after birth.

One week before Christmas, a team of surgeons operated. They tied and cut off this dangerous blood vessel.

But now, let Dr. Green finish the story in his own words—in a letter he wrote to Cindy after the operation was pronounced a success:

"You and I share the same last name, even though we are not related, and after the operation I found we were both born on June the second, you this year—I, too many years ago." ("Coincidence" No. 2.)

"Cindy, we took all those amazing facts about your case and fed them into one of those great big brain machines and the answer came back immediately.

"Coincidences like these just do not happen. God arranged them and Santa (Claus) working with him brought you your new heart for Christmas.

"But, Cindy, there is a more important reason for this letter. We want to thank you. For even though you got the heart you needed so badly, you gave us much more. . . .

"What I am trying to say, Cindy, is that giving to you enabled us (the staff at St. Mary's Hospital in Cincinnati) in our small way to share in the spirit of the Christ child who gave the world so much."

Santa in Disguise

DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — A thief was Santa Claus in disguise for some University of Houston students.

While dozing at a local train station, Roland Dalomba, English professor at the Texas school, had his suitcase stolen. It was quickly recovered but examination papers inside were mutilated and illegible.

Where does this leave the students?

Said the professor: "I cannot very well say any of them failed the exams."

Morrow Accepts Rates Of Taxation for County

MOUNT GILEAD — The Morrow County commissioners accepted the rates of taxation for the coming year as certified by County Auditor Marold Taylor when they met Monday.

County rate of 3.2 mills, the same as in the past, will bring in an estimated $138,108. The hospital bond levy is 1 mill; hospital operating levy is .40 of a mill and health levy is .40 of a mill.

The commissioners will hold their reorganization meeting Monday, Jan. 5. The courthouse will be closed Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

OSU Experts Urging Caution Before Signing Contracts With Integrators

This is the second in a series on vertical integration, a new concept of farm economics, which already is in use by the broiler industry. It is being advocated for the feeder cattle and swine business as well. This article will consider the pros and cons of entering into a contract with an integrator, using, as background material, information compiled by the OSU extension service.

Vertical integration, although appearing to be in many instances, the way to solvency for farmers with their backs to the economic wall, has its pitfalls into which the unwary may tumble.

So assert extension experts—at Ohio State University, who advise farmers to check into the many aspects of this economic concept with considerable care before taking steps to become associated with it.

There are specific advantages and disadvantages of vertical integration, depending on who you are and what your purpose is in becoming vertically integrated.

FOR WHOM might this concept prove advantageous?

Extensionists say it would favor the farmer who has facilities, labor and know-how but lacks capital. It would favor the man with the urge to expand. It would favor the farmer unable to manage expanded operations. And it would be to the advantage of the operator who wants no part of the heavy risk involved with the specialized programs that will characterize tomorrow's farming. Finally, it would stabilize income under contracts providing for predetermined prices or rates for services performed.

But, the service points out some disadvantages too. For example: the farmer involved in vertical integration loses, of necessity, some of his independence. His ownership of business is reduced and he may be denied the opportunity of utilizing knowledge gained by past operations.

The farmer may, conceivably, lose the opportunity of capitalizing on price rises. For, if marketing is included in the contract, the producer may well be obligated to market on a particular day, prevailing prices to the contrary notwithstanding.

Farmers not entering into an integrated program may be squeezed out by the competition from those operators who have vertically integrated. And, farmers in the program, having signed contracts for a specific period of time, may be unable to take advantage of new opportunities or alternatives arising while the contract is in force.

IN SHORT, THE road down which vertical integration travels is not entirely devoid of chuck holes.

The No. 1 "must" for farmers entering into contracts, the extension service emphasizes, is to analyze, carefully, ever aspect of the agreement.

They must know, for instance, how a contract will affect the risk they are currently carrying, including disease and death loss in livestock, and the effect of insects and disease on crops.

How will a contract affect the risk where a price drop for produce sold is concerned? How about the risk of a price rise in what is purchased for production? And, what about changes in technology and machinery? These things the farmer must have specific answers for.

The farmer must ascertain how a contract will affect his control of the enterprise covered by the agreement. As of now, the farmer decides when to sell, at what weight to market, how many and what kind of livestock to keep, how much fertilizer to apply and how best to conduct his own particular program. The integrator may well assume all these duties, and more. Is that, experts ask, what the farmer wants?

And farmers must ask themselves what decisions an integrator can make that he could not make as well himself.

FINALLY, the OSU service cautions farmers to consider seven points before entering into a contract.

1. Be sure to obtain a written, signed, legally binding agreement, set up for a definite period of time.

2. Understand clearly the procedure for determining compensation for all parties involved.

3. Be sure the integrator assumes a share of the risk of the enterprise's outcome, more especially if the latter takes on the responsibility for decisions that may materially affect said outcome.

4. Be sure the contract expresses, without question, the responsibilities of all parties signing. Too often is is discovered, too late, that a considerable difference of opinion prevailed among parties to a contract as to specific, individual responsibilities.

5. Be sure of the legal soundness of the agreement. Beware of clauses enabling integrators to cancel contracts to their own advantage.

6. Make certain of the financial stability of the integrator before climbing on his bandwagon.

7. Acquaint yourself with the liabilities you and your integrator must assume in the event that your program fails.

The service emphasizes that farmers should remember, above all, that an integrator is not in the business merely as a service to the farmer who is short of funds. He (the integrator) hopes to make a profit on his deal. "He may," the service notes, "firmly believe that he can help both you, the farmer, and himself financially. But, his first interest is himself."

In short, the question you must ask yourself is to what extent you will be better off if you enter into a contract that makes you part and parcel of the vertical integration concept of farm economics.

Heckathorn Re-Elected To Farm Credit Board

Warren B. Heckathorn of the Forest community has been reappointed a member of the seven-man Louisville District Farm Credit Board for a three-year term.

Mr. Heckathorn, whose father H. D., is president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, is president of the Ohio Federation of Production Credit Associations and chairman of the board of the Wyandot County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

Other Ohioans on the Louisville board are Willis Schumacher of Pandora, and Sam Studebaker of Tipp City.

Farm Econogram

Here's Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Population Exceeds Forecasts—recent projections by Bureau of Census estimates U.S. population at 244 million in 1975, about 15 million above earlier forecast. By 1980 U.S. inhabitants will be about 273 million. Higher birth rates, declining death rates, and increased immigration assumed in new estimates. Significant impact on labor force, volume ad characteristics of products and services required determined by total and age groupings.

Durable goods production (i.e. autos, refrigerators, washers, etc.) has risen recently more rapidly than non-durables. Since initial drop was so sharp the durable goods index is still 12 per cent below its previous peak. The key to a good year in 1959 for durables lies with auto and home building.

—:—

Auto output has accelerated in order to stock dealers. November and December output likely to be 1.1 million cars. Factories resorting to overtime and double shifts to produce this number. Favorable impact on many supplies, notably steel mills, where operations are about 75 per cent of capacity.

—:—

Federal income tax law changes significant to farmers. Important is the Small Business Tax Revision Act which permits write-off of 20 per cent of cost of tangible personal property in year of acquisition, in addition to regular depreciation on balance. Applies to property costing not more than $10,000 acquired after Dec. 31, 1957. Law also extends from 2 to 3 years the period in which net operating losses may be spread.

—:—

Fewer farms on market this summer and fall than a year ago. Renewed concern about [illegible] inflation and better [illegible] from favorable crop [illegible] may have affected decision of non-operating owners. Tax on capital gains also deterrent to sale although land contract used more frequently as means to minimize these tax payments. Higher rates of payment under Conservation Reserve program also presents alternative to selling.

—:—

Credit to buy farm land more readily available this fall than year ago and at slightly lower cost. Interest rates unchanged or lower and loan limits increased and appraisal values moved upward. Interest rates on farm mortgages in 1959 probably will be higher than in fall of 1958 if yield on government and corporate securities remain as high as at present.

—:—

Reseal program on farm-stored price-supported crops authorized for an additional year. This enables farmers to keep 1958 corn under loan for another year following maturity in 1959. Loans on 1957 crop corn are being extended too. Present farm storage payments for a full year's reseal are 16 cents per bushel.

—:—

U.S. Consumers' attitudes survey completed in October by Research Center shows improvement or upturn in confidence toward their financial situation and toward business conditions in general. Despite growing cheerfulness researchers found more spending but no signs of a buying spree ahead.

—:—

Late crops — harvest of record breaking size now over or nearly finished on farms aided by dry and generally mild November weather. By Dec. 1, only occasional fields were unharvested. This year most corn belt farmers had corn cribbed well ahead of Thanksgiving. By late November about 2 million fewer were employed on farms than month earlier.

Field and Furrow

By Allan Bovey

The Ohio farm income survey for 1957, compiled by the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology of Ohio State University, in cooperation with the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA, has been released, and figures given in it show what a poor crop year can mean to the over-all income of the state's farmers.

According to the report (which will be printed in detail in a future farm page account), Marion County realized an income from the sale of farm marketings in, 1957 of $12,631,000. That total represents a decrease of approximately $418,900 from the $13,049,900 taken in by the area's farmers in 1956.

What caused this nearly half million drop in over-all farm income in the county?

Ellwood Parrott, county extension director, who makes it his business to know causes for trends of agriculture in Ohio, attributes the loss to a poor crop year in 1957.

Mr. Parrott notes that earnings from corn marketings comprised 17 per cent of the total income in 1956. Last year, however, the figure was only 12 per cent, as weather moved in to ruin thousands of acres of the crop in this area. Wheat, figured at eight per cent of the total two years ago, earned area farmers only five per cent of the whole in 1957.

"Weather," Extensionist Parrott asserts, "is the one common denominator which farmers cannot manipulate. It can ruin a year's work virtually overnight, or it can drag the process out over a period of years." Adds he: "A half-million-dollar loss in a year's time is adequate proof of the degree to which farmers depend on favorable weather. That unfavorable conditions can cut income—this significantly provides factual proof that no enterprise involves the risk potential that farmers must reckon with each year."

The recent cold wave, during which temperatures sank several times below zero, gave rise to many a complaint from frostel city folks.

Farmers, however, noted that livestock came through the frigid weather in fine shape and never enjoyed better health.

It is common knowledge among agriculturists that cattle, hogs and sheep endure cold better than warmer climes, from the point of view of health.

Dr. Wesley A. Ranck, one of several veterinarians in the Marion area, noted Tuesday that his calls to farms where livestock was sick had slacked off appreciably as the cold wave prevailed.

Farmers, he observed, were even feeding hay outside on days when temperatures were well below freezing. He predicted, however, that with the advent of conditions such as existed early this week, livestock would start coming down with pneumonia, as damp, warm air, taking over where the dry cold has existed, makes for less healthy conditions in feedlots and barns.

When it was announced that Mrs. Cecelia Neville of Lafayette, Ind., would be a judge of the Yorkshire breed at the National Barrow Show in Austin, Tex., many were the eyebrows that may have been arched knowingly.

But Mrs. Neville, who became the first woman in history to judge a show of that proportion, did herself proud, proving she knew a great deal about Yorkshire swine.

When the championship committee finally picked a barrow as the grand champion over all breeds, the animal was one which Mrs. Neville had previously ranked high among the York classes.

The fact that the six first and second place barrows she selected put the Yorkshires in third place among the 10 breeds and crossbreeds at the show, on the basis of cutout figures, confirms, a National Hog Farmer spokesman says, "the confidence the York breeders placed in her."

Telephone Considered Finest Survey Medium

Researchers at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station have concluded that the telephone is the best way to conduct a survey.

Glen H. Mitchell, station experimenter, observes that somewhat in excess of 11,000 farmers in Ohio have been interviewed via the telephone during the last four years. The talks were instrumental in getting answers to a myriad of questions.

And, Mr. Mitchell points out, it was more efficient. It took about 12 minutes for each call, while a personal interview, for the same information, would have consumed 32. Moreover, the response rate is high. Says Questioner Mitchell: "Usually not more than five out of every 100 persons called refuse to answer."

Penn State University had 225 growers enrolled in 1958 in a course devoted to solving t... problems of mushroom cultivation.

Report Shows '58 To Be Good Year for Crops

4 Yield Records Set; Production Exceeded '57 Index 15 Points

What kind of a crop year was 1958 in Ohio?

Pretty good, according to a report of the Ohio Crop Reporting Service, which notes this week that overall production was up 15 per cent over that of a year ago.

The Buckeye State index of crop production, based on the years 1947-49, being equal to 100, was 114 per cent this year, compared with 99 per cent a year ago.

Observes Ellwood Parrott, county extension director: "The total value of all crops harvested in Ohio this year was $557,996,000 compared with $515,707,000 in 1957.

Is this outcome surprising? No, say experts compiling the crop service data. They point out that the season got off to a good start and that despite adverse weather conditions along through the summer, crops somehow managed, in general, to flourish. As a result, new per acre yield records were set for wheat, oats, soybeans, hay and rye.

Corn Yield Good

Taking the state's farm produce piecemeal, it is seen by the report that corn production in Ohio this year amounted to 202,560,000 bushels, a whopping 12 per cent more than last year's crop of 180,522,000 bushels. The average yield per acre was 60 bushels, compared to a previous record of 61 bushels, established back in 1954.

Although figures for the counties in the state will not be available until sometime next year, Extensionist Parrot goes out on a limb to predict that Marion County's average might hit 65 bushels per acre.

How about wheat over the state? Each of 1,495,000 acres seeded to that crop this year produced 31 bushels, on an average the report indicates, nine bushels over the 1957 yield. The previous mark was 29 bushels set back in 1955. However, the quality of the crop was far from that hoped for.

It was a good year for oats, both in the state and county. A total of 1,090,000 acres were harvested across Ohio, each one yielding 52 bushels on the average, another new record high. The record prevailing up to this year was the 51-bushel mark set in 1955. This year's oats harvest was a satisfying 34 per cent above that of a year ago.

Soybeans to the extent of 37,466,000 bushels rattled over combine shakers in Ohio this fall, footing up to an average of 26 bushels an acre from 1,441,000 acres raised another new record.

Weather a Factor

Weather did some harm to the crop in this county, though, and the extension office predicts that the yield here will fall somewhat below the state average, winding up at perhaps 25 bushels per acre.

Hay production in Ohio at large amounted to 3,862,000 tons, considerably better than was earlier anticipated. A good bit of the first cutting was lost, with not a small portion of the second suffering a similar fate. But, farmers made good on third cutting and, in some cases, a fourth.

The situation in Marion County was much like that in the state.

A new record yield of 22 bushels an acre of rye was accomplished this year, although the crop, in general, is a minor one in this state. The same holds true for barley, with only 96,000 acres harvested this year yielding an average of 37 bushels an acre. This figure was one bushel under the record mark of 38 set in the good crop year of 1955.

In short, farmers, by and large, experienced what Mr. Parrott terms "a reasonably good year."

There were some disappointing results in Marion and other counties, but crop reporting figures show that Buckeye state operators fared rather well with regard to crops the sale or use of which accounts for the success or failure of Ohio agriculture enterprises.

STRATOSPHERIC COST

USDA Adopts Plan To Reseal Grain on Farm

In order to alleviate a shortage of storage space in a year of record grain supplies, the USDA has announced an extension of the reseal program on farm-stored price-supported crops for another year.

This move, according to local ASC office spokesmen, will enable farmers to keep 1958-crop corn in farm storage under price prop loans for another year following maturity dates of original loans in 1959. Moreover, price - support reseal loans on 1957-crop corn are being extended.

At present, storage payments for the full year's reseal or extended reseal are 10 cents a bushel. If, the ASC office notes, changes are made in rates under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement for commercial storage, corresponding adjustments will be made in reseal payments.

Under the reseal program, farmers will earn storage payments during the time the grain is under reseal. They may borrow up to 80 per cent of the cost of constructing new facilities or making additions to existing structures. These loans are payable over a five-year period at four per cent interest.

Farmers desirous of taking advantage of the reseal program should make application to that effect at the ASC office three to four weeks prior to the loan maturity date of July 31, 1959.

Purpose of the reseal plan, in part, is to keep corn stored on farms in areas where most of the feed grains will eventually be consumed.

Estimated carry-overs of farm grains will be at record levels next year, the USDA predicts, and a good deal higher than the carry-overs at the time of the crop harvests this year.

Eppley Cows Top DHIA Test in Crawford Area

The milking herd of Harold Eppley, dairyman of the Sulphur Springs community, had the highest production record for Crawford County units on test under Dairy Herd Improvement test in November, according to Edward Wagner, county extension director.

The Eppley cows averaged 1,350 pounds of milk and topped the butterfat list with an average of 47.3 pounds per cow.

Carrying off second place honors in milk production was the herd of Fred Gehret of near Whetstone, while the Payne and Sherer herd of near Crestline was third. The third high herd in butterfat production, however, was the one owned by C. R. Sours of the Mount Zion community.

FREEZE COLOSTRUM

Under normal conditions, a good cow will produce enough colostrum to feed her calf seven to 10 days if it is all preserved. It can be preserved by freezing. Feeding extra colostrum does not cause scours, dairy experts emphasize.

Cost of Raising Heifers Noted Through Tests

Can a farmer afford to raise his own dairy heifers for herd replacements?

That's a good question for today's cost-conscious dairymen to think about. To help them come to a conclusion, extension experts at OSU undertook an experiment or two.

They found the following:

In six months' time, Jerseys and Guernseys consumed 290 pounds of milk, 285 pounds of grain and 630 pounds of hay at a cost of $29. Holsteins and Brown Swiss, however, did away with 380 pounds of milk, 350 pounds of grain and 820 pounds of hay at a total expenditure of $42.

All told, from six months to a year of age, small breed heifers ate $6.25 worth of feed a month, with larger breed individuals costing $7.33.

In the second year, the experiments showed, small breed heifers averaged 106 pounds of grain, 325 pounds of hay and 304 pounds of corn silage. Larger breeds ate 110 pounds of grain, 367 pounds of hay and 331 pounds of silage. Feed cost for the 12 months in the smaller breeds was roughly $65.40, with $78.45 shelled out for the larger breeds.

The service notes that costs were figured on a 100-pound basis of $5 for milk, $3 for grain, $1.25 for hay and 60 cents for silage.

Thus, to feed a herd replacement until she's under production takes about $168 for small breeds and $217 for the larger ones.

So, dairymen, there are some costs. Can you afford to raise your own heifers?

Oslo Agriculture Fete Starts June 11

Upwards of 300,000 visitors are expected to attend the agricultural exhibition to be held in Oslo, Norway, from June 11 to July 5.

The fete is being staged to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Royal Norwegian Society, the oldest farm-connected group in Norway, and the 100th anniversary of the Norwegian College of Agriculture.

Three complete farmsteads are being built for the affair. One will present a realistic picture of farming in days of old, with a set of farm buildings to be moved to the exhibition site. Some of these are estimated to be 200 years old.

In addition, farming, as it is done today, will be shown, and a sizable display of commercial exhibits will be on hand.

Will Be 103 on Dec. 25

DENVER (AP) — Santa Claus doesn't have to be told how to find Mrs. Anna Bollig's chimney. He's been climbing down it for 103 years.

Mrs. Bollig will observe her 103rd birthday Christmas Day.

She was born of German parents in Graff, Russia, Dec. 25, 1855. She is a widow and lives with a grandson.

Completes Test Record

Wernida Vals Patience, a registered Guernsey cow owned by the Nevada community's Warren Guinther, recently completed a production record that accounted for 11,392 pounds of milk and 508 pounds of butterfat. Milked twice a day, Patience was on a 305-day test.

Farm Bureau Member Goal Pegged at 620

Plans for the annual membership drive of the Marion County Farm Bureau Federation have been completed, according to Bob Jones, president of the organization.

Mr. Jones notes that the quota this year is 620, with more than 200 members having paid dues already by mail.

Members who have already remitted dues comprise 36 per cent of the quota, Lyle Hinkle, Bureau organizational director points out, which is, he adds, well above average for other counties in the northwest region of the state.

The kick-off meeting for this year's drive will be an event of Jan. 19, with the actual drive to be held from Jan. 20-24. A recognition party will be held Jan. 31, featuring a potluck supper and awards for drive workers.

Mr. Jones says a captains' meeting will be held Jan. 6 in the Progressive Grange Hall, at which time all workers will receive information and materials relative to the membership campaign.

Lengthy Freezing Cuts Quality of Ice Cream Drastically

The quality of ice cream is anything but enhanced by a lengthy sojourn in a home freezer.

That's the word from Frank Koval, extension dairy technology specialist at Ohio State University, who notes that studies undertaken at the Minnesota experiment station revealed that at a uniformly low temperature of 20 degrees, such as are characteristic in home freezers, changes were more rapid, dictating that this dessert not be kept so long.

Mr. Koval observes that packaging is an important factor and unless the carton is moisture and vapor-resistant, ice cream will, at times, shrink away from the sides of the box, resulting, often as not, in a change of flavor.

Extensionist Koval asserts that ice cream can be stored satisfactorily for about a month in a home freezer if it has not thawed to any appreciable degree in transit from store to freezer. Beyond that, ice cream that was a quality product becomes nothing more than a second grade frozen dessert.

ASC Unit Will Discuss ACP Purchase Orders

The Marion County ASC committee will meet at 10 a.m. Dec. 30 in the office at 194 S. State St., to discuss with lime, tile and earth moving vendors provisions for using purchase orders in the ACP program.

Ed Augenstein, manager of the local office, notes that any vendor is eligible to fill purchase orders if he furnishes materials and services that meet minimum specifications as provided in the program.

Before he can fill such an order, he must have on file at the county office a signed agreement concerning his obligations under the program, Mr. Augenstein points out.

U.S. Opens Negotiations

Part of Pacific Sought As Missile Testing Area

WASHINGTON (NANA) — Defense Department officials said today they are seeking an agreement with the Australian government under which U.S. missiles and space vehicles could be launched from the Pacific Missile Range into areas adjacent to the Australian continent.

The department disclosed that officials are studying a proposed 15-year program to use a million square nautical miles of the Pacific for the launching and recovery of U.S. missiles and space vehicles.

The proposals were drafted by Rear Adm. Jack P. Monroe, USN, commander of the Pacific Missile Range.

While the Navy is manager of the New West coast missile range at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, the range is operated for use by all the services, the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency and the new civilian National Aeronautical and Space Agency.

—:—

A FINAL go-ahead on the admiral's expansion blueprint ultimately must come from Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy.

Defense officials emphasized that an okay for the program likely will require considerable time. For example, they pointed out, it might be necessary for U.S. delegates in the United Nations to get U.N. approval for use of Manus Island at the site for launching satellites along equatorial orbits. Manus Island, near the equator in the South Pacific, is under U.N. trusteeship.

Defense officials also said that Adm. Monroe's program includes the eventual launching of manned space vehicles and their safe return to earth.

The huge Pacific area proposed for the expanded Pacific range would border on Johnston, Tarawa and Christmas islands in the South Pacific.

The defense Department also confirmed that the expanded Pacific range would be considered as the area in which the Dyna-Soar project ultimately will be tested. This is to be a hyper-sonic manned aircraft capable of operating in the first layer of space beyond the earth's atmosphere and returning safely after circling the globe.

"ADM. MONROE'S proposals are under study at this time to see if they meet requirements of the currently planned (Pacific Missile Range) project," the Defense Department said in a written statement.

"We already are having preliminary discussions with Australian (military) personnel regarding the possibility of extending the range into areas adjacent to the Australian continent.

"It is premature to say whether U.N. negotiations would be necessary to use Manus Island as part of the satellite launching phase of the Pacific range program.

"We do have plans for manned space projects at the Pacific Missile Range, along with recovery aspects.

"Because of the complicated details involved in extending the missile range, it likely will be a considerable time before the Defense Department acts on all phases of the expansion proposal."

Asks Favor of Santa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A letter in City Hall's Santa Claus mailbox from a woman in Newark:

"If you know someone, dear Santa,

"Who could want the likes of me,

"Would you be so kind, dear Santa,

"And put me under his tree?"

Driver Dies of Burns

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — A truck driver critically burned when his truck burst into flames after a collision on Ohio 7 near Andover died Tuesday. Fred Hale, 37, of Toronto, Ohio, was trapped in the burning cab of his truck after it sideswiped another truck Monday.

The starfish, so the National Geographic Society reports, is not a fish at all. It is an Echinodermata phylum.

Zeppelin Plant Reopened

Designers in Germany Plan Nuclear Dirigible

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, West Germany (NANA) — The former zeppelin plant has been reopened by associates of the late Dr. Hugo Eckener as the site for the hoped-for construction of a nuclear-powered airship.

Dr. Eckener's "Zeppelin - Luftschiffbau - Gesellschaft" here on Lake Constance has been taken over by some of the engineers and technicians who built Eckener's Hindenburg and Graf Zeppelin airships.

They are reviving production at the plant with blimp construction while financing and technical details of the nuclear airship project are sorted out.

Prime mover for the nuclear airship project is Capt. Max Pruss, skipper of the Hindenburg when it exploded into flames May 6, 1937, at Lakehurst, N. J.

PRUSS PREDICTS that "The nuclear age soon will bring back transatlantic airship travel.

"The dirigible will be the first commercial craft to use the nuclear engine in the air," he says, "because it is the only structure capable of carrying the weight"

The Hindenburg's last skipper foresees a lighter-than-air versus faster - than - sound rivalry for transatlantic tourist travel. And Pruss says he is "undaunted and unawed" by the jetliners now beginning transatlantic service.

"The airship is safer, more comfortable and more profitable than the aircraft, particularly the jet aircraft," Pruss claims. "A jet trip is like being sealed in a sardine can and hurled to your destination. Fast, but certainly no pleasure trip."

Zeppelin veterans associated with Pruss have a 300-passenger nuclear airship on the drawing board. In addition to the passengers, the Pruss dream would carry 80 tons of freight.

PRUSS PROPOSES undercutting airline and steamship fares. He recalls that in 1937, when there was no airline competition, the roundtrip Frankfurt - New York zeppelin fare was $450 — with no baggage weight limitation.

He promises ocean-liner comfort — staterooms, dining room and lounges — and sight-seeing. "We liked to travel to about 500 feet on the old zeppelins," he remembers, "so the passengers could see everything."

Pruss claims the zeppelin failed because Germany was unable to get helium as the lifting gas, and had to use combustible hydrogen

West Germany has just opened a nuclear ship research reactor at Hamburg. The Germans propose developing a compact economic reactor for ship propulsion, a reactor Pruss believes can be modified, when developed, for airship propulsion.

Valid Reason Is Offered For Making Work Shift

PHILADELPHIA—John T. Kerr, an employment interviewer, says now he's heard all reasons for job switching.

A woman recently applied for a position with Kerr's company. She said she formerly worked for a nudist camp.

Kerr glanced at her application and noted her reasons for leaving her previous job. She had stated, "change of scenery."

Congress passed the bill repealing laws to exclude Chinese from the United States in 1944.

Congress To Get Request

Eisenhower Will Seek Political Curb on Labor

By VICTOR RIESEL

The White House is ready to drop the other shoe. It will be noisy. They've decided to attempt to prevent labor leaders from using union treasuries for politics.

VICTOR RIESEL

At this moment the proposal outlined to President Eisenhower is sketchy. But it pivots upon a plan to give rank-and-filers the power to sue their union chiefs in federal and state courts to keep the officials from using union money, union property or union employes in election drives.

FURTHERMORE, the proposed law would make defiant labor leaders personally responsible for such funds. If a rank-and-filer won his suit—if this became law—the union chief would have to reimburse the union's cash register for the monies spent on favorite sons.

This would include a cost accountant's eagle-eyed analysis of the value of the time business agents spent in campaigns. It would include autos, gas, telephones, rent and maybe even doorbell ringers and baby sitters, if they are union employes.

The union officials who threw their entire machinery into a campaign would be told by the clicks of an adding machine just how much restitution they'd have to make to the till.

THE LAW, which President Eisenhower now is considering asking for in his special labor message to Congress, is simply the counterpart of what he urged last year in his anti-rackets proposals. At least that's the way it was outlined last Monday during an all day session with the President in the White House.

Present at the meeting, too, were the Republican Senate and House leaders. There was a briefing by the secretary of labor. The President listened, apparently approvingly. The GOP strategists liked it.

The first clue to the legal mechanism to be used—which will bring the labor leaders charging up the Hill next January—is found in Jim Mitchell's speech to the icy AFL-CIO convention in wintry Atlantic City last December. If the delegates—some 800 men of considerable political as well as industrial power—had listened carefully, they'd have heard this:

"It (the law) would also require that officers who handle union funds and property be held to a high degree of responsibility to union members and be subject to suit by them for failure to discharge this responsibility.

At that time Mitchell spoke against the background of McClellan committee exposures of lavish looting of union treasuries by some labor officials for the cash with which to buy homes and make investments in real estate as well as in real personal pleasure.

The theory was to make the labor official a trustee of the union's funds in the fiduciary sense that a bank is when it handles an estate and other people's money. If a bank executive loots such property or willfully mishandles it, he must make good or go to prison—or both.

Now President Eisenhower's colleagues want to make this shoe fit another foot—politics. They are writing a bill which will say that where a union's constitution and bylaws do not specifically give the union the right to spend money and property on politics, labor officials have no more right to spend the dough than bank trustees have.

THE CLAUSE in the new law would probably say something such as "members of such organizations be given the unequivocal right to sue in federal or state court to enforce these responsibilities."

It was after the recent campaign that the President spoke to Labor Secretary Mitchell about some sort of restriction on labor's political spending. This Jim Mitchell took as an assignment from his chief.

The first sign of this came at the end of a private talk on White House labor proposals between Mitchell and Sen. Barry Goldwater. The Arizonan is the ranking Republican member on the Senate Labor Committee.

He told Mitchell what anti-racket bills he would push. But, knowing Mitchell's previous sentiments, Goldwater did not raise the political issue.

As Goldwater was about to leave, Mitchell brought up labor's political spending. This didn't exactly spoil the senator's whole day.

Traditions Survive in England

Centuries-Old Customs Mark Season in Britain

LONDON (NANA) — Now that Christmas is here, residents of Windsor are preparing to set fire to their Christmas presents from the queen, people of a Yorkshire village will keep the devil at bay with a steady ringing in their ears, and a tree alive since Christ's era will burst into mystic bloom.

These are only a few of the ancient traditions which enliven an English Christmas. Many take the form of centuries-old charities providing Christmas gifts for the poor and aged — like the Queen's inflamable gift to Windsor.

Between 500 and 900 needy residents of Windsor burn the Queen's gift to ashes every year — for the Queen's gift is coal. No one really knows why, or when the custom began.

The Queen's gift of coal is the only major Christmas charity involving the royal family. But there are hundreds of other private charities scattered about the land.

MOST OF THEM are thoroughly explicit, which often causes headaches — because the terms stipulated by a charity's founder cannot be changed without legal action.

The Popplewell Charity at Hartshead, Yorkshire, for instance, prescribes that 16 men shall each be given a loaf of bread and seven yards of linen to make a shirt and a pair of stockings. And 16 women get a loaf and six yards of linen, three yards of flannel and a pair of stocks.

Nowadays the recipients also get a little cash to pay for having the shirts made.

Not long ago the Vicar of Ickham, Kent, discovered a 300-year-old Christmas charity which required him to give away red flannel petticoats to the needy in his parish.

Most Christmas charities require only that the recipients be in need. But in Farnsfield, Nottinghamshire, interest on a bequest from one Samuel Higgs goes only to those who can recite the Lord's Prayer, the Apostles' Creed and the Ten Commandments, all word-perfect.

One of England's most famous Christmas traditions concerns the Holy Thorn of Glastonbury, a tree said to date back to the time of Christ, which blooms every December in time for Christmas.

LEGEND SAYS that Joseph of Arimathea, who provided the tomb for Christ's burial, fled from Palestine with the Holy Grail. After years of wandering, he reached southwest England and thrust his thorn staff into the ground, on a Christmas Day, to mark the end of his journey.

His staff, it is said, took root and blossomed. As the tree grew old and weak, a slip was taken from it and replanted. This has been repeated each time the tree seemed about to die, so that it has kept growing — and kept flowering each December — ever since.

An English Christmas tradition nearly as old is the wassail bowl: a traditional bowl filled with "lamb's wool" — a warm, spiced ale or wine punch with floating chunks of toast or baked apple.

Neighbors in a few Devonshire villages toast each other with the wassail bowl according to an all-but-prehistoric formula. The toast must be "wassail!" a word derived from two Anglo-Saxon words meaning roughly, "your health." The response must be "drinkhail," meaning literally, "drink health."

At other villages in the Cotewold hills, Christmas still sees performances of Mummer's plays, which have survived for 1,000 years without ever being written down.

The main figure in these plays, always given in the open street, is Father Christmas in his familiar Santa Claus suit. But the theme acted out by seven or eight characters in fantastic paper-strip costumes always centers around the Easter story of death, and resurrection.

One of England's noisiest Christmas customs is in the tiny village of Dewsbury, Yorkshire. This Christmas Eve, the church bell will ring exactly 1,958 times — one ring for each year since Christ's birth.

This "devil's knell" has been rung at Dewsbury every Christmas Eve for more than 700 years. It had a complicated beginning, but it was long believed that ringing the number of years would keep the devil away from Dewsbury during the coming year.

Youngsters Missing 2 Days on 'Fishing Trip'

SILVER CITY, N. M. (AP) — Mike and Jeff Van Ausdall, 11 and 9, were unimpressed by the fact that National Guardsmen, sheriff's officers, and volunteers turned out for a long search for them in the rugged Gila Wilderness.

After two nights and a day in the bear and mountain lion-infested country, they told rescuers "we just decided to go fishin'."

HEALTH RISK

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — The Cochise County Health Department has asked homeowners not to use 55-gallon oil drums as garbage cans. The drums are so heavy, the department said, that garbage men can't get medical insurance.

Cooperative Effort By Police Pays Off

BALTIMORE (AP) — The police commissioner got a letter which commended three officers—for good work below the line of duty, you might say.

Attorney James A. Ostendorf explained how he accidentally dropped his watch into the water drain by a downtown curb.

The three officers combined to help Ostendorf retrieve the timepiece.

One furnished a bent paper clip, another tied it to a piece of string and a third manipulated the string to pull the watch out from under the grate.

Broken Jar of Pickles Blamed for Fire Alarm

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A jar of pickles brought the Cheyenne fire department on the run recently.

Mrs. W. H. Tyler dropped the pickles. The jar broke and juice ran into a floor plug. It caused a short.

The firemen's report: One sticky floor. One inoperative floor plug.

We hear the wonderful music of Christmas carols and our holiday joy grows and deepens. We want to share it with all our friends, and to wish them a truly happy season.

OUR LETTER TO SANTA CLAUS

It's been a long time, Santa, since I've written you I know . . . but I'd be happy if you'll bring the gifts I list below.

I'd like some earmuffs, and a scarf; some boots; a purse; and, too . . . I'd like a rug about so big; most any kind will do.

The muffs I'll put upon my ears, so gossip I'd not hear . . . about some true and trusted friend; for friends I hold most dear.

And with the scarf I'll bind my tongue, so I can never say . . . An unkind word about a soul, nor judge him "Yea" or Nay".

Select stout boots, for I would go, both far and near to bring . . .
Relief to all the needy, so — that purse must have no string.

And Santa let the rug be small, that I may keep it near me . . .
for on it often I would kneel, and there I'd pray sincerely.

I'd thank him for the one who taught us: "Love thy brother" . . .
If we'd but heed, all men could live at peace with one another.

And Santa, please, throughout the world, bring selfsame gifts — don't miss . . . For, if you will, no Christmas Day would ever be like this.

Biggest Customers Cut Back

1958 Was Tough Year For Soft Coal Industry

By JOHN MOODY
AP Business News Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Soft coal operators traveled a bumpy road in 1958. Orders from the industry's two biggest customers declined and the export market weakened noticeably.

Total consumption of bituminous coal in the U.S. dropped from 414 million tons in 1957 to 370 million tons. Exports skidded from 76 million tons last year to 51 million tons in 1958.

Mine owners forecast production for 1959 at some 450 million tons.

Worse Than Expected

Coalmen had been braced for a lean year in 1958 but the final results were far worse than early forecasts indicated. Many firms estimated their earnings would be from 30 to 50 per cent behind 1957.

The decline in domestic consumption was the second in two years. Coal consumption in 1955 just topped 500 million tons.

Even the U.S. consumption figures don't tell the whole story. Some of the fuel came from stockpiles built up before this year.

Steel Industry Used Less

A major feature of the new contract is an agreement by commercial mine operators to refuse to handle non-union produced coal. About one fifth of the nation's coal production now comes from non-union mines.

The non-union clause was not included in a separate contract signed with coal operators producing exclusively for steel and electric utility firms.

Much of the coal story can be summed up by saying the steel industry, experiencing its own business problems, used 31 million tons less coal this year than it did in 1957.

Mine operators who produce metallurgical coal for the steel companies had expected to sell 104 million tons of coal. Instead the total came to 77 million tons.

Electric utility firms gave advance indication of plans to burn 167 million tons of coal this year. But the final results showed 153 million tons of coal went to electric producing plants.

Coalmen said the utility firms took advantage of an excess of fuel oil and natural gas that came into the market at what the coal operators referred to as "dump" prices.

The business lag coupled with constantly improving mining methods cut further into the ranks of production workers.

BIG SURPRISE

CRANBROOK, B. C. (AP) — A resident who went "fishing" to see what had stopped his toilet tank from filling with water found an eight-inch trout, dead, wound up inside the valve.

Housewife's First Novel Paying Off

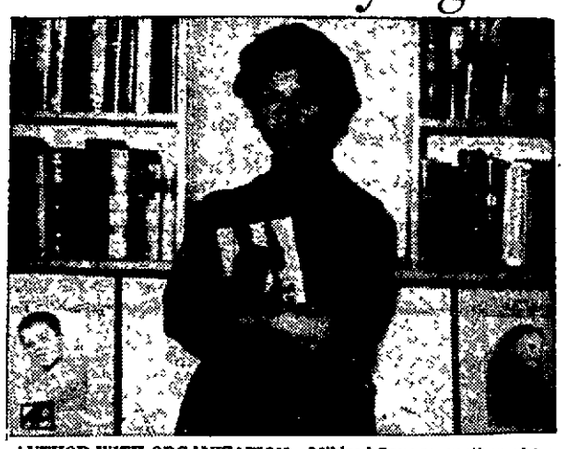
Mildred Savage Worked Five Years Writing Her 'Parrish'



AUTHOR WITH ORGANIZATION. Mildred Savage, mother of two, starts her writing day at 5 a.m., while rest of family is asleep. It took her five years to complete first novel.

NORWICH, Conn. (AP) "If you wait until inspiration strikes, you'd never get a book written," says Mildred Savage. "You go about writing systematically."

Even with the systematic approach, it took five years of daily work to produce Mrs. Savage's first novel. But the system apparently works: "Parrish," the result, was snapped up by the first publisher who looked at the manuscript, was picked by a book club for distribution to its membership and was bought before publication by Hollywood where it will be made by Joshua Logan. And Mrs. Savage will profit by a sum close to $200,000 for her effort, which even after Uncle Sam takes his cut makes novel-writing a profitable occupation.

WIFE OF A Connecticut businessman (lumber), Mrs. Savage is the mother of two children, a housewife by primary occupation and a writer in hours when her family does not have first call on her services. That makes her writing day start at 5 a.m. (which is fine because she is at her best early in the day) and she has one day a week which she takes off from family chores.

"The book started with one single idea," explained the author. "That was the conviction that almost every person has some person or thing that he leans upon. And to grow up — to mature — I feel one must be a free soul."

With her theme set, she then looked for a background in which to set her characters. She found it close to home: the shade farms of the Connecticut Valley which produce the high grade tobacco wrappers — outside coverings — for the best cigars.

"Then I had to do lots of research," said Mrs. Savage. "One day a week I'd visit the tobacco farms, talking to the planters, to the workers, walking through the sheds. I visited libraries and universities and read up on tobacco and tobacco growing. At this point I know just about everything about cigars except how they taste: I've yet to smoke one."

Meanwhile, as a preliminary to writing, she was getting to know her characters.

"I made notes about every one of them," she continued. "I had to know each one intimately — just who they were and how they reacted to each other, things which would not necessarily be written into the book specifically, but all important if they were to be real people."

And finally after that, came the first outline of the plot and the action, chapter by chapter. Mrs. Savage worked this out in such detail it was almost as long as the manuscript itself. And finally she started to write. Then she rewrote, cut, pruned, expanded.

"I tackled it like a job, which is what it was," she explained. "And I just don't see how anybody can work on a thing like that without some sort of system."

HARD WORK, yes, but apparently satisfying, too. Mrs. Savage is now in the preliminary phases of a second novel—this one concerned with the pharmaceutical business — its scientists, research personnel and its business heads. Her attention was caught when she read the autobiography of Dr. Selman Waksman.

"The setting will be different," she said, "but I suspect the philosophy of the book will be the same. I think most authors have only one important idea, and we should keep hammering at it."

Could Weaken Prices During 1959

Farm Surpluses Hit New Peak in '53

By OVID MARTIN
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)— Farmers produced a record-breaking volume of commodities in 1958 to help boost their income 20 per cent over the previous year's relatively low level.

But in doing so they laid the groundwork for a possible reversal in their returns in 1959.

Long a plague of producers, surpluses of some products climbed to new peaks, foreshadowing possible lower prices during the new year.

In a remarkable display of agriculture's technological advance, crop production climbed 11 per cent above the previous record set in 1948 and matched in 1956 and 1957. This was accomplished on an acreage reduced rather sharply by federal planting controls and a soil bank land retirement program.

The year also brought expansions in livestock production—expansions that may have set the stage for later oversupplies and distress prices.

With agriculture far from stability, it was not surprising that controversies continued over government farm policies. As was the case in other recent years, the Eisenhower administration's secretary of agriculture—Ezra Taft Benson—was the center of this fight.

Agriculture Department economists predict farm income will dip 5 to 10 per cent in 1959. They expect farm prices as a whole to decline. Government payments will be smaller. Farm production costs are expected to continue a long upturn that will eat deeper into receipts.

On the other hand, the upward trend in income of farm people from nonfarm sources, interrupted by the 1958 recession, will likely be resumed in 1959.

Artillery Weapon Stops Illinois Highway Traffic

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — It was peaceful, but it looked like war.

Early Congratulations Go to Honolulu Ropers

HONOLULU (AP) — Amateur cowhands lassoed a runaway cow after she had broken out of a dairy truck and gone on a rampage.

France Battles To Live Down Racy Reputation

PARIS (NANA) — Ever more puritanical Paris has decided to maintain its ban on a novel which is the top of the best seller lists in America.

Things have changed a lot since the days when Anglo-Saxon tourists often took advantage of their stay in Paris to buy "juicy" books, totally unavailable at home. Adding to the zest of the things was the knowledge that the lewd volumes would then have to be smuggled past customs officials.

The French capital's municipal councilors needed only a couple of minutes to decide to keep the lid on Vladimir Nabokov's "Lolita," the American best-seller about old men and young girls, which, as it happens, first saw the light of day here. But that was before the councilors and the Paris police determined to clean up the bookstalls two years ago.

The reiterized ban applies to the English language version as well as the French one. Comparatively few Frenchmen read English, of course, and those who do are not likely to be contaminated.

BUT THE prohibition is aimed at more than protecting a few individuals. Its object is the improvement of the "moral climate." It is, in fact, part of a quiet but determined French effort to undo the salacious reputation which Paris enjoys abroad. And it is being applied to other realms, as well as literature.

Paris' risque reputation, the French assert, has never really been justified. The "Anglo-Saxon myth" of France is chiefly to blame, they said. The "myth" conjured up by English-speaking Francophiles has tended to make the attractions of "La Vie Parisienne" somewhat larger than life-size.

The total effect, according to the indignant Gauls, has been to picture France to the world as frivolous, pleasure - seeking, and, at least by sober standards, immoral. Many Frenchmen are convinced that this reputation has been a paramount reason for the steady decline of French political and national prestige in this century.

"We are simply not taken seriously abroad," former premier Paul Reynaud has complained.

ONE OF THE few common aims of the assorted "new" men who have come to the fore here in recent years, from Pierre Mendes-France to Jacques Soustelle, has been to get France accepted by foreigners as a "tres serieuse" nation.

The battle, of course, must be won or lost in Paris, long viewed as the incontestable capital of hedonism. It is well on its way to being won.

Though a few cabaret and theatrical impresarios try desperately to maintain the illusion, there is less vice, open or concealed, in Paris than in most other cities. Under police prodding, night-club shows, even in "wide open" Montmartre, have been cleaned and scrubbed to the point of monotony. The Folies Bergere and similar extravaganzas are seldom less than tasteful. Sometimes they are positively wholesome.

Prostitution remains just within the law, though brothels have been shut since shortly after the war. But there can be no comparison between prostitution here and the blight it is in London, for example. Paris street-walkers must rate among the most discreet in the world, for it is possible to spend weeks touring the city and never see one.

Even so, the municipal council has begun a fresh campaign to drive them still further under cover, just so nobody gets the wrong idea about the strait-laced French.

'PEACE ON EARTH . . .' Peace on earth, good will toward men seems to be captured by a Sun Valley Lodge photographer. Sunlight piercing a cloud gives the effect of the night skies over Bethlehem long ago. The mountains are the Sawtooth Range near the lodge (UPI Telephoto)

Learning To Use Freezer No Trick

Learning how to use your new freezer is no problem. The basic "textbook" is the instruction book which was packed with the freezer. It contains hints on use and care as well as instructions for packaging food, data on storage life, and an assortment of tested recipes.

Most modern cookbooks also contain sections on home freezing. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and your own state college of agriculture have bulletins available on the subject.

Finally, the home service staff of your local utility will be glad to make suggestions and answer questions.

County Payday Changed With Approval of Court

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Janitors at Jefferson County Courthouse are paid on Saturdays now instead of Wednesday.

Fiscal Court changed the payday after Frank Norris, head custodian, said too many of the men celebrated Wednesday night and weren't able to work Thursday.

Being paid on Saturday, Norris said, would give them Sunday to recuperate.

Full Details Are Given On Military Company

WARWICK, England (AP)—The Inland Revenue asked No. 2 Port Task Force Provost Company, Territorial Army, for details of the company.

The answer:

Directors, the Queen, the War Office, the Cabinet and the Provost Marshal.

Business, protecting the nation.

Founder, Queen Boadicea.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Burma Bromide

" 'The Hasty Heart' (it says here in a press release) is the touching and humorous story of Lachie, a proud and unapproachable Scot sergeant, confined to a British hospital near the Assam - Burma front in World War II.

JOHN CROSBY

"Margaret, a pretty nurse, and five soldiers in her ward try to make friends with the standoffish Scotsman who, everyone but Lachie knows, has only a few weeks to live."

I'm afraid that's a terribly accurate summation of just what transpired. The only thing it omits is that it took 90 minutes, which is an awfully long time for the cast and the rest of us to choke back our tears.

The November show of the month, incidentally, was "The Winslow Boy," in which Frederic March, Florence Eldredge and Siobhan McKenna kept up a stiff upper lip over the unjust disgrace of a schoolboy for most of 90 minutes, their voices breaking into a quaver only occasionally.

BOTH ARE VINTAGE Broadway successes; both are of the same mean level of sentimentality; both are full safe (which is the opposite of half safe) in the sense that you hardly can attack either of them unless you are prepared to come out against motherhood and the flag, too. And both the plays, I think, are a bit dull.

The way things are going you'd swear that any day now du Pont would revive "What Every Woman Knows" and, by George, you'd be right. That'll be the next one.

Not that there's anything really bad about any of these. The Show of the Month is a splendid thing to look forward to, what with television being in the awful state it is.

There's still magic in those words, "live from New York," which are heard so very seldom anymore. But, gosh, fellas, I don't ask that you do anything so bold as "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," which is fit only for the little art houses like Radio City Music Hall where it just played, but couldn't you maybe be daring enough to do "Street Scene" which comes out four-square against tenements?

"The Hasty Heart" opens with a crew of rough-tongued but golden-hearted soldier patients in a Burmese hospital, chaffing one another in their rough-tongued but golden-hearted way.

One of the men (Jackie Cooper) is an American known by an odd coincidence as Yank, a Aussie (Richard Harris) called Digger, a Briton called Tommy—jove, what an apt name!—and a New Zealander tagged Kiwi.

NOT ONLY are they impaled with those names but they are all so confoundedly American or Australian or British or New Zealand that you want to kick them.

Into this tight little group strides a dour Scot named Lachlen McLachlen who rebuffs all efforts to be friendly with words like: "I dinna like to have things done for me. . . . I place little value on talking for naught. . . . I dinna need companionship." And like that.

Against this rudeness under which you sense (if they didn't spell it out for you in lights) a lonely boy, Barbara Bel Geddes plays a nurse who smiles tremulously and softly pleads and is so utterly angelic that I wanted to stick a pin in her to see if she bled blood or perhaps honey.

Well, sir, they work on this dour old Scot in their rough-hewn but good-hearted way and what finally does him in is his birthday.

As a birthday present, the patients team up and give him a whole complete outfit of plaids, kilts and all, and he comes unglued. And I came unglued. And Barbara Bel Geddes came unglued and the whole du Pont family, I guess, cried its little eyes out.

AFTER THAT the Scot unbent to the point where he was actually giving cigarettes away and just throwing himself around in the most nauseous way. Pretty soon, he and his Geddes fell to nuzzling each other.

I have no intention of pursuing the plot to its conclusion beyond telling you it was sticky.

Don Murray did what he could with his dour Scot and I must say I admired his Scotch accent, which was just about perfect.

Miss Geddes seemed to have only two expressions, both sweet, and that's too few for 90 minutes.

Jackie Cooper and Barry Jones were splendid, though, and the direction by Tom Donovan was fresh and lively within the confines of the script which was awfully stagey and awfully leisurely.

Russia Seeks To Undermine West

Arabs Cool to Reds' Bid For Confiscation of Oil

CAIRO (NANA) — The Soviet Union is pressing a determined backdoor campaign today to win the huge oil stakes of the Middle East—by proxy. In a transparent "Cold War gambit," Moscow is urging the Arab states to seize control of their rich oil resources through nationalization.

So far there has been no evidence that the Arab countries are prepared to champion the Soviet cause when it comes to confiscating their oil resources. But there is mounting evidence that the Moscow propaganda, along with new liberalized deals negotiated by new non-Communist rivals, is stirring the Western oil companies into serious contemplation of the future.

Many oil experts also expect some of the Middle Eastern oil countries to arrange a series of barter agreements with Communist China, India and other underdeveloped countries during the next few years.

These experts point to the announcement of the new Iraqi oil directorate that it intends to increase oil exports to Red China as soon as possible and to build new facilities to handle the Far Eastern business. These development would herald a completely new trend in Middle East oil operations.

THERE ALREADY has been a break-through in the traditional 50-50 profit split. Italian interests now have a 75-25 arrangement with Iran, with the bigger share going to the landlord. The Japanese during the last year have negotiated a 56-44 deal with Saudi Arabia and a 57-43 arrangement with Kuwait for drilling and development rights in the offshore Persian Gulf areas.

The Moscow "nationalization" campaign has been directed mainly at President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. Egypt and Syria have only a drop of all Middle East oil. But Nasser's importance lies in his control of the nationalized Suez Canal through which passes 46 per cent of all the area's oil production. He also now sits astride the trans-Syrian pipelines which carry another 28 per cent.

There is no doubt that the Arab potentates would like to exercise complete control over all their natural resources—if only they were able to. But Nasser and the other Arab leaders are well aware that only the West—meaning the U.S. and Britain—are in a position to market Middle East oil. Thus any early nationalization moves are considered highly unlikely.

All the Middle East oil landlords are still keenly aware of what happened in Iran during the nationalization fiasco under former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. Iran's share of total Middle East oil output was 37 per cent in 1950. After nationalization it dropped to almost nothing. Even now its share is only 20 per cent.

WESTERN ECNOMIC experts point out that there is a wide field of possible arrangements between a 50-50 profits share and complete nationalization. There are now signs that the oil companies themselves are considering such steps as cultivating positive partnerships in joint enterprises with the host governments.

Such planning, the experts say, would almost certainly counter nationalization demands, if they should be presented—or even spike them before they could gain serious consideration.

By promising a share of the profits all the way from the oil well to the gasoline tank, the Japanese appear to be pointing the way with their "integrated companies" in Saudi Arabia and Kuweit.

Firemen Leave Area Too Early, Miss Blaze

CALDWELL, O. (AP) — Noble County's fairground here was crowded on two consecutive Sundays by firemen from throughout southeast Ohio, in for special training.

Shortly after they all departed, the grandstand burned—the day before the fair opened.

Efforts by Thief Wasted In Meat Store Burglary

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — The thief who smashed a display window at the Sanitary Meat Market got a hollow victory.

Missing was a container of canned ham, but the proprietor told police the missing can, like the others in the window, was empty.

DRY POOL

FULTON, Ky. (AP) — All was dry when the new swimming pool was dedicated. Not enough money was left after the pool was built to fence the area. Officials didn't want anyone falling into the pool — so the pool remained dry until a fence was built.

Vehicle Serves Owner In 3 Varied Capacities

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — W. A. Morris' lawnmower is a combination power mower, tricycle and automobile.

He uses the three-wheeled machine to care for 14 lawns. It even has a tin roof and window shades that can be lowered to ward off the sun or rain.

Deadline Established On Inmate's Requests

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — A radio station received a postal card from a jail inmate asking that a number of records be played "before Tuesday."

One of the prisoners was to be released on that day — and he had the only radio.

NEW COLLEGE PLANNED

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — "Ventura" is the name chosen for a new 15 million dollar university to be built here by five cooperating Lutheran denominations. The 206-acre site is about 45 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Radio Selections

TONIGHT

8:30, WJR, Little Star of Bethlehem: The story of the Christ Child, featuring the David Randolph chorus and the orchestra of Ancient Instruments conducted by David Randolph.

9, WJR, Christmas Sing with Bing: Bing Crosby is host with broadcasts from the Vatican in Rome. Featured will be the 375-voice Salt Lake Tabernacle Choir, the Kamehameha Choir from Honolulu, Hawaii, the Methodist Missionary Choir from Sydney, Australia, the Fiji Islanders Choir from the Fiji Islands, Anchorage community choir from Alaska, and a special songfest from the crewmen aboard the atomic submarine Nautilus, somewhere at sea.

11:15, WJR, Christmas Eve Service: Annual Christmas Eve service from St. John's Episcopal Church in Detroit conducted by the Rev. Irwin C. Johnson, rector.

12, WJR, Midnight Mass: From St. Aloysius Church in downtown Detroit. The choir will sing the mass in honor of St. Andrew.

THURSDAY

11:30, WJR, Christmas Message: From the Royal Palace in London, Queen Elizabeth delivers her annual Christmas greetings to the Commonwealth nations and the world.

11:45, WJR, Christmas With the U.S. Army: A Christmas visit with the Army in Europe with carol singing in German and description of the lighting of the Berlin Christmas tree.

Make 'Snowmen' In Home Freezer

Buy one quart of vanilla ice cream. Scoop a large ball of ice cream for the bottom, a smaller one for the top. A marshmallow makes a fine head. Raisins, cloves or cinnamon candies produce features. For a top hat, use a maraschino cherry.

Now, parade currants down the front of the snowman for buttons and insert penny lollipops for arms. Harden snowmen in freezer, then wrap in a cellophane bag and return to freezer until ready to serve. Use within two weeks. Makes four snowmen.

STURDY CULVERT

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A stone culvert built in 1835 still carries traffic over heavily-traveled U. S. 68 near here.

Woman's Identification Fails To Recover Purse

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A woman visitor from St. Louis, just in from the airport, told the hotel clerk that she had left her purse in a cab. But at least I know the name of the driver," she said. "It was William Thien." The clerk explained unhappily that Thien is the police inspector who signs the cabbies' ID cards.

Equity, the word, is the owner's actual interest in a property after prior claims have been met.

Quakers Fight Against Plans To Extend Draft

WASHINGTON (NANA — Opponents of the draft are mobilizing to fight extension of Universal Military Training, due to expire next June 30.

The fight, led by church groups and organizations with moral objections to bearing arms, seems doomed to failure. Members of both the Senate and the House Armed Services Committee traditionally favor the draft and may cooperate in a plan for a simple extension to avoid splitting their strength.

The administration already has given notice that it will ask for an extension of the law similar to the four - year continuation passed overwhelmingly by the Congress in 1955.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Charles C. Finucane recently told an American Legion convention in Chicago that continuation was "absolutely essential." He subsequently told a reporter in Washington that no change in the law except for the expiration date would be requested.

THE ARGUMENTS against peacetime conscription are outlined in the current newsletter of the Friends committee on national legislation, the Quaker group that is pushing for repeal. Behind the Friends group is the resolution of the meeting Nov. 21 in Cleveland, called by the National Council of Churches, which calls for termination of the draft. The arguments:

1.—The draft law is not fair. Says the newsletter, "The deferment policy often discriminates against the economically disadvantaged. Those who can afford higher education can be deferred often until they pass the age when they are likely to be taken."

Some 2,200,000 men now carry 1A classifications under the Selective Service Act and more than 1,000,000 reach military age each year. From this pool, only about 100,000 men are being drafted each year.

The government has the authority to draft men 18½ to 26 years of age, although those who have obtained certain deferments can be inducted until age 35.

Although there is general agreement that the system now creates uncertainty for many youngsters who probably never will be called, there is reluctance to narrow the age limits because of the possibility of "opening up" the entire problem of deferment in Congress.

LIEUT. GEN. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, argues that the deferment policy provided an important by-product to the system. "Selective Service," he has said, "has come to be the means of channeling people into engineering, into physics and many other pursuits which have to do with the atomic age. We do not compel them. They go because by going they will be deferred."

2.—The draft adversely affects the young men of the country. The Friends newsletter contends: "For most of them it means postponing or interrupting college or marriage plans or their first job. The very fact that they must be compelled to serve in a society in which others may work at jobs of their own choice makes it an interruption rather than a job." It quotes sociologists to the effect that military training cuts the civilian initiative of the individual.

3.—Conscription adversely affects the nation The Friends group contends that the draft "encourages reliance on military men and methods."

4.—The draft is inefficient in these days of atomic warfare. Modern war, the opponents argue, requires mobile, technically trained men — a highly professional force. Conscripts don't stay around long enough to be adequately trained.

Secretary Finucane argues, however, that the draft is required to make men "volunteer" for the technical jobs in the services.
